A Pleasant Bomb.
Only $72,000,000.
Mr. Coolidge's Work.
Transplanted Gorillas.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE story of the "deadly" bomb intended for New York's Governor, Roosevelt, explodes, pleasantly. It was an imitation bomb, manufactured, placed and "discovered" by one whose hope was profit and a glorious memory.

"THE aspiring youth that fired the Ephesian dome
Outlives in fame the pious fool
That rais'd it."

The aspiring gentleman that invented the Roosevelt bomb will be less fortunate.

THE Ford Company statement, filed in Massachusetts yesterday, says Mr. Ford has on hand $582,629,563. Not exactly poverty, but seventy-two millions less than Ford had a year ago. This shows that it costs money to change one car to another, rip out great factories, and install new machinery.

However, the Ford plant is now producing more than 7,000 passenger cars and trucks per day. That $72,000,000 will soon be replaced. Two million cars a year should easily yield $100,000,000 profit, 5 per cent on two billions.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE becomes a director in the New York Life Company in place of the late Ambassador Herrick.

Such a man as Mr. Coolidge could not remain idle. And he could with difficulty find work more useful than life insurance. It inculcates thrift, provides for widows and children.

A FAMILY of gorillas living in the Kivu district of the Congo, where they inhabited a peaceful volcano, killed by Carl Akeley, are now "dwelling," stuffed, in the Museum of Natural History in New York.

All those that can should see them.

NOTHING could have made those gorillas, when romping around the volcano, believe that such a place as New York existed, or that they could ever go there. But it does exist and they did go.

That might encourage atheists to believe that there may be something finer than New York and that we may go there, later.

THE United States, producing 4,600 airplanes in 1928, leads in aircraft output.

France in 1928 built only 1,440 airplanes.

Great Britain sells more airplanes abroad than we do.

FRANCE, however, has five times as many fighting planes as we have. Her fighting air fleet is so big it makes Great Britain very polite.

France is the real airplane country, no matter what others may manufacture. Britain is catching up. We lag behind, but that will change.

A GENTLEMAN of the American Defense Society, who would only accept immigrants as much as possible like the Puritans, keeping out others, says, "President Hoover doesn't know as much about immigration as some of us."

Mr. Hoover knows a good deal more about immigration than the American Defense Society knows.

FORMER SECRETARY REDFIELD, at a luncheon given by L. J. Horowitz, to promote arbitration in place of law suits, said that the word "alloy," that once meant always "inferiority," now stands for improvement.

Steels are made better by alloys, the mixing in of other metals.

HUMAN races are also improved by alloys, mixtures of other human beings.

We need all kinds of humans that mix satisfactorily.

For reasons known to Providence, the Mongolian and Caucasion races do not mix well.

THOSE that gamble in stocks or anything else are foolish and will regret it. But the country is prosperous and business is good.

United States Steel reports at the end of March orders unfilled of 4,410,718 tons, a gain of 266,377 tons for the month. United States Steel went up $4.25 a share yesterday.

NEW YORK banks called $10,000,000 in loans for speculating in obedience to orders from a "higher source." Money went to 10 per cent.

Foreigners and big corporations are lending money at the high interest rates. Banks obedient to orders lend comparatively little of it.

STUYVESANT FISH sues officials that stopped his yacht, looking for liquor, of which he had none. It was a new yacht.

Mr. Fish wants to "protect the rights of yachtsmen."

TO PROTECT the rights of rowboats and other small craft is, or ought to be, even more important, in a republic, since there are more of them.

However, republic or no republic, stopping a rich man's yacht seems to create more excitement than breaking into a poorer man's house and killing his wife.

"TORCH MURDER" VICTIM

MRS. RICHARD M. CAMPBELL

A very recent portrait of Mrs. Campbell, the former Mrs. Mildred Mowry, Greenville (Pa.) widow who remarried and who today has been identified by two friends as the dead woman found gasoline-soaked and blazing on a New Jersey road February 23.

'TORCH VICTIM' IDENTIFIED AS PA. WOMAN

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 11.—The body of the murdered woman found, her gasoline-soaked clothing ablaze and with a bullet wound in her head, on a Cranston roadside, was identified today by two women acquaintances as that of Mrs. Richard M. Campbell, of Greenville, Pa.

Mrs. Campbell had left Greenville February 1. The body was found February 23.

IDENTIFICATION POSITIVE

The two women were positive in their identification of the body. While not related to Mrs. Campbell, they were acquainted with her for many years and said there could be no doubt that she was the torch murder victim.

The identification was made by Mrs. D. Staub and Mrs. H. G. Dodds. They were accompanied by a son of the latter.

Search is now being made for the woman's husband. She married Campbell last August, in Elkton, Md. On her return to Greenville, a few days later, she said her husband was a physician and had gone to New York where he was planning to open a sanatarium.

WRECK DELAYS THOUSANDS

Wreckage far flung over four tracks kept traffic on the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania Railroad tied up late today after a westbound freight train wrecked near Oakdale early this morning.

Thousands of commuters were late reaching their work as trains were detoured by the way of the Fort Wayne division and Mingo Junction, Yellow Creek and Rochester.

Twelve cars were smashed into bits and two hurled down the embankment of the Robison Run Creek as the 93-car freight train buckled in the center. Officials had not determined the cause of the accident, but believed a broken brake beam threw the cars from the tracks. Merchandise was being carried in all the cars and much of it was damaged.

The railroad placed a shuttle train into service to serve traffic from Pittsburgh to the wreck scene. Repair crews were rushed to the scene to clear the wreckage and repair the tracks. Traffic was resumed at noon.

MAID, JEWELRY DISAPPEAR, SOUGHT HERE

City detectives are searching for a nursemaid for questioning in connection with the theft from Mrs. Milton A. Mackay, of 1606 Beechwood boulevard, of jewelry and wearing apparel valued at $10,000, while the latter was visiting her mother in New York City.

Milton A. Mackay, husband of the robbed woman, a real estate broker with offices in the Berger Building, notified the detective bureau that the maid was believed to be on her way to Pittsburgh.

The robbery is said to have occurred yesterday afternoon while Mrs. Mackay was out shopping. When she returned late in the afternoon she found her trunk had been opened and the jewelry and wearing apparel gone. The maid had disappeared.

Included among the articles of jewelry were a diamond bracelet, worth $5,000; an emerald ring, $500; a platinum wrist watch, set with diamonds, $750; a diamond-ruby ring, $550, and a 3-karat diamond ring, $1,700. The maid, it was said, had been in the employ of the Mackays only two weeks.

Sutherland Retains Alien Property Post

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian, will retain that office under the present administration at the request of President Hoover, it was announced at the White House today.

Sutherland, a former Republican Senator from West Virginia, visited the President to day at the White House. His resignation as property custodian had been in for some time, but at the President's suggestion he reconsidered.

TEX WINS TILTS AT TRIAL

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—A pretty lecture on success in night club entertaining was delivered today behind the aura of her diamonds as she bore quite comfortably the cross-examination at her trial for maintaining an alleged nuisance atthe Salon Royale, midnight-to-sunrise club.

Thereafter both the government and the defense rested its case and the summing up to the jury began.

DENIES OWNERSHIP

Texas, in a complete raven-black costume, which emphasized her blonde curls, denied any ownership in the club, knowledge of liquor selling.

Texas' "little children"—otherwise known as the dancing girls in the night club—came in for considerable discussion.

"Do your 'little children' wear cotton stockings?" asked Morrison.

"I thought cotton stockings had gone out," remarked Texas.

DEFENDS "CHILDREN"

It was "little children" this and "little children that," with the prosecutor uttering the words like an epithet and Texas cooing it like a mother.

"My little chil'un are above reproach," Texas said tenderly. "I will not let them go out with anybody in the club or even sit down with them."

She recounted the girls who had once danced for her and were now famous theatrical stars.

Texas came straight to court from the trenches. She said she had

BORKOSKIS GET SETTLEMENT

A settlement for the death of John Borkoski, Tyre miner, slain, it is alleged, by coal and iron police, has been effected by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, it was revealed today.

It is understood negotiations were completed on Tuesday. Mrs. Borkoski is purported to have received approximately $12,000.

Borkoski died February 10, following a beating at the hands of three coal and iron policemen, it was testified at the coroner's inquest, and the officers were held on a charge of murder.

"I would much rather do without any money for the rest of my life if I were sure the coal and iron policemen who killed my husband would get what's coming to them," Mrs. Borkoski declared as

Lindy Flies North For Tribute To Herrick

ATLANTA, April 11.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Candler Field here at 12:05 p. m., flying from Meridan, Miss.

MERIDAN, Miss., April 11.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in the course of a 10-minute refueling stop here today, let it be known that he is on his way to New York to pay his respects to his friend, the late Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, whose body will be received there April 13.

The colonel, arriving at 8:30 and leaving 10 minutes later, declined to say where he had spent the night after leaving Brownsville, Texas.

DRASTIC COAL POLICE CURB ASSURED

By W. I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, April 11.—The Coal and Iron Police bill, introduced by Representative M. A. Musmanno, Allegheny, has been selected out of three such measures before the Legislature for passage and approval by the Governor.

Efforts to delay further the passage of the bill failed today when Musmanno declined to permit the insertion of amendments. A change would have delayed the bill one day—a dangerous process this late in the legislative session.

The bill was advanced on second reading in both branches today and will be up for passage Monday night.

LOBBYISTS SQUELCHED

Other efforts to amend the Musmanno bill, to give the private police the right to execute search warrants, were squelched before it was accomplished. Several senators were handed the amendments by lobbyists and, without realizing their import, agreed to insert them on the floor when the bill was reached on second reading today. Congressman John J. Casey, president of the State Federation of Labor, recognized the real nature of the amendments and when he in-

Coolidge "Doubtful Risk" 28 Years Ago

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 11.—(INS.)—Calvin Coolidge, who was the country's "healthiest president" and who is now a director of the New York Life Insurance Company, was regarded as a "doubtful risk" when he applied for a policy with the company 28 years ago.

Dr. Sidney A. Clark said today that the youthful lawyer was 19 pounds under weight.

Stricken Workman Dies in Ambulance

James Muldoon, 47, of 700 Wimdon street, collapsed while working in the plant of the United States Glass Company today and died in an ambulance taking him to South Side Hospital. His death was attributed to heart failure.

$5,000 SET AS FORNEY REWARD

A price hangs over Alfred W. Forney's head.

The County Commissioners today offered a reward of $5,000 for the return to Allegheny County of the man who is described as the millionaire slot machine racketeer.

Upon motion of Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, the reward was split into two parts—$500 for the arrest of Forney and $4,500 for his return to Allegheny County.

JUDGE URGES REWARD

The resolution was passed unanimously after Judge James B. Drew, of Criminal Court, sponsor of the reward, had appeared before the board and argued for the motion. It was seconded by Commissioner C. C. McGovern.

Forney, wanted on charges of maintaining gambling devices, was absent when his trial was called several weeks ago. Instead, his lawyer presented a physician's affidavit which attested that Forney was ill in New York.

A search failed to uncover the alleged slot king, who has already served a six months' federal sentence for violation of the prohibition laws. There have been rumors that Forney was in Canada.

DUE COURTS

"I feel the thing to do is to preserve the confidence of our people in the courts," Judge Drew pleaded. "If a man like Forney can get away with such action, why not open our jails and turn out those who have no influence?

"Of course, we know that Forney is not where our local police can get him. He is not even in the state."

Lawyer-Aviator's Wife Dies in Crash

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 11.—(INS.)—Aviation, the hobby of Clyde McWhinney, wealthy Long Beach lawyer, and his wife, today cost Mrs. Jessie McWhinney her life when one of the two planes which the couple owned crashed at the municipal airport. Mrs. McWhinney was killed when the plane, a JND-4, piloted by her husband, fell only 50 feet and crashed into a fence at one side of the field. McWhinney suffered only minor injuries.

Jurymen Indict Ohioan Who Wed Woman He Shot

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 11.—Thomas Weekley, 26, of Jacobsburg, was indicted today for shooting the girl he later married.

Six weeks ago Weekley, it is charged, saw Winifred Ramsey, 22, his sweetheart, return from church with another man. Enraged, he fired a shot that entered her stomach.

She recovered. As soon as she was able to leave the hospital they were married.

To Arms!

E. V. BABCOCK

CHARLES C. M'GOVERN

County Commissioner McGovern today hit County Commissioner Babcock right on the face with an uppercut, thus closing another commissioners' meeting.

ARGUMENT ENDS IN FIGHT

The meeting of the County Commissioners in the Courthouse today ended in a fight.

Minority Commissioner C. C. (Buck) McGovern, one-time cavalryman, whipped an enthusiastic left uppercut to the jaw of Commissioner E. V. Babcock.

Babcock staggered, fell to the floor. If McGovern, spectator at the recent Sharkey-Stribling fight, did any counting, he counted silently. As Babcock rose, McGovern departed.

The third commissioner, Joseph G. Armstrong, saw the battle from the doorway.

HEATED ARGUMENT

The unofficial weights (estimated): McGovern, 185; Babcock, 210.

McGovern, rebellious member of the board, and Babcock had argued heatedly during the meeting. McGovern called Babcock a cheater; Babcock called McGovern a better or worse cheater.

The meeting adjourned, McGovern approached Babcock.

"What do you mean, calling me a cheater?" McGovern demanded.

"Get away," Babcock ordered, "you're too cheap for me to talk to."

A lightning left flashed through the air, smacked against Babcock's jaw. Back three paces Babcock staggered and fell to the floor. Spectators stepped between the two heavyweights.

The argument between the two was brought on by the awarding of the contract for removal of the morgue. J. H. Fetterman, low bidder, won the contract for $135,000, over McGovern's protest.

STARTS ARGUMENT

McGovern had questioned the ability of Fetterman's company.

Fetterman—"I did work for the county while you were controller—and it was good work, too—you can see by the reports."

McGovern—"Well, I don't know how fair that job was, but I do know that your reports to the Chamber of Commerce when you were on the Facts Committee were very unfair. But you might as well get your job; the other fellow got paid off. That ham lawyer, Negley, got a seventy-five

STORM KILLS 46 IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 11.—(AP.)—Forty-six persons were known dead, several missing and believed dead and almost 100 injured in a tornado which swept through sections of north central Arkansas last night.

Twenty-one persons were dead at Swifton, 20 miles north of Newport and five at Guyon. The latter town was reported to have been blown completely away. All the victims were white.

Twelve Negroes were reported killed in the vicinity of Parkin.

At the village of Lorado, 10 miles north of Jonesboro, six persons were killed.

Physicians and nurses hurriedly organized from cities near the stricken areas who had labored untiringly throughout the night, returned to their tasks at daybreak.

Red Cross officials at Batesville reported to the Associated Press early today that 35 injured were in hospitals there from Guyon.

At Newport many seriously injured were in hospitals.

"Headless Body" Upsets Ohioans

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 11.—A party of fishermen sighted what appeared to be the headless body of a boy floating in the Tuscarawas River today.

Ten minutes later reports were broadcast that the body of 4-year-old Melvin Horst, who disappeared from Orrville, O., on December 27, was believed sighted.

Sleuths rushed to the scene. The boy's father and Prosecutor Marion Graven started from Orrville. Coroner J. F. Lewis, of Tuscarawas county, rowed after the floating body. It was a large, headless baby doll.

PENNA. OVERWHELMINGLY IN FAVOR OF WAGE TAX CUT

PLOT TO KILL CALLES FOILED

MEXICO CITY, April 11.—(AP.)—The chief of the military garrison here today disclosed that an unsuccessful attempt had been made to bomb the special train of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles and assassinate him in the state of Jalisco.

A man and a woman, the principal conspirators, are likely to be arrested soon, the garrison commander said, while certain residents of Torreon, Coahuila, were implicated and will be arrested.

DETAILS OF PLOT

The plan was, the garrison commander said, to mine the rails at a point in Jalisco over which the former Mexican president must pass as he traveled from Chihuahua to Mazatlan on the west coast and blow up his train and kill him in the ensuing melee if he should escape death in the blast.

A MAN NAMED SANTIAGO

Perez obtained the explosives, but was unable to get them out of Mexico City. Military authorities here found them, with letters revealing the plot in his room here, and barely missed taking him and his companion. The two were said to have escaped on a train leaving the Colonia station last night.

With the state of Chihuahua completely in Federal hands and the rebels with their "backs to the wall" in Sonora, optimism reigned high in government circles here today.

Two equally powerful converging Federal forces, comprising a total of 25,000 men, are gradually tightening their vise upon the rebels in Sonora, the only state still dominated by them. Even in this state, one town, Naco, is in Federal hands.

she admitted a settlement had been made.

"My children and I would gladly work our fingers to the bone if we were sure these men would pay the penalty murderers usually pay.

"GOD IS JUSTICE"

"Money may be law but God is justice and these men will have to face Him sometime," she concluded in an outburst of sobbing.

Mrs. Borkoski spoke of the coming trial of the coal and iron police charged with the murder of her husband. She said she could not understand why the men were not placed on trial immediately. She expressed the belief that the trial was being held up and hoped that the delay occasioned by court routine would not lessen the intense feeling of bitterness towards them. As to her future plans, Mrs. Borkoski said she would remain on the farm where they are now living for the next year or two.

HOPES TO GET HOME

"The money I received from the Pittsburgh Coal Company will enable me to do some of the thing I have long hoped to do," she said.

"When John was alive we often spoke of the day when we would have a place of our own and would be able to give our children the education they deserve.

"Of course, John is gone and the children have no father, but I will try to giev them the things he wanted to give them. Perhaps some future day we will own our own home, but that is still in the future."

Mrs. Borkoski is said to have agreed to a settlement at this time in order to keep her family together and meet pressing bills. Pittsburgh Coal Company officials declined to discuss the case.

ROCHESTER, Pa., April 11.—While at work in the Conway yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad today, F. nk H. Laurin, 47, a brakeman, of 1365 Sixth avenue, Freedom, suffered injuries which caused his death two hours later in the hospital here.

ATTORNEY ASSAILS DRY AGENT IN GUINAN CASE

been working all night at her new Club Intime.

"I had to work to pay my lawyers," Tex said.

NOT SO CORDIAL

Texas appeared less cordial than yesterday toward Assistant U. S. Attorney Norman Morrison, sent down from Washington to prosecute her by Mabel Willebrandt.

Morrison questioned Texas concerning her financial arrangements. Her contract showed her to receive half the profits of the club, approximately $2,500 a week.

"Didn't your lawyer draw that contract out of a clear sky?" asked Morrison.

"He drew it in his office," cracked Texas.

JUDGE ANGERED

The crowd laughed and Federal Judge Edwin Thomas rapped like a woodpecker for order.

"This is a trial and not a show," admonished Judge Thomas.

The crowds outside in the corridors stretched out like a world series crowd.

Federal marshals said it was the largest crowd in the history of the Federal building.

During the legal conversation between herself and the prosecutor, Texas declared:

"I don't wise-crack. I think it's very stupid."

She also revealed that patrons of the club often brought in suitcases filled with liquor.

Texas, in reply to a question, described one of the games, the night club boys and girls played.

"It was the aerial test," she related, her blue eyes brightening. "Somebody would walk five times around with a cane, let the cane fall and then shake hands with the person to whom it pointed. It was more fun."

DRY AGENT SOUGHT 'DATE'

Among those who came in "almost every night to say hello" were Henry Carrington, Sonny and Jock Whitney, according to Texas.

Texas described Prohibition Agent James White, who posed as an oil man to get evidence at the Salon Royale as "fresh."

Morrison probed deeply into Texas' statements that White tried to "date her up" and sent her orchids.

The prosecutor showed his irritation openly. Texas ignored his state of mind and rattled along about how "every club was crowded" that she ever played in.

"Are you quite through?" Morrison would interrupt sarcastically.

"Yep," Tex would answer.

At another point in the cross-examination Texas exclaimed indignantly:

"Do you think I would commercialize my friends?"

Texas was unable to give a specific definition of the term "sucker" which she has made famous.

"It's just a word used in fun," said Tex.

"I use it for lots of things. I call my pals 'suckers,' sometimes. I've been a sucker lots of times."

DRY AGENT ASSAILED

In his address to the jury, Maxwell Lopin, defense counsel, declared that Prohibition Agent James White, the main government witness, admitted he had "lied" and admitted bringing his own liquor to the Salon Royale.

Lopin spoke quite harshly of the prohibition agent.

"He was sent here to 'get' Texas Guinan," shouted Lopin. "If he'd lie about one thing, wouldn't he lie about anything? Is he any better than a thief or a murderer? And he spent $360 of the taxpayers' money to make 12 visits to the club when one visit would have done.

"And where did he get the money to buy orchids for Miss Guinan?"

Woodside Demurrer Answers McGovern

County Controller Robert G. Woodside's answer to County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern's effort to have Woodside's 1927 audit stricken from the court records was made yesterday in the form of a demurrer. In answer to a rule upon him to show cause why the audit should not be stricken out, Woodside's motion averred that there was no basis in law for the motion against him and that the court had no authority in the matter.

Goal Post Hits Son, Father Asks $5,000

J. C. TAXI STOLEN, 2 TAKEN IN CHASE

James K. White, 30, a taxicab driver, of 5151 Penn avenue, gave up his cab and $10 when two armed passengers held him up at Thirty-ninth and Foster streets today. And then he changed his mind.

Hailing a passing motorist, White started in pursuit. At Butler and Thirty-fifth streets Patrolman John J. Kunkle was taken aboard.

The chase ended at Progress and Heinz streets, North Side, where the cab was forced to the curb. Covered by Kunkle's pistol, the men surrendered, and returned White's $10.

In Penn Avenue Police Court today the pair admitted stealing the cab.

"We were broke," the explained, "and wanted a ride."

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held them for investigation. They are docketed as Edward Gibson, 25, of 820 Progress street, and Edward Edwards, 49, of 118 Anderson street.

Police say both men have police records and that Edwards' real name is Samuel R. Tate.

Cubans May Adopt Swiss Sugar Plan

HAVANA, April 11.—(AP.)—Cuban sugar planters will meet tomorrow to discuss a new Swiss method of making sugar from the cold juice of the cane, a process eliminating costly sugar boiling. Held under auspices of the Planters' Association, the meeting will be devoted to expert opinion concerning the possible application of the new method to Cuba's staple industry.

SQUIRE FOUND NOT GUILTY OF GRAFT

Justice of Peace John F. Smith, of South Fayette township, was found not guilty, in Criminal Court, on charges of bribery, extortion and malfeasance in office after a jury had deliberated 26 minutes. The charges grew out of the county graft probe and the case opened yesterday.

Squire Smith was accused of accepting $300 from Mike Shulin, of Castle Shannon, the complaintant witness, to settle a liquor charge. Smith took the stand in his own defense today and testified that the money had been offered for the release of a car and that he had demanded Shulin place a property bond for his release pending a court trial. He stated he had refused the money and that detectives found the marked bills on the desk where Shulin had placed them.

The jury directed the defendant pay costs.

POLICE BILL TO PASS

RESCUE IS FEATURE

The manner in which the Musmanno bill was spectacularly rescued from the Senate pickling committee featured the closing days of the 1929 session. Tuesday afternoon the coal and iron police bill was dead. Today it is very much alive and is destined to become one of the laws of Pennsylvania.

Who killed the bill—or who thought they had it killed—seems to be one of the legislative mysteries. Corporation lobbyists here insist that they devoted their attention to securing amendments believed necessary by their employers.

BOSSES WEAKEN

Apparently what work was done against the Musmanno bill was done by someone getting in touch with Gov. John S. Fisher, former State Chairman W. L. Mellon, or Joseph R. Grundy, head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Somewhere, from one of the higher-ups, came orders to "pickle" the Musmanno bill. The secret pickling became public property. The higher-ups weakened. Senator A. F. Daix, heading the pickling committee and scheduled to be the next president pro tempore of the Senate, received word to change his mind. He did. The bill was reported. It is scheduled to pass.

That is the story.

"It is one of the best examples I ever have seen of what can be accomplished by publicity properly applied," said Senator William D. Mansfield, who led the fight to get the Musmanno bill out of Daix's Judiciary General Committee.

GAS TAX DUE TO PASS

The public will remember that, just as the coal and iron police bill was scheduled to be pickled with at least the tacit wink of the leaders, the boost in the gasoline tax is scheduled to pass the Senate today.

Putting aside all of the statements and announcements, the Mellon-Grundy-Fisher combination have made this decision—to increase the gasoline tax from three to four cents and to either reduce or repeal the tax on anthracite coal, most of which is paid by New York and New England consumers.

The gasoline tax, it is true, goes to the highway fund. The anthracite tax goes to the general fund. The difference is merely one of bookkeeping. There is nothing to prevent the Legislature from transferring money from one fund to another. Public opinion, which rescued the Musmanno bill, may be able to pickle the gas tax boost.

BILL PREPARED TO SHUT OFF ENVOYS' RUM

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—With a Curtis-Gann social tangle temporarily solved, the diplomatic corps faced a new embarrassment today in a legislative threat to enforce the American prohibition law against all foreign representatives of kings, emperors, potentates and presidents.

Senator Cole Blease (Dem.), of South Carolina, who recently admitted taking a drink now and then of privileged liquor, announced he would introduce a bill at the special session of congress, compelling all "Aliens" to comply with the dry law.

WOULD BAN ALL LIQUOR

His measure would deprive the diplomatic corps of its choice liquors, which it enjoyed for the last 10 dry years upder diplomatic courtesy.

Blease will ask the Anti-Saloon League and other prohibition organizations to support his measure. He said he hoped to force a vote on it at the coming session.

"I want to awaken an interest in those great prohibitionists who are spending millions of dollars and working so ardently to keep liquor away from the poor fellow, who does outdoor work and wants a wee drop for his stomach's sake, toward enforcing prohibition on these diplomats," said Blease.

PROHIBITIONISTS BLAMED

"The prohibitionists have sat idly by and permitted such outrageous, flagrant and disgraceful scenes as embassy liquor has caused in our capital in the last few years. These diplomats have made slurring remarks about our laws and it is time to make them show some respect and obedience to our laws.

DEMAND RESPECT

"If these officials of other nations had any respect for the United States, they would compel obedience to our laws by their diplomats. If they don't have that respect, they ought to be made to have it."

In the past, dry leaders of Congress have ignored diplomatic liquor. It has even been whispered that some congressional drys, who belong to that "vote dry, drink wet" class, have been entertained out of embassy cellars. This time, Blease declared, he will get more support from his fellow drys. At any rate, his efforts can only result in more embarrassment for the much harassed diplomatic corps.

Sharpsburg Boy Wins Harmonica Title

Champion harmonica player title for Sharpsburg, Etna and Aspinwall was won last night by Leo Dembrowski, 12, of 218 Church alley, Sharpsburg, in competition against 27 other pupils of public and parochial schools in the three boroughs. The competing pupils were selected from 1,000 band members and the awards were made by Burgess Walter P. Berner, of Sharpsburg. Frank Budziszwiski and John West, both of the Linden Avenue School, Sharpsburg, won the second and third prizes, respectively. Bertha Idzakovich, 14, of the Wilson Street School, Etna, won the honor as the best girl player.

join her husband. On February 15 she wrote to friends in Greenville that she was going to Chester, Pa.

Cards mailed at Chester were received from her by relatives and friends in Greenville, a few days later. These were the last messages her friends had from her.

It is not known whether she was then with her husband.

She was a widow when she married Campbell. Her first husband was B. F. Mowry, of Greenville.

SISTER NOT SURPRISED

FALLSTON, Pa., April 11.—To Mrs. James Jackson, widow, and sister of the murdered Mrs. Campbell, news was carried today that her sister had been positively identified, as the "torch victim."

Mrs. Jackson said that any decision as to whether she would claim the body would not be made for 24 hours. A son, Richard Jackson, 23, who is boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Orange, N. J., which is a few miles from Elizabeth, N. J., was instructed today by his mother to confer with authorities in charge of the identification.

CASHED $1,000 CHECK

GREENVILLE, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Richard M. Campbell, of Greenville, Pa., cashed a treasurer's check for $1,000 at New Brunswick, N. J., on August 29, 1928, while on her honeymoon, police here learned today.

The check was indorsed on the back by Mrs. Campbell as "Mrs. B. S. Mowry" and, directly below, as "Mrs. R. C. Campbell."

Authorities at present are searching for Mrs. Campbell's husband. They desire to question him concerning her murder.

The fact that Mrs. Campbell cashed so large a check in New Brunswick, where she was unknown, led Greenville authorities to believe she was accompanied by her husband and identified by him at the National Bank of New Jersey, where the check was honored.

If Campbell was known sufficiently at the bank to get the check cashed, he must be fairly well known in New Brunswick, was their conclusion.

AVIATION SOCIAL WAR HITS DETROIT OVER LADY HEATH

DETROIT, April 11.—(AP.)—Not to be outdone by Washington, political capital of the nation, Detroit, aspiring to be the aircraft as well as the automobile capital, today was having its social prestige squabble.

The Detroit section of the American Society of Automotive Engineers held a banquet last night at the Book-Cadillac Hotel in connection with the All-America Aircraft Show. The "400" of the aviation world were present, but Lady Mary Heath, champion of the fair sex in aviation, did not attend. Amelia Earhart was there, as was Helen McGregor, who represented the Canadian government.

Explanations vary concerning why Lady Heath was slighted. Lady Heath says: "I'm just a poor working girl and here to sell motors. I'm not good enough for these engineers."

Officials of the society explain that no slight was intended for the famous woman pilot; that it merely was an oversight.

Lady Heath has cancelled all further social engagements during the rest of the week.

ALL CLASSES SUPPORT DRIVE

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 11.—A popular vote of the citizens of Pennsylvania on the reduction of the federal tax on earned incomes would result in an overwhelming majority for immediate action in downward revision.

Such is the opinion of almost every professional and business man in the western and central portions of the state, according to a survey made from here this week under the direction of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Every person interviewed advocated lighter taxes on earned incomes. They voiced the sentiment of all classes of residents of their home communities.

Lower taxes is a slogan in the industrial and agricultural districts of the state, and the national government's levy on the incomes of professional men, salaried people and wage earners is an especial target against which the citizens have the strongest prejudice. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon made many new friends in his radio address favoring tax reduction and the principal reaction in this district voices demands for immediate cutting of assessments against the incomes of the wage workers.

DRIVE PRAISED

W. Scott Lane, a real estate dealer and member of city council of Greensburg, who is active in civic and business affairs throughout Westmoreland county, commends the movement started by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers for downward tax revision. He said:

"It is with keen interest that I have been watching the progress of the campaign for the reduction of the tax on earned incomes. The success of the movement at first astounded me, but when I analyzed the situation and realized that there is no selfish motive in this whole project, it was easy to understand why the response has been so universal. It is sound business to show every encouragement to the man who earns his income and it is good economy to assist him by lightening his burden of taxes. Home owners and the possessors of small but growing capital are the mainstays of our community life. Our national wealth and thrift are measured by the number of prosperous and contented communities."

BANKER FOR PLAN

"I am an advocate of taxes as low as the government is warranted in making its levy," said David P. Hudson, vice-president and treasurer of the Union Trust Company of Greensburg, "and I would begin by cutting down the tax on the income of the wage earner. When a tax is onerous to business or burdensome to the worker it should be reduced just as soon as the government can afford relief."

Clyde Moore, president of the Merchants and Farmers National Bank of Greensburg, is another friend of lower taxes who praised the Sun-Telegraph's campaign. In Latrobe, Ligonier, Blairsville and other towns in this county as well as in Indiana, Cambria, Clearfield, Jefferson, Bedford counties, leading business men urge Congress to act in the downward revision of tax on earned incomes.

hundred dollar job; he was on the same committee."

(The Facts Committee, sponsoring page advertisements in the newspapers, set out to answer charges made by McGovern on certain county contracts.)

Babcock—"Well, don't bring politics into it."

McGovern—"I'm not bringing politics into it."

Babcock—"You pried yourself into office."

McGovern—"Well, how did you get in? You were cheating."

Babcock—"Why, you're the best cheater in the country."

Armstrong rapped for order and got it, the contract going to Fetterman with McGovern voting no.

The meeting ended 20 minutes later.

McGovern, leaving, walks to Babcock—

McGovern—"What do you mean calling me a cheater?"

AND THEN THE PUNCH

McGovern swings, hits Babcock's face. Babcock staggers, falls.

Perturbed, Paul B. Rils, director of parks, stooped and tenderly picked up Babcock.

"Here, here," Rils pleaded, "we don't want any of that."

Rising, Babcock philosophized, "He (McGovern) is only a young fellow. That's the kind of a man he is, to hit a fellow when he's not looking."

McGovern shouted, "I'm not a young fellow!"

McGovern walked out. On his heels was Babcock. There were no more words, no more blows.

The audience—contractors, county employes—scattered with wagging tongues, envied spectators.

"A return bout," one predicted, "would fill the Grand Canyon."

PLANET GAZING WINS FAVOR AT OBSERVATORY

Gazing at "that brave o'erhanging firmament, fretted with golden fire" Shakespeare's poetic description of the nocturnal skies—through the original Samuel P. Langley telescope at the Allegheny observatory is becoming a favorite pastime with many Pittsburghers. Three or four nights a week scores of embryo astronomers trek to the hill in Riverview park to attend the star-gazing classes of Prof. W. R. Ludewig, H. C. Frick Foundation lecturer at the observatory.

When Prof. Ludewig escorts his visitors to the public dome telescope, or to the balcony, the classroom or the research dome, he imparts to them a wealth of astronomical information. On a clear night, he first takes them to the balcony of the observatory. Here he points out all the major stars in the constellation, tells of fabulous distances and explains the relative positions of the planets. Later, he takes the group to the huge research dome with its mammoth telescope, built by the John A. Brashear Company before the war, at a cost of over $125,000. It has a length of 46 feet and an aperture of 30 inches. This telescopic monster is not accessible to the public. Only Dr. Heber Curtis, and his assistants may operate it. It is used for measuring star distances.

On cloudy nights, Prof. Ludewig takes his visitors to the lecture room, where he initiates them in the wonders of the heavens with hundreds of slides of planets.

AIMEE'S MOTHER ADMITS 'HALF-TRUTHS' IN CHARGES

SEATTLE, April 11. — (INS.) — Mrs. Minnie Kennedy mother of Aimee McPherson, was in Seattle today to lay the foundation for her defense against the $50,000 breach of promise action brought by the Rev. H. H. Clark, Seattle supply minister. Her first act was to engage John S. Robinson, an attorney.

A general denial of all the charges was issued, in which Clark's "scurrilous complaint" was admitted to contain certain elements of "half-truth."

ADMITS INCOGNITO

Most important of these points were:

(1) That Mrs. Kennedy admitted having been at the Waldorf and Bergonia hotels on the dates when Clark charges she kept love trysts with him at those hostelries.

(2) That she admitted having gone under the name of Mrs. M. C. Klark—which Clark says is the name by which he knew her during the whole period that he charges she courted him.

But the attorney made it clear that neither of these concessions was in any way a confession of Clark's allegations.

"Mrs. Kennedy," he said, "was in the habit o fgoing to different hotels to avoid notoriety.

"Clark's contention that he knew her as Mrs. Klark is preposterous. He knew who she was from the moment he met her."

TOOK PITY ON HIM

"As a matter of fact," the attorney said, "he forced himself on her—and the incident occurred in a cafeteria. She was having a meal there, she tells me, when he came in and sat at her table. After a minute or so, Clark said 'I know who you are—you're Mrs. Kennedy. I've heard you preach.' Then he told her he was an evangelist, too, and they entered into a conversation.

"Mrs. Kennedy took pity on him and fed him. There is no truth whatever to Clark's charges of their being over friendly—Mrs. Kennedy's only actions toward him were prompted by charity."

Penn Will Build New Colleges at Valley Forge

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania yesterday announced that it had accepted the offer of Henry N. Woolman of 175 acres of land at Valley Forge for the development there of a new center of cultural education.

The university, it was announced, will take steps to acquire an additional 150 acres, and is considering among other proposals the establishment on the site of a college of liberal arts and a school of American history and government.

The 175-acre tract, known as Cressbrook Farm, adjoins Valley Forge Park and the estate of the late Philander C. Knox. It is 23 miles from Philadelphia.

Hunter Kills Shark Feeding on Beach

DEERFIELD, Fla., April 11.—(AP.)—"Big game" hunting was enjoyed on the beach here yesterday as fishermen, standing guard over the carcass of a whale, repulsed with rifle fire the persistent attacks of sharks. More than a score of the sharks were killed, but despite their losses they continued to rush the whale, which was washed upon the beach during the night.

Steam Turbine Runs New Type Dirigible

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—A new type of dirigible, which is scheduled to arrive here from California in June, was described yesterday by George A. Bryan, president of the Bryan Steam Corporation, of Peru, Ind.

The ship is of all-metal, eggshell construction, he said, without any interior bracing. The designer said this makes the ship 700 pounds lighter than the corresponding dirigible of conventional design. The airship will be fueled with oil and driven by a steam turbine.

MRS. GANN TASTES FIRST FRUIT OF VICTORY TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—The heavy cannonading and furious musketry that have featured the capital's great social war died down today to desultory sniping.

The main engagement is over, and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, half-sister and official hostess to Vice President Curtis, emerges victorious.

Tonight she will taste the first sweet friuts of her victory at a formal dinner to be given by the Chilean ambassador. She will march proudly to her seat on the arm of her host as the ranking lady present. In her wake will trail the wives of diplomats and other ladies of the official set.

POSITION SECURE

It took the concerted, if reluctant, action of two-score harrassed and embarrassed diplomats to insure Mrs. Gann her seat, but she now possesses it indubitably, and all the sniping from the vantage point of Washington tea-tables cannot lisiodge her.

Henceforth at all ceremonial and official dinners, Mrs. Gann is to be seated as the ranking lady whenever Mrs. Hoover is not present.

CAN SNUB SNUBBERS

The only cloud on the horizon that might disturb Mrs. Gann's serenity is the possibility that capital society generally will not accept the ruling of the diplomatic corps at the private and more intimate affairs.

However, she can always stand on her prerogative of declining to go to homes where she is not accorded the rank for which she fought such a spectacular battle.

ACTING PRISON CHIEF STAYS

W. J. Zahnizer was continued as acting superintendent of the Allegheny County Workhouse, at a meeting of the board of managers yesterday. No intimation was given when the board would make a selection of a superintendent. Emil Marshall was continued as deputy superintendent.

Prior to the appointment of the board of managers by the prison board on Tuesday, it was indicated that the selection of a successor to the late A. H. Leslie would be delayed.

Samuel R. Kelly was elected president; W. C. Reitz, vice president; Charles C. Kohne, secretary, and W. S. Linderman, treasurer.

Girl Breaks Date, Fiance Breaks Her Nose

BALTIMORE, April 11.—(AP.)—A broken date cost Irene Woods a broken nose and the broken nose cost Norman Abbey $25.

Abbey went to his fiancee's home last night for his weekly date, but was told she was sick. He later called and found that she had gone riding with Harry Nickols. Abbey, with his car, forced Nickols' machine to the curb, pulled the girl from the seat and did the nose-breaking, according to the story in police court.

Magistrate Joseph F. O'Donnell criticized Miss Woods for her deceit and fined Abbey.

HEIRESS HIDES AS WAITRESS

MIAMI, Fla., April 11.—(AP.)—Frequent visits to a jai-alai fronton by Rosamonde Morse, 17-year-old Brookline, Mass., heiress, who has been working as a waitress here for more than two months, led to her identity being discovered, police said last night.

Miss Morse talked with her father, a Brookline banker, over the telephone last night, and will return to her home soon, it was said.

The girl, known here as Mary Joan Sprague, of St. Louis, met a Cuban, Duque De Bacardi, during her visits to the Fronton (a court where jai-alai, Cuban national game somewhat resembling handball, is played). Bacardi, according to officers, saw a picture of Miss Morse in a New York newspaper and reported to police that he knew where the girl was, but refused to say more. He then sought to discover whether a reward was being offered for her return, officials said.

Operatives of a local detective agency located Bacardi and convinced him it would be best to reveal where Miss Morse was living.

Miss Morse has been in Miami since January 19. She had been the object of an extensive search.

Crash Kills Spouse, Widow Asks $25,000

Elizabeth P. Means, whose husband Alfred W. Means died January 2, last as a result of an automobile accident for which it is alleged the St. Louis Independent Packing Co. was responsible, has brought suit for $25,000 damages against the company. The accident occurred in Charles street, the defendant's car colliding with the Means machine. P. J. Corr is counsel for the plaintiff.

Driver Hits Man, Reports to Police

Milton Bauman, of 117 Van Wyck street, reported to the South Side police that while driving on Arlington avenue, near Brownsville avenue, late Tuesday night, he struck J. Blum, of 25 McLain street. He took the man to a doctor on Warrington avenue, who stated the victim was uninjured. Bauman was not arrested.

MINE INQUEST WITNESSES BLAME FAULTY CONVEYER

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 11.—(INS.)—The theory advanced by O. F. Taylor, superintendent of the ill-fated Kinloch mine, near here, that a broken conveyor chain was the cause of the blast which claimed 46 lives March 21, last, was corroborated today by witnesses at the coroner's inquest here.

The inquest was in charge of Coroner James Harkins, with John R. Thomas, chief mine inspector of the bituminous district, conducting the questioning of witnesses.

Harvey Rearick, a carpenter, testified that the steel conveyor belt broke, precipitating its heavy load of coal back into the slope. John R. Bryson, outside foreman, said the conveyor was given frequent inspections, both by himself and others. The boy, William Taylor, who was employed to watch the conveyor for defects, died of injuries. He had been on that job about a month before the blast.

Maid, Last Rothstein Prisoner, Out on Bail

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The last person held in connection with the slaying last November of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, was released last night. She is Bridget Farry, chambermaid in the Park Central Hotel where the fatal shooting occurred. She had been held for four months as a material witness in the case. She was freed under $1,500 bond.

The only other person held for any length of time was George McManus, one of the four indicted for the murder. He was released two weeks ago under $5,000 bail. The other three indicted have not been arrested.

Ex-U. S. Attorney Held in Drug Plot

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 11.—(AP.)—Former Assistant United States District Attorney R. A. Hubler, was named in four counts of an indictment returned by a federal grand jury here yesterday in connection with violations of the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Act.

Hubler, now in jail here, was arrested some time after he resigned as assistant district attorney of the Southern District of Florida. His prosecution was directed by Louis Joel, who succeeded Hubler as assistant district attorney in 1926, after Hubler had held office for a month.

Big Snow Blankets Two Western States

ST. PAUL, April 11.—(AP.)—A snow storm that rivaled a mid-winter blizzard today had most of South Dakota and the southern half of Minnesota under a white blanket in some sections was more than a foot thick. Sioux Falls, in South Dakota and Pipestone, Minn., reported the heaviest snowfall. While the moisture was expected to be of great benefit to crops already in the ground, spring seeding operations will be delayed for several days.

PARENTS, CHILD DIE IN TRUCK, TRAIN CRASH

WAYNESBORO, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—A farmer was instantly killed, his wife and elder son were fatally injured, and the younger son was painfully hurt in a collision between their truck and a Pennsylvania Railroad motor coach at a grade crossing near their home, one mile north of here, late yesterday.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Armstrong and their son, Wesley, Jr., 3. Another son, Paul, one and one-half years old, suffered a fractured arm and leg. He will recover, doctors soy.

Mrs. Armstrong died in a local hospital last night and her son followed her in death three hours later.

The accident was witnessed by Lawrence Guyer, a son of Mrs. Armstrong by a former marriage. He had opened the gate at the end of the lane to permit the truck to pass.

5 DIE IN MEXICO AIR CRASH

TAMPICO, Mex., April 11.—(INS.)—The bodies of five persons, four of them Americans, victims of the most disastrous air tragedy in Mexico since the expansion of commercial air service between Mexico City and Brownsville, Tex., lay here today awaiting shipment for burial.

The crash occurred when the motor of a Mexican Aviation Company plane balked shortly after taking off from here. It was bound from Mexico City to Brownsville.

Among the victims was Garret Frazier, a New Yorker prominent in engineering circles. He was flying from Mexico City, where he had visited his fiancee.

The others who died were Dennis W. Taylor, pilot; Blaine Newcomb, co-pilot, both of Brownsville; J. Robinson, of Brownsville, and J. Fernandez, of Mexico City.

Mexico Buys 3 More New Planes in U. S.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 11.—(AP.)—Three new airplanes, purchased by the Mexican War Department for use against the Revolutionists, left Mitchel Field this morning for Mexico. Col. Samuel Rojas, of the Federal air force in Mexico, is in charge, flying one ship. Two other Mexican pilots took off in the other ships.

This is the third consignment of airplanes taken by Col. Rojas from Mitchel Field to Mexico in the last month.

Destructive Storm Hits Ocean Resort

POINT PLEASANT BEACH, N. J., April 11.—(AP.)—More than $50,000 damage was caused by high waves here last night when a northeast gale swept the beach colony.

A bungalow owned by August Costa, of Matawan, was torn from its foundation and carried out to sea. Four others were severely pounded by the surf and thrown on the sand. Six hundred feet of boardwalk were carried away by the storm.

SQUIRREL HILL MAN GETS REWARD FOR HIS THRIFT

Because he was thrifty Abe Caplan, of 5851 Douglas street, Squirrel Hill, has received a reward of $10 from the Sun-Telegraph. Mr. Caplan has a savings account, No. 754, in the Monongahela National Bank, and his bank book is one of the hundreds to the credit of which deposits have been made by this paper to encourage Pittsburghers to save money.

Joseph Koppel, of 7029 Lemington avenue, is another recipient of a thrift gift. He has received $5 as holder of passbook No. 58,176 in the East End Savings and Trust Company.

Today the Sun-Telegraph publishes the numbers of 20 books. Five dollars will be deposited to the credit of the holders of each of these books.

These savings accounts are being enriched by the Sun-Telegraph as part of a plan to call the attention of the people of the Pittsburgh district to the importance of laying aside something for a rainy day.

If you have a bank book, you, too, may be rewarded.

M'DONALD TO GET NEW FIRE ENGINE; ROW OVER

When the next firemen's convention is held there will be no flashier apparatus on display than that of the McDonald volunteer department. Not by a shine!

This is the happy outcome of a situation which for a time threatened the quietude of the borough. The volunteers wanted the new fire engine, they believed that Council would not stand the bill, so they began taking up subscriptions from citizens to add to a $4,000 fund they already had.

Then Police Chief C. M. Schomes stepped in and said "Halt!"

"You have no permit," he told the firemen; "therefore you can't collect funds for any purpose."

All this had the makings of a fine little row. But last night the Professional Men's Association of McDonald invited the firemen and the members of the borough Council to a parley, which ended with harmony all around.

The situation, it developed, had resulted from a mixup. Council informed the firemen that the borough could and would finance the new apparatus this year. So the department is preparing for the funeral of the old fire engine, which has subjugated all fires in McDonald these last 10 years.

Hoover Sends Brown To Herrick Funeral

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Postmaster General Brown has been requested to act as President Hoover's personal representative at the funeral ceremonies for Ambassador Herrick. Mr. Brown will go to New York late Friday night to meet the French cruiser which is bringing the body from France.

The Postmaster General had been a personal friend of the late ambassador for many years.

Doctor's Wife Says He Kept His Nickels

DETROIT, April 11.—(INS.)—Dr. G. I. Dakin "never gave me a five-cent piece in his life," his wife, Margaret, testified yesterday in her suit for divorce before Judge Dewitt T. Merriam here.

Her husband's counsel then presented $4 and $5 checks, signed by Dr. Dakin, and payable to his wife. Both were made out in 1909. Mrs. Dakin also testified that she bought her husband's food and clothes in 1909.

New Polish Envoy Received by Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The new minister of Poland, Tytus Filipowicz, presented his credentials to President Hoover yesterday and assured the President that his name was held in high esteem by every Pole because of his World War services.

The President, in welcoming the minister, said the American people cherished the friendship of the Polish nation.

MANY ENTERING TEMPERANCE CONTEST

The Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest, which is to end on Tuesday, April 30, at midnight, one of the most remarkable contests ever conducted by American newspapers, continues to draw forth the views of all America and the entire civilized world on the subject of prohibition.

Veteran editors who thought they knew considerable about prohibition before the contest began, have to confess that they have received a liberal education in the thousands of complexities and infinite ramifications of the intricate subject.

Today are subjoined some further opinions of public officials in the Albany (N. Y.) capitol district supplementing those published yesterday in the Hearst newspapers.

Cornelius F. Burns

Cornelius F. Burns, mayor of Troy, N. Y.:

"I am opposed to prohibition as it now exists, yet I am heartily in favor of temperance.

"Under the present scheme of things, prohibition is creating a class of newly-rich, who are tearing down law and order. The law is placing in the hands of the lawless ample financial resources, a weapon which enables them to enlarge the scope of their criminal actions.

"Prohibition is a blow aimed at the youth and at the homes of the nation. As it now exists it breeds contempt for law.

"The answer to the perils of prohibition is government control. I firmly believe that until this is done, the evils of prohibition will continue to exist."

M. L. Mouls

M. L. Mouls, police chief, Rensselaer, N. Y.:

"Modification of the Eighteenth amendment or complete repeal of the Volstead act is one of the worst needs of the country. The effect of bootleg whisky and poison rum on the youth of today is appalling. Its tendency to increase crime is a known fact.

"Young America may be led to higher ideals but never in the history of this great nation have the young people been driven. Deprive them of a thing through compulsion and that is the very thing that they crave.

"I am no advocate of the return of the corner saloon, but I am a real booster for the return of light wines and beer. The number of arrests for intoxication not only of young men, but of young women, is a real cause for study for the advocates of prohibition.

"The question of prohibition is, in my opinion, a state matter and if Congress insists upon spending billions for the enforcement of what from every angle seems a hopeless task, let each state decide for itself just what is to be the alcoholic content of its beverages.

"The Eighteenth amendment should be, and I feel in time will be, modified if the entire Volstead act is not entirely expunged from our statutes."

John G. Salt

John G. Salt, city clerk of Rensselaer, N. Y.:

"Take a trip to our northern border this coming Fourth of July and count of the number of cars bearing yellow license plates that speed over the border to celebrate America's independence. Such a trip will give Americans some idea of what prohibition has done for this country.

"Millions of dollars are being spent out of the country each year, and to my mind that shows what the majority of Americans want. That they will get it sooner or later, seems a certainty.

"Everyone knows what prohibition has done to the morality of the youth of the land, but it is not the youth alone that suffers from the evil effects of such a ridiculous law.

"To repeal the Volstead act or to modify the Eighteenth amendment would be a godsend to this country. The majority of Americans would like the return of light wines and beer. There was never as much drinking of hard liquors as since the enactment of the prohibition laws. Mr. Hearst is to be complimented for his efforts in seeking a temperance substitute for prohibition and I feel certain that he will be successful."

John E. Quinn

John E. Quinn, city engineer, Rensselaer, N. Y.:

"The evil effects of prohibition are too well known to need enumeration. The majority of Americans, hitherto law-abiding citizens, through the enactment of the Volstead act are unwittingly becoming law violators.

"Our young men and women who never before the prohibition enactments, were known to drink to excess, now consider it an accomplishment to obtain 'good stuff' and boast of the potent qualities of the liquors in their hip flasks.

"That the return of light wines and beer through the modification of the Eighteenth amendment would tend to bring about a higher standard in this country is my honest opinion. I hope and feel that through Mr. Hearst's $25,000 temperance prize contest, some means to achieve temperance will be found."

Girls Win 'Tux' War At Allegheny College

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—What the girls of Allegheny College term their second victory in the so-called "tuxedo war," the men mention as merely a "condescending concession" on their part, thus displaying the true philosophic calm in face of the fact that the annual senior ball April 19 will be formal.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

Bygone-Present Wives Harry Film Comic

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(AP.)—The first wife of Lloyd Hamilton, motion picture comedian, had him in Superior Court yesterday and his second wife will have him there today.

Mrs. Ethel Hamilton complained that her divorced husband was $7,500 behind in his alimony. His attorney replied: "This man has been down and out. He has a contract for $1,250 a week, but he's got so many bills to pay that by the time he gets his check it's all gone."

The court appointed Hamilton's manager, C. R. Oulette, receiver of his salary and instructed him to save out alimony from the check each week.

The divorce suit of Irene Dalton, Hamilton's second wife, is to be heard today.

Bills High, Jail Bars All but Prisoners

PAULSBORO, N. J., April 11.—(AP.)—The police department was ordered yesterday to keep its jail doors locked and in the future to admit none but those deserving jail surroundings. The order was issued after the Borough Council investigated a bill of $171 for heating and lighting at the jail during the past two months, despite a shortage of prisoners. It developed that "Eustace," kind-hearted jail attendant, had left the doors unlocked and that tramps had wandered in and availed themselves of the town's hospitality.

Boys Rescue Cat From Rocky Ledge

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 11.—As hundreds of spectators watched, Donald Steel and three boy companions of the Greensburg Grammar School crawled out on a rocky ledge 75 feet above the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad here and rescued a stray white cat that had been marooned.

U. S. BOYS MISS FIRING SQUAD

EL PASO, Tex., April 11.—(AP.)—Four young Americans who went to war with the Mexican insurrectos today found their thrilling adventures ended.

Two of the adventurers, S. E. Gilbert, 25, Eastland, Tex., and a companion he knew only as "Butler," were abducted by the rebels and sentenced to death, but reprieved. They were allowed to return to the United States.

The other two, Fred Wood, of Richmond Hall, Long Island, N. Y., and Albert Holliday, of Amarillo, Tex., joined the revolutionary forces "just for the fun of it," they said. They were among a detachment of 40 rebels captured by Federals near Guadalupe, and now are held as prisoners of war at Juarez. Mexican Federal authorities have promised to release them.

VERONA TRIAL DELAYED

The trial of Alderman John J. Verona and six of his followers, charged with beating up Joseph Engelsberg, Hill district political leader, was postponed today in Criminal Court because of the absence of Attorney M. A. Musmanno, counsel for the defense.

Judge James B. Drew was informed that Musmanno, a state legislator, was in Harrisburg.

Verona and his supporters are charged with aggravated assault and battery, surety of the peace and larceny. Engelsberg accused the defendants of not only attacking him in the Club Alabam', Wylie avenue cabaret, but of stealing his vest.

Blended richness of FLAVOR

A SOUTHERN gentleman long ago toiled with the roasting of many different choice coffees together until he achieved a blend of such unusually rich and mellow harmony that it delighted even his critical palate.

That fine blend is Maxwell House. It took its name from the hotel where it first became famous—the old Maxwell House in Nashville, celebrated throughout the South for its hospitality, its old-time Southern dishes and particularly for its wonderful coffee. Here distinguished travelers and belles and gentlemen of the Old South first enjoyed the coffee which today is pleasing more people than any other coffee ever offered for sale.

"The Old Colonel" has lived to see the flavor he created become America's most widely popular coffee.

Your own family and guests will appreciate Maxwell House Coffee. Your grocer has it sealed in tin to preserve its rare fragrance and flavor.

"GOOD TO THE LAST DROP"

CREOLE CAFÉ NOIR: Use 1 cup finely ground Maxwell House Coffee to 4 cups freshly boiling water. Put the coffee in the upper compartment of a Drip Coffee Pot and pour the boiling water over it a little at a time. Cover and let stand in a warm place. Serve black.

SUN-TELEGRAPH OPENS MODEL HOME SUNDAY

The first Sun-Telegraph model home in the South Hills will be formally opened Sunday in the Dormont Park plan. The house is a brick English design, located at Dormont and Windermere avenues, Dormont, and represents the latest ideas in construction and equipment.

The house has been constructed by H. J. McCully, developer of the Dormont Park plan, and James Romeo, builder. Materials have been specified by the Sun-Telegraph and the history of the building has been outlined each week in articles in the Model Home page.

The public is invited to visit the Dormont Park model home next Sunday and see the type of workmanship, equipment and appointments which it represents. Science and invention as well as art have entered the American home to make it more livable and more enjoyable.

8 MINUTES FROM TOWN

The location is only eight minutes from the downtown triangle by way of the Liberty tubes. The motorist drives out West Liberty avenue and turns right on either Dormont or Hillsdale avenues to the plan. An alternate route which avoids the tubes is by way of the West End and the Banksville road to Dormont avenue and turning right to the home.

The Dormont and Beechview car lines have stops within two blocks of the model home at Dormont avenue. Bus service on West Liberty avenue will take visitors within four blocks of the home and on the Banksville road to within two blocks of the home.

The Dormont Park model dwelling is a dark tapestry brick on typical English lines. It is located in the central part of the plan with a view of the wooded hill of Dormont Park. The tract is a part of the old Snyder orchard and many of the trees are now in blossom, giving the house a background of unusual beauty.

8 ROOMS, 3 BATHS

The house includes eight rooms and three baths. A small entrance hall connects directly with a large living room, the central feature in which is a wide stone fireplace. The sun parlor connects with the living room and the dining room and kitchen are at the rear of the home.

The second floor includes a large bedroom with bath attached, two smaller bedrooms with a separate bath and a large number of roomy clothing and linen closets. The third floor includes a maid's room, storage room and bath. In the basement is a fruit cellar, laundry and garage for two cars.

Other homes sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph are under construction in two other South Hills plans. One of these, a small brick home, is nearing completion in Brentwood Grove, and the other, a large stone residence, is located in Virginia Manor, Mt. Lebanon.

Sharon Man Freed In Fatal Shooting

SHARON, April 11.—Simon Gotia, 755 Bay street, who confessed to the fatal shooting of Vasil Valea, 38, of Farrell, in his home on Saturday, was exonerated by a coroner's jury, following which he was released from jail. Gotia, supported by witnesses, testified that he shot Valea when the latter, intoxicated, attacked him with a butcher knife.

Osteopaths to Hold Convention May 3, 4

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 11.—The Pennsylvania State Osteopathic Association will hold its annual convention here on May 3 and 4. More than 800 are expected to attend. Dr. Ira Drew, of Philadelphia, is to be one of the chief speakers.

STRATEGY USED TO FORCE GAS TAX RAISE

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Final action on the highway construction and finance program, including the four-cent gasoline tax, was held up yesterday in the Legislature until the beginning of next week.

As now arranged, the series of bills calling for increased building of highways entailing an additional expenditure of $13,000,000 for the next biennium and the new motor code raising the license fees for trucks and buses will come up for final passage in the Senate next Monday night. The bill increasing the gasoline tax will be on the third reading calendar next Tuesday.

Administration forces, using the same strategy that was employed in the House of Representatives, laid their plans to insure passage of the gas tax raise. At the last minute yesterday afternoon the Sterling bill carrying the four-cent tax was recommitted in order to have it follow the other two items of the administration program by one day so as to influence votes in its favor.

SPEED LIMITS SET

The motor code, which has already passed two readings, was reported with several amendments. In addition to inserting a 40-mile-per-hour speed limit for passenger cars and 35-mile maximums for pneumatic tired buses and trucks, the committee lowered the fee increases in several instances.

From the new rates, it is expected that $4,000,000 additional revenue will be brought to the state for road purposes per year. Because the increases are not effective until next January 1 the state will receive the additional revenue for only little more than a year during the next biennium. The remainder of the $13,000,000 needed to carry the increased construction will be met from raising the gasoline tax by 1 cent for one year.

The charges fixed in the amended bill are: $2 for operators' licenses and $3 for learners' permits; 25 per cent over present fees for trucks with pneumatic tires and 50 per cent with solid tires; 50 per cent increase for all trailers; 25 per cent for taxicabs; 50 per cent for small buses of eight-passenger capacity or less, and 100 per cent for all other buses. All vehicles equipped with cushion rubber tires will have their license fees raised to approximately 30 per cent over pneumatic tires.

VOTE TILT DELAYED

A possible fight in the Senate on concurrence in amendments to the Harris voting machine enabler was delayed yesterday when the House postponed final action on the bill. It was made a special order of business for next Monday night at 11 o'clock for final passage and then will go to the Senate for consideration of the House amendments.

Senator Harris, Allegheny, sponsor of the bill, said that "if the instruction amendment is not approved the entire law of 1927 limiting assistance to voters will be nullified." The voting machine bill carries the identical provisions of the 1927 act advocates of election reform worked so hard to have enacted at the last session of the Legislature. This provision of the voting machine bill relates to the actual process of voting where voters are either unable to read the names of candidates or physically disabled. The instruction in the use of the machine is a separate item in the new bill, but Senator Harris explained that if "instructors" are permitted to be in the machine booth at the same time as the voter with the curtain drawn and the machine ready for use, the "instructor" could actually pull the levers polling the vote.

PITTSBURGH BILL MONDAY

The House also deferred action on the Greater Pittsburgh bill permitting a referendum on the question of consolidating the whole of Allegheny County into the City of Pittsburgh until next Monday night, when it will be a special order of business at 10:30.

The Salus firearms bill, which was defeated in the House by a vote of 93 to 96, is far from dead as far as the Philadelphia delegation is concerned. Efforts are being made to line up sufficient strength to have the adverse vote reconsidered next Monday night.

Fumigator Dies In Home of Patron

BUTLER, Pa., April 11.—Thomas Decker, 39, a sanitation engineer, was found dead in the home of Dr. E. L. Wasson last night. Death was believed to be due to heart attack. Decker had fumigated the house of the local physician for moths during the day and had returned in the evening to open the house. Decker came here from Columbus, O., five months ago.

River Victim Believed To Be Pittsburgher

AMBRIDGE, Pa., April 11.—A body taken from the Ohio River at South Heights was identified from a letter found in the clothing as that of Joseph Demarco, of 418 Third street, Pittsburgh. John Ball, ferryman of South Heights, discovered the body.

"Uncrowned King Of Arabia" Now Scrubs Floors

PLYMOUTH, England, April 11.—(AP.)—Col. T. E. Lawrence, famed as "the uncrowned King of Arabia" has been attached to the Cattewater Royal Air Force station here.

The man who held the Arabian world in his hand during the war, is taking turns with his comrades as an ordinary private, scrubbing floors and making beds in their barracks.

Lawrence recently was transferred for diplomatic reasons from the air force on the northwest frontier of India and arrived in England surrounded by much secrecy. Lawrence, who has adopted the name of Shaw, worked for several weeks here before the contingent of 150 men discovered who he was. He has stipulated that in conversation with his colleagues the names Lawrence and Arabia must be barred.

BIG LOSS SEEN UNDER 4-CENT GAS TAX

One-third of Pennsylvania's 1,700,000 motor vehicles, including trucks and buses, are owned by residents of countries bordering on states having a lower gas tax than Pennsylvania, according to C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

"Over 83,000 motor vehicles cross the state line between Pennsylvania and Ohio, New York, New Jersey and Delaware each day in the year, with the annual total of crossings almost 31,000,000 or 15,500,000 round trips," Roth declared. "If only half the drivers who cross the line buy five gallons of gas in neighboring states because of the lower cost there, Pennsylvania will lose the revenue on approximately 36,500,000 gallons of gas in 1929," he said.

"With the gas tax at four cents per gallon, this amounts to the impressive figure of $1,460,000."

These figures, according to Roth, are the result of a study of the gas tax situation made by William S. Ganning, engineering director of the Keystone Automobile Club, affiliated with the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

The figures were gathered in the motor club's campaign against the proposed four-cent gas tax rate in Pennsylvania.

Second Wife Held In Boy's Kidnaping

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 11.—Mrs. James Novak, 19, of Fallowfield Township, was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Jack Thomas on an order from police authorities of Wellsville, O., in the alleged kidnaping of a six-year-old son of her husband from Mrs. Roland Henthorn, of Wellsville, Novak's first wife. James J. Novak, father of the boy, whom he is alleged to have kidnaped from his former wife, is being held under $5,000 bail in Ohio. Mrs. Novak is wanted as an accessory.

Four in Family Ill, Father Ends Life

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 11.—The body of Ernest A. Knapp, 42, Dover millworker, believed to have ended his life over family misfortunes, was recovered from the Tuscarawas River yesterday. He disappeared April 2. His daughter, Wilma, 18, suffered a broken back last fall. Two other children were injured at different times. His wife suffered a nervous breakdown and Knapp himself became afflicted with heart trouble from worry.

TINTEX BRINGS Paris Chic to "Undies"

.... It's color that makes Parisian underthings so smart ... in the lovely peach, soft orchid and delicate greens of Springtime itself.

.... And it's Tintex that makes it easy for you to give your lingerie Paris smartness. So simple, indeed, that you just "tint as you rinse." Quickly, surely ... Tintex renews faded color or brings lovely new color to all your "undies." If they're lace-trimmed, use Tintex in the Blue Box ... it colors the silk and leaves the lace untouched.

.... Be sure to have your dealer show you the new Tintex Color Card ... with all the fashionable Spring colors on actual samples of silk.

500 New Dress, Tailored and Sports Hats at a Very Special Price

The illustrations give some idea of the style smartness of the hats, but there is much more than that to their desirableness ... They give an impression of unusual value by their texture, by their soft conformity, by that indescribable something by which (if you are particular) you just know when you have found "your hat."

Of perle visca, perle braid, crocheted visca, hair, novelty straw, felt-with-baku, felt-with-ballibuntl . . . Ear-tab turbans, bicornes, brims long at one side, hats with coque feathers jutting out perkily, with two-color grosgrain trimming, hats subtly flower-trimmed, hair hats trimmed with lace.

Dictator Ill, Poles Kept in Ignorance

BERLIN, April 11.—(INS.)—Mystery surrounds the illness of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, dictator of Poland. He is confined to his bed in the military hospital at Warsaw.

According to Warshaw advices, the nature of the marshal's illness is being kept from the Polish people. Many of the inhabitants believe the marshal is still actively ruling at Belvidere castle.

Fire Uncovers Still In South Side Home

South Side police were searching today for the owner of a 30-gallon still uncovered in the supposedly unoccupied second floor of a two-story dwelling at 928 Winnebago street when answering a call last night for a small fire. Besides seizing the still, police reported obtaining 15 empty barrels and a five-gallon can partly filled with moonshine.

Mrs. Josephine Rakowski, a widow occupying the first floor of the house, said she had rented the second floor to a man whose identity was unknown to her. Slight damage was caused by the blaze.

MRS. HOOVER HONOR GUEST OF 800 UNIVERSITY WOMEN

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover turned from her role of first lady yesterday to participate simply as "honored guest" at a reception for about 800 women, most of whom were her contemporaries in various colleges when she was just Lou Henry, co-ed.

She accepted the hospitality of the American Association of University Women, of which she has been a member here for seven years, and she promised during the afternoon to help them entertain another guest next week.

RECEIVES GUESTS

The solemn dignity that has marked Mrs. Hoover's public appearances since March 4, was entirely absent from the moment she entered the spacious club house to the time she smiled farewell. She chatted vivaciously with other guests, apparently happy to greet them simply as fellow clubwomen.

Mrs. Hoover in college was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Brown transparent velvet was the frock she chose for the afternoon. It was cut with a straight blouse and tiered skirt, and was worn with a darker, fullsome cape wrap with a fur scarf.

Mrs. Hoover was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Kearl Fenning, president of the club, who was dressed in wistaria chiffon—a fluffy, jacketed gown.

SHAKES HANDS WITH EACH

They stood in the great dining room of the clubhouse, the guests passing through the lounge on the first floor, up the stairs, and through a small dining room, to them. Mrs. Hoover shook hands with each one. The guests passed back down the stairs for tea and music in the lounge. Later Mrs. Hoover had tea and spent several moments chatting with Mrs. Fenning.

Mrs. Hoover's sister, Mrs. J. H. Large, accompanied her, as did Miss Ruth Fessler, White House secretary. Mrs. Large, who was dressed in blue, was a co-ed at Leland Stanford University as was Mrs. Hoover.

The name of the guest whom the first lady will assist the club in entertaining has not yet been announced. Mrs. Hoover gave assurances, however, that she would participate actively in welcoming her.

Springdale Studies Water Plant Labor

Action on Springdale Borough's proposed water softening plant stood deferred today while borough councilmen sought to determine whether local workmen should construct it, or general bids should be accepted. The decision was postponed after bids had been opened at a meeting last night. Borough Manager J. F. Pierce reported that the work could be done by borough workmen at less cost than was represented by the lowest of the contractors' bids.

BEAVER VALLEY PRESBYTERIES IN SESSION

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 11.—At the annual spring meeting of the Beaver Valley Presbytery of the United Presbyterian churches here, the Rev. S. B. Copeland, of New Castle, was elected moderator; the Rev. Thomas B. Graham, of Ambridge, clerk; the Rev. Frank A. Ewing, of New Brighton, financial agent; the Rev. G. A. P. Bowen, of Beaver, superintendent of young people's work; the Rev. William M. French, of College Hill, superintendent of school work, and the Rev. William Rotzler, of New Brighton, superintendent of missions.

The congregations of Colona, Conway, Mahoning, Portersville and Mountville were recommended for mission board aid.

MIDLAND, Pa., April 11.—Twenty-six Presbyterian churches of the Beaver Valley were represented at the meeting of the Beaver Presbytery here. The Rev. Frank C. Ramsey, of Aliquippa, was moderator. The Rev. J. C. Steele, of Vanport, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. T. Boyd Gay, former pastor at Freedom, was transferred to Florida. The Rev. Floyd W. Barr, of Beaver Falls, was elected commissioner, and the Rev. J. F. Kirkbride, of New Castle, alternate, to the General Assembly at St. Paul, May 21. Lay commissioners are G. F. Swearingen and Charles Haney.

Truck Runs Wild, Crashes Into Auto

A truck owned by the Wilkinsburg Contracting Company, left parked in front of 5520 Penn avenue, ran wild on a grade after the brakes had become released yesterday, crashed into a parked automobile, and endangered pedestrians at Penn and Stratford avenues. Police arrested John Spagnol, 24, of Export, driver of the truck, for having left his engine running in violation of the motor code. The damaged auto was owned by Harry Hunter, of 604 Cedar avenue.

Two McKeesport Men Held on Rum Charge

Arrested Tuesday in a raid by McKeesport police at 207 Market street, McKeesport, Leo O'Connor, 28, and Lawrence Massung, 34, of that address, were held for court on charges of violating the Snyder act by Magistrate E. M. Trich, of McKeesport yesterday. Police testified the raid had been the third at the Market street address.

Fifth Meningitis Case in Homestead

A home at 553 Heisel street, Homestead, was quarantined yesterday by Health Officer Samuel Wise, after a physician had reported that a Negro child living there was suffering from meningitis. The case was the fifth reported in the Homestead district within a week. In the four previous cases, deaths have occurred.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

"She's a Septic!"

Many women want to be, deserve to be, and could be far more popular than is their lot. Doctors know why. So do nurses. They call such cases septics.

To remedy obnoxious body odors and bad breath, you must recognize their cause. The trouble is deep-seated. Frankly in the colon. Semi-constipation makes millions of systems septic. There may be a daily movement, but all the waste is not eliminated. The matter that remains poisons the blood, and permeates the perspiration. It taints the breath. Nature is signaling for need of a little calcium.

Calcium wafers work wonders in one's appearance, too. With the inner system sweet and clean, the complexion clears most marvelously. Eyes brighten. Teeth whiten. The tongue is no longer coated, even on arising. And you never need take another harsh cathartic.

Perhaps you are a septic, and don't know it. Try a tiny wafer of calcium, and see! It may make all the difference in the world. Leave harsh, habit-forming cathartics alone. You never need them if you take an occasional calcium wafer.

TRY THIS THOROUGH TEST

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium compound, and the benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them for 10c. Or the family size, 60c. Start this test today!

Doctor Sends A New Truss On Trial

No Money Down Required, No Cash Deposit; No C. O. D.

Kansas City, Mo., (Special)—Having invented a superior type of rupture appliance—with no leg straps, no elastic belt, no cruel spring bands, no hard gouging pads—an unusual offer to give it wider demonstration is now being made by the Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 196 A Koch Building, 2906 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo. He will send his appliance for 30 days' trial without a cent in advance, no cash deposit, no C. O. D. shipment. Hundreds of people, many with double rupture of long standing, have declared it brought them quick improvement and freedom from the hampering and discomfort previously suffered from truss wearing. If ruptured, and wanting quick relief and freedom from truss discomfort, make this test. After the 30 days' trial if entirely pleased and satisfied, pay its small price and keep the appliance. Otherwise, simply return it and owe nothing. The advantage of this offer is all in your favor. Accept it by writing the Doctor today. The coupon below will do with plain writing or printing in pencil.

Henry, saloon, 19 East Lacock street; John Murtha and Michael Bosanick, saloon, 101 Miller street, Rankin; Michael Seibert, saloon, 514 Monongahela avenue, Glassport; and Marie Lach, store, Blair county.

500-MILE RIVER TRIP ENDED

The speedy U. S. S. Monongahela was in her home port here today after a round-trip of 500 miles on the Allegheny River, which proved that stream to be navigable for a distance of almost 240 miles.

Under Col. Jarvis J. Bain, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, the boat made the trip in 36 hours running time, reaching a point a little beyond the New York state line.

The novelty of the speeding boat on the upper reaches of the river gained it wide attention. At Corydon, school was dismissed so that pupils might see it, and truckloads of adults and children followed it for miles along the banks.

St. Louis Gangster Is Slain in Detroit

DETROIT, April 11.—(INS.)—The body of an unidentified man, hurled from a speeding automobile here, was yesterday identified as that of Peter Roppa, St. Louis gangster and member of a sugar house mob.

Roppa, according to police, has been working with a gang of rum runners between St. Louis and Detroit. Last year, it was said, he was arrested in St. Louis on a charge of murder and extortion. His death was laid to rival gangsters.

Merchants Victims Of Fake Pay Checks

CHARLEROI, April 12.—Bogus check writers are counterfeiting railroad and steel mill pay checks and passing them on merchants, police announced today. Most of the checks uncovered are excellent duplications of those which the corporations issue. Signatures are bogus, the grafters creating such "officials" as "Brown, Jones and Smith." One railroad check of the fictitious issue carried so bold a countersign as "Dunn A. Gape."

Man Killed, Family Hurt at Crossing

WAYNESBORO, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Wesley Armstrong, a farmer, was killed and his wife and their two infant sons were seriously injured in a grade crossing crash yesterday.

Their truck was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad motor coach at the grade crossing at the end of the lane leading to their farm from the old Chambersburg road. The scene of the crash is only 200 yards from their home.

New Hudson Motor President Is Named

DETROIT, April 11.—(INS.)—William J. McAneeney yesterday was named president and general manager of the Hudson Motor Car Company, succeeding Roscoe B. Jackson, who died March 19 while in Mentone, France.

McAneeny, who has been with the company since its organization in 1909, has served since 1923 as first vice president and treasurer. He has been the president of Essex Motors since its formation.

Jannings on Leave To Visit Fatherland

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 11.—(INS.)—Emil Jannings, German screen star, is going home to his beloved Berlin on a vacation. Jannings was granted an indefinite leave of absence yesterday by Paramount-Famous-Lasky and will leave for Europe next May.

This will be Jannings' first visit to his home since he was placed under contract to Paramount in September, 1926.

Foul Play Suspected In Mystery Death

NEW CASTLE, April 11.—The body of a man who died at the New Castle Hospital as a result of a fractured skull yesterday was identified as that of James McCrae, 65, of this city. He leaves a sister, Miss Kate McCrae, of 7229 Church street, Ben Avon, Pa., and a brother, Robert, also of Ben Avon. Police suspect foul play. Walker McKay, Negro, is under arrest on suspicion.

Fire Causes $10,000 Loss at Kittanning

KITTANNING, Pa., April 11.—Fire starting from spontaneous combustion yesterday damaged the automobile agency and garage of the Shaffer Forman Company, North Jefferson street, to the extent of $10,000. The fire was discovered by Mrs. George Kline, who was sleeping on the second floor of the building. Several new automobiles and radio sets and accessories were damaged by heat.

VETS OF 109TH ORGANIZE

A nucleus for an association of veterans who saw service in France with the 109th infantry, 28th division, has been formed in Pittsburgh by a group of former members of the Pennsylvania unit. Lloyd B. Blough, of 7043 Fletcher way, was elected commander, and Charles A. McClelland vice commander. The organization is to be known as the 109th Infantry Veterans' Association, Department of Pittsburgh.

Gabrilowitsch Makes His Debut in Berlin

BERLIN, April 11.—(AP.)—Ossip Gabrilowitsch, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and guest conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, made his debut here tonight as guest conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. The program consisted of Haydn's Second Symphony, Richard Strauss' "Don Juan," and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Russian Easter Festival."

LEVIATHAN TO SELL LIQUOR TO HALT SEA BOOTLEGGING

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—No liquors will be sold on the Leviathan on her present voyage to Europe, Joseph E. Sheedy, executive vice president of the United States Lines, Inc., announced this afternoon. He said that his order to the stewards of the ship was to serve liquors on the western trip.

Sheedy, commenting on his order that liquor may be sold aboard the vessel, said: "We had to meet this issue—and we have done it—because we couldn't be evasive about it.

"After prohibition the United States Shipping Board deemed it good policy to enforce the federal law on board vessels under its control. But that didn't stop the drinking. Passengers brought their own liquor on board and bootlegging was rife. We hope to stop all that by making it possible for them to obtain liquor legally on board."

"There will be no bar on the ship. Now that women drink and smoke and all sorts of language develops where liquor is served, it is much better that there be no ship bar. Passengers may have what they desire in their cabins and in the dining room—unless they give evidence of having had too much. In that case they will be served no more liquor."

Woman Shot Dead; Husband Is Sought

YORK, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Beulah Marsh, about 30, wife of John Marsh, was shot and killed at the home of her sister in Baughman's valley, yesterday. Officials today were hunting the woman's husband who is alleged to have shot Mrs. Marsh during a quarrel, and then fled.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Southern Kansas yesterday morning is now centered over Eastern Iowa; lowest barometer, 29.52 inches, at Davenport. It produced showers and thunderstorms in all the Mississippi Valley states and heavy snow in Eastern South Dakota and in Minnesota.

Relatively high pressure overlies the Rocky Mountain states, and the western plains, attended by clear skies and moderately cold weather, freezing temperatures everywhere over the Rocky Mountains and the plains west and north of Iowa. From Iowa eastward the temperatures are near normal.

River Conditions.

There was an average of about a foot rise in the Allegheny River from Franklin down, about a foot and a half in the Monongahela, and 3.0 feet in the Youghiogheny. At Pittsburgh the Ohio rose 1.6 feet. Stage at Franklin is 7.1 feet; Lock No. 7, 16.5; Pittsburgh, 17.5; Dam No. 2, 9.7; Dam No. 6, 17.0; Dam No. 9, 16.5, and Dam No. 12, 13.0. The upper rivers are about stationary, or falling slowly. The Ohio will rise a few tenths more today, and will be falling by night.

BY accurate record, over 400,000 women and girls have written to us that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped them during the three critical periods of maturity, maternity and middle age.

MRS. NANCY POWELL
c/o R. Bunch, R. R. No. 2, Box 81, Elma, Washington

"My husband works in the woods and we travel from camp to camp. I got so run-down that I could not do my housework or cooking. It seemed as if I would faint when I tried to work and I would have to lie down. So my husband stayed at the camp and I with mother. She advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I had taken only three bottles I went back to keeping house and when I had taken six bottles I started waiting on table at one of the camp hotels. This is very hard work and I do my own housework too. We have a fine two-year-old boy and I take him with me. I am still taking the Compound and have recommended it to lots of women and so have my mother and my four sisters."—Mrs. Nancy Powell.

MRS. MARGARET COSTA
1911 W. 19th St., Chicago, Illinois

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before having a baby and afterwards to build up my body. I am 19 years old and for seven years I was not strong. For the last two months before the baby came I was the worst. My ailments kept me from doing my work. I just dragged along at it. I do housework and factory work, mostly in candy factories. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation too and have found wonderful relief. When I see women suffering I say, 'Get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see the result.' I take it four times a day. I will be very glad to correspond with any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Margaret Costa.

BESSIE McKILLIP
76 W. Louther Street, Carlisle, Pa.

"I am a shoe-factory operator and I got into a nervous, run-down condition. I would come home at noon and lie down, and all the nourishment I could take would be a glass of milk and it would be impossible to return to the factory. I could not sleep nights and was too weak to do anything scarcely. The doctor advised me to go to the hospital and rest but told me to continue taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I refused to go to the hospital but I have taken seven bottles of the Compound. I am working in the factory and doing my own work at home. I feel like a different person and I am only sorry that I did not start before."—Bessie McKillip.

FORD, VISITING AIRCRAFT SHOW, SEES 'NEW INDUSTRY'

DETROIT, April 11.—(INS.)—"It's the beginning of a new industry," Henry Ford mused yesterday as he reflectively surveyed Detroit's second all-American aircraft show here and compared it with the automobile shows of 25 years ago.

Ford with his son, Edsel, spent two hours taking in the aircraft exhibition. The gray-haired motor magnate peered into the planes, inspecting their motors, while Edsel busied himself over the plane bodies and general ensemble.

"Within a short time," Ford declared, "the aircraft industry will be controlled by large organizations. The aircraft industry will follow the automobile industry in a development from a small number of small independent manufacturers to a few large controlling organizations."

Ford arrived at the show accompanied by William Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company. He was joined by his son a short time later and their party was taken on a special tour of the air show.

DRY REFERENDA SOUGHT IN TWO MORE STATES

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Two new state movements looking toward amelioration of the prohibition laws are under way at present on the heels of the recent referendum in Wisconsin. Illinois and Missouri legislatures are considering measures for referenda on the question.

New York, Nevada, Montana and Maryland are without state enforcement acts, all but Maryland having repealed them, while Maryland never adopted one as such. Wisconsin has taken steps to be the fifth to join this group. Connecticut and Rhode Island never have ratified the Eighteenth Amendment, although the latter has an enforcement law known as the Sherman act, while Connecticut uses state excise laws for prosecution of liquor violations.

REPEAL BILL READY

Last week, Wisconsin by a majority of 125,000 voted in a referendum to repeal the Severson act, state enforcement law. Wisconsin voted for President Hoover on a dry platform last year with almost a 95,000 plurality.

In Illinois, the Weber-O'Grady bill designed to repeal the state enforcement act was advanced to the third reading in the lower house after an amendment was tacked on calling for a referendum.

BILL UP IN MISSOURI

At Jefferson City, Mo., legislators also had before them a resolution aimed at a referendum on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, introduced by Senator Joseph Brogan, of St. Louis.

The resolution would direct the governor to memorialize Congress, asking for submission to the voters of a proposition to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and also proposes a referendum on the state enforcement act.

FOSTER TEAMS TO ORGANIZE

The final organization meeting for workers in the Stephen C. Foster Memorial effort prior to the beginning of the public appeal will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Kaufmann's auditorium. The plan of the project will be explained and all preparations concluded.

The appeal will open officially with a dinner on Monday evening in the William Penn Hotel. Following the dinner, the solicitation of prospects will begin.

The objective of the appeal is $500,000, which will be used to erect a memorial building on the Cathedral of Learning quadrangle. The site of the building has been donated by the University of Pittsburgh. Perpetual maintenance also has been provided.

City Schools to Add $3,000,000 to Debt

The Pittsburgh school district has filed in Quarter Sessions Court a loan statement, and with it an announcement that the bonded debt is to be increased $3,000,000. The present debt is $21,572,449. In this procedure it was not necessary to get the authority of the court, as the question of loans is within the jurisdiction of the board of public education, but Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley must certify the statement to the State Department of Education at Harrisburg.

Tech Music Students Will Give Display

Students of the department of music of Carnegie Institute of Technology will give a public demonstration of Dalcroze eurythmics at 8:15 tonight in the theater of the College of Fine Arts. The demonstration will be given under the direction of Miss Susan T. Canfield, assistant professor, and Miss Mary B. Macnair, instructor, aided by the Student Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Prof. J. Vick O'Brien, department head.

Washington Infantry Plans April Dance

The Washington Infantry of Pittsburgh, with headquarters in Soldiers' Memorial Hall, will hold a dance on the evening of April 19 in the Eastern Star Temple, South Highland avenue and Alder street. The committee in charge is composed of Nathan Kline, chairman; Norman W. Morgan, Everett E. Madison, R. Whalen, Edward King and Karl Gerlitz.

Pittsburgh Girl Wins Scout Award

Sugar's five uses in the diet . . .

Authority explains this delicious food

WE RECENTLY asked the food scientist at one of the great universities to describe the rightful place of sugar in the diet.

"Sugar has five distinctive uses," he said. "1. A conserver of foods. 2. A flavoring substance. 3. A satiation factor. 4. A staple fuel. 5. An emergency fuel."

The scientist showed that sugar is used as a conserver of many foods, especially fruits.

Discussing sugar as a flavorer, the scientist said: "One of the most praiseworthy developments of the modern diet lies in the expansion of the use of fresh fruits . . . contingent on the free availability of sugar."

Discussing sugar as a satiation factor, he said: "Topping off the meal with a sweet dessert gives a sense of satiation . . . an important item in the diet."

The scientist pointed out that "Sugar as a staple fuel ranks with starch . . . sugar is more rapidly digested than starch; otherwise they are entirely comparable fuels."

He then defined the use of sugar as an emergency fuel. "The process of resorption is so rapid," he said, "that sugar appears in the muscles (the fire-box of the body) within a few minutes after ingestion."

So it is that sugar is one of the most useful and least expensive of foods. As a flavorer alone, it deserves a place in every diet for making other healthful foods delicious.

Eat all kinds of healthful fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, sweetening for pleasure, remembering the satiation value of ice creams, cookies and cakes for dessert. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

THE ONLY 18-HOLE GOLF COURSE IN CAPE MAY COUNTY

Ten minutes by motor from Wildwood over concrete highways to a course that is sporty and open for play the year round. Come down and give Old Man Par a battle. The first hole will convince you. When your second shot—a nice long brassie—drops on the green—and you rush up to try for a birdie—and find a marvelous, velvety green—you realize why so many tournaments are played here—and why the Wildwood Golf Course is the topic of golfers everywhere.

D. W. GRIFFITH TO SPEAK OVER RADIO TONIGHT

THIEL AND ALLEGHENY GLEE CLUBS BROADCAST

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

DAVID WARK GRIFFITH, "discoverer" of Mary Pickford, Constance Talmadge, Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Lupe Velez, and—his latest—Joan Lowell, author of "The Cradle of the Deep," will tell what a girl has to possess to be a movie star, tonight at 8 o'clock over KDKA. Inasmuch as Miss Lowell is the latest "discovery" and the one to be featured in a Griffith screen version of her much-discussed book, we are prone to believe that "America's Sweetheart" and the other stars will receive scant mention. Mr. Griffith is supposed to talk about "loveliness" in women.

Teddy Joyce will do some incantations before the WJAS microphone at 6:30 p. m.

Two college glee clubs will appear at Pittsburgh stations. KDKA at 7 o'clock will present the Thiel College chords and at 11 o'clock WJAS will have as guest artists the Allegheny College Glee Club.

The first of a new series of programs called "Vignettes" will be presented through WJAS at 8 p. m., the subject being "Germany."

IRVING BERLIN CYCLE

W. Howard Gardner, recording artist, has returned to Pittsburgh after a New York tour. Always popular with local fans, this tenor will offer six numbers over KQV at 8:30 o'clock. Among them will be Cadman's "My Desire" and Don Bestor's "Teach Me to Smile."

"Alexander's Rag-time Band" is one of the numbers in the Irving Berlin Cycle, WCAE at 8:30 p. m.

The Singing Violins will do "Indian Love Call," WCAE at 9, while at the same hour KDKA will inaugurate a new feature, the Master Musicians.

Of more than momentary interest is the five-minute talk by Lillian B. Dawson over KQV at 9:25. It is called "Slang Phrases of Aviation."

Other programs are equally interesting. It will be a good radio night.

"My Desire"

W. HOWARD GARDNER

Cadman's "My Desire" will be sung by W. Howard Gardner, recording artist, on the KQV program at 8:30 tonight.

NORGE
electric
refrigeration

No electric refrigerator can be better than the compressor mechanism built into it.

It is upon this principle that the great success of the Norge Electric Refrigerator has been built—It contains the remarkable Norge Rotary Compressor which is years in advance of any other type of compressor used today.

Built like a turbine, the Norge Compressor has fewer moving parts—and is the most silent operating mechanism ever developed for electric refrigeration. It is powerful in compressive action and has the unique ability to improve with use like the famous sleeve valve Knight engine.

The Norge is truly the modern Electric Refrigerator of today and tomorrow, no other electric refrigerator is like it.

Thousands are now in use—sales records prove that the Norge is one of the nation's best sellers in Electric Refrigerators. Prices range from the record low price of $195.00 up to $625.00.

Have no after-regrets—see them now at the Hommel Display Room.

Thrift
Encourages a Simple and Wholesome Manner of Living

Thomas Stockham Baker
President
Carnegie Institute of Technology

Dr. Thomas S. Baker pursued his studies in Johns Hopkins University so successfully that he was made Associate in German. Coming to Pittsburgh as Secretary of Carnegie Institute of Technology, he became President of that institution in 1922. Dr. Baker is well known as the organizer of the First and Second International Conferences on Bituminous Coal.

"Thrift," says Dr. Baker, "encourages a simple and wholesome manner of living"—and what could be more important for us in this age already so busy?

To save, to be thrifty, to lead a well ordered life—in presenting this series of editorials by Pittsburgh's leading business and professional men, the Union Savings Bank hopes to show that these are the things which lead to success.

No habit pays better than the habit of regular saving. Many a man has risen to financial independence by depositing regularly in this Bank some part of his weekly earnings. Four per cent compound interest is paid.

The officers of this Bank are always glad to meet depositors and to discuss with them investments or other financial problems.

OUR forefathers were prodigal of their labor and frugal in their manner of living. We are becoming frugal in our working and prodigal in our spending. Thrift means the saving of money and also the saving of time so that it, too, may bring a profitable return. Thrift encourages a simple and wholesome manner of living. Thrift not only promotes the financial independence of the individual, but it increases the resources and power of the nation. Thrift has a moral value in that it urges the individual to think of the future and to safeguard his own personal interests and those of his dependents.

"Message to Garcia" Topic of 'Y' Address

"A Message to Garcia" is the subject of an address to be given by James C. Mace Friday at noon in the auditorium of the downtown branch, Y. M. C. A. Mr. Mace teaches the international Sabbath school lesson each week at this time. The address will be broadcasted by Station KDKA.

Cardinal Gasquet Buried

VATICAN CITY, April 11.—(INS)—Fifteen cardinals, yesterday attended the funeral of the late Cardinal Gasquet.

RHOADS, BANKER, CHOSEN TO HEAD INDIAN BUREAU

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—After weeks of search President Hoover has found in Charles James Rhoads, of Philadelphia, the man he wants to administer the affairs of the Indian Bureau, which frequently has come under Congressional fire in late years.

The widely-known Philadelphia banker desires to serve, but is delaying a formal acceptance until he can make arrangements for leave with his partners in the banking firm of Brown Brothers & Company and other enterprises.

Mr. Rhoads called on the President at the White House yesterday for a brief discussion of the situation. He was accompanied by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, under whom he would serve.

While having engaged in the banking business practically all of his life, Mr. Rhoads long has been interested in Indian affairs, an interest he shared with his father, James E. Rhoads. He is now president of the Indian Rights Association and also is an official of the American Academy of Political and Social Science and a member of the American Philosophical Society.

Mr. Rhoads would succeed Charles H. Burke, whose resignation was accepted some weeks ago, but who, President Hoover has stated, will be given another appointment to a responsible position in the Federal Government at some later time.

After inquiring into the affairs of the Indian bureau, Secretary Wilbur said he wanted to find for the post of commissioner a man well acquainted with sociological problems.

Charleroi Firemen Plan Benefit Play

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 11.—A benefit show will be presented by the Charleroi fire department in the Palace Theater here April 29 and 30 and May 1. It is planned to make the show the most pretentious home talent play ever offered here.

ROUNDED CORNERS ASKED AT 30 CITY INTERSECTIONS

Council has asked Daniel Winters, chairman of the Public Works Committee, to present legislation authorizing the rounding of curb corners at about 30 street intersections, as requested by the Better Traffic Committee.

Other requests made by the Better Traffic Committee at a councilmanic hearing yesterday were held in abeyance until Council meets in committee next Tuesday.

The Better Traffic Committee has asked Council to pass ordinances restricting taxicab and motor bus privileges, authorizing an additional street car track on Ferry street between Fourth avenue and Diamond street and prohibiting parking from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. on both sides of Liberty avenue between Barker way and Eleventh street.

Council advised the traffic committee that Safety Director James M. Clark now is empowered to regulate taxicab and bus operations and that pending ordinances affecting those activities merely duplicate existing laws.

Speakers for the Better Traffic Committee were Prof. L. M. McIntyre and Walter Rosenbaum.

Abstains in Fear Of Fall from Roof

"I don't want to fall off a roof," was the reason advanced by Stanley Oskowich, of North Braddock, for abstaining from strong drink, when he appeared before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in United States Court. He pleaded guilty to possession of two pints of moonshine when caught in a raid, April 1, on a booze dispensary in North Braddock. He said he bought the liquor as an Easter gift for his boss, who employed him as a handy man in construction work. He was committed to jail on failure to pay a fine of $100.

KONJOLA ENDED FIFTEEN YEARS' STOMACH MISERY

"I Know of One Word That Describes Konjola, and That Word Is—Wonderful," She Says.

One of the outstanding reasons for the astounding success and vast renown of Konjola, the new and different medicine, is that those to whom it brings health and happiness in trade for pain and suffering, tell others of this wondrous medicine. Thus the fame of Konjola grows; no wonder it is known as the medicine with more than a million friends.

MRS. STEFENINE CERILLI

There is no secret about Konjola. All who suffer and who would know again the joy that comes with health restored, may learn all about this medicine of medicines from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, to explain just how this modern remedy works, and why it triumphs in the obstinate cases that have defied and resisted every other form of treatment tried. Cease to grope in darkness; believe those happy people who have declared: "Konjola was the only medicine that ever helped me; it is the medicine I should have had in the first place." Let the experience of others be your guide. Give though to the statement of Mrs. Stefenine Cerilli, 1347 Fifth avenue, Coraopolis, Pa., a short distance from Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"I know of just one word that describes Konjola, and that word is—wonderful. I never dreamed there could be such a medicine, and if all the world knew about Konjola what I know, it would have a billion friends instead of a million. For fifteen years I suffered from acute stomach trouble that defied all medicines and treatments. After every meal I suffered from sharp stabbing pains in the pit of my stomach. Gas formed, bloating me terribly. My appetite was poor and constipation added greatly to my suffering. I was disheartened and worried. Then Konjola was recommended to me so strongly that I decided to give this new medicine a trial.

"The result was marvelous. After the second bottle the stomach trouble eased up and disappeared as if by magic. In just those two weeks I found myself in better health than in fifteen years. Of course, I expected no such relief, at least not so quickly. But I didn't know Konjola. I have found that no matter how stubborn the case, or of how many years' duration, this medicine goes right to work. I could almost feel the surge of new and glorious health through my system. My appetite returned almost immediately and I can sleep soundly every night. No words of mine can describe the merits of Konjola; here is, indeed, a medicine that should be in every home."

The records of Konjola fairly overflow with such sincere and happy indorsements as this one. Here is just another proof of Konjola's worth. Here is just another reason why Konjola is the most talked-of medicine in America.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Stage and Screen Activities Affecting Local Amusement Houses

FROM OTHELLO TO DUNDREARY GAMUT OF DRAMA IS RUN BY E. H. SOTHERN

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

THAT great actor, that scholar and gentleman, E. H. Sothern, held a large audience spellbound for two hours and a half last night in the auditorium of the Y. M. and W. H. A., by a dramatic recital—which turned out to be partly a Shakespearean reading and partly a lecture on the drama. Sothern is 70, but only his silver hair is proof of that incredible fact. His voice is as clear and resonant, his step as buoyant and elastic, his humor as playful and sweet, as if he were still Rudolph Rassendyll or romantic Romeo. Nearly three hours of incessant action and utterance did not seem to weary or dull him in the least.

He began with a series of scenes from "Othello," a play he never produced on the stage, though he put on 10 of Shakespeare's dramas. From the cunning of Iago to the passion of the Moor, he counterfeited the most difficult and pregnant incidents, and all who heard must have had a better understanding of the tragedy.

Then he turned to "Hamlet," giving a series of scenes from the interview with the players to the closet scene with Hamlet's mother. This includes the familiar soliloquy, which he read with luminous beauty.

Yesterdays of the Theater

Everybody had settled down for an evening of Shakespeare without the musical glasses, when Mr. Sothern became suddenly friendly and colloquial with reminiscences of his father and other great actors.

This was a new Sothern, a genial humorist who told stories of Laura Keene and John McCullough, Joseph Jefferson and Edwin Adams, until his audience screamed with delight.

And he acted Lord Dundreary as his father had acted it for 25 years, showing the "Grecian bend" and imitating the famous lisp and stutter in the struggle with the proverb about "Birds of a feather."

He even mounted an undertaker's horse to take part in a movie battle, risking his life in a runaway until he was stopped by an aged super who told him he had "seen his father play."

He told of practical jokes in which his father reveled, that father who had a repertoire of 681 parts, and yet could find time for jocularity and laughter.

And with these reminiscences and anecdotes he mingled much good counsel and admonition in favor of an endowed theater, such as Europe has, as distinguished from the "show business," which has nothing to do with the drama. He closed appropriately with a recitation of Villon's ballade from "If I Were King," as he used to do it on the stage—"Where are the snows of yester year?"

Father's Fame Descends to Son

They are upon his brow, but they have not chilled his fine spirit.

Rarely has any speaker held his audience as E. H. Sothern did last night in this resume of stage history in which he has played so proud a part. He was the inheritor of his father's fame. But that father was identified at last with That Reckless Letter!

It cost her husband a fortune! It wrecked her home and her happiness!

For the first time an ALL-TALKING PICTURE actually brings LIFE in all its full intensity to the screen, in this magnificent drama of woman's fight against tropic heat and clandestine love. Never has such a powerful motion picture been produced; the traditions of twenty-five years have been swept aside in its creation. Every line is fraught with emotion and suspense. You see and HEAR Jeanne Eagels, star of "Rain," and one of America's foremost actresses in one of the greatest dramatic roles ever portrayed.

You see and HEAR a supporting cast of unparalleled excellence in an intense exciting play by Somerset Maugham, the author of "Rain." Some of the most absorbing drama you have ever seen passes before your eyes. No wonder this has been everywhere called "the greatest all-talking melo-dramatic motion picture ever produced."

only one part—Lord Dundreary, in a play by Tom Taylor called "Our American Cousin," in which Joe Jefferson played Asa Trenchard. No one can explain how such things happen, but Sothern's Dundreary soon became the star part, and the 47 speaking lines he had were finally expanded into a new play of entirely different texture.

The elder Sothern was identified with this part so thoroughly that he carried it over into everything else he played. During 1868 a benefit was given in London, in which Madge Robertson (Mrs. Kendal) played Desdemona in the third act of "Othello," with Sothern as Othello—dressed in full Dundreary garb, whiskers and all, making a London fop of the tragic Moor.

Yet people think Shakespeare in modern dress is something extremely modern!

Our Edward Hugh Sothern, son of that earlier Sothern, was born in New Orleans during 1859—which proves him to be 70 years of age. Who would believe it? Only a few years ago he was playing Romeo to Miss Marlowe's Juliet, and looked as young and heroic as ever. Later in modern plays by Brieux and Sutro, he was in the prime vigor of manhood, and last night in dramatic recital and lecture, he showed no sign of decrepitude or age.

Stanley Policy To Include Big Shows

The Stanley's new stage idea will be presented Monday for the first time, featuring enlarged stage shows and an elaborate orchestral production, which will be under the direction of David Broudy, to be offered each week. Brought intact from the Mastbaum Theater in Philadelphia, these shows will be augmented in Pittsburgh with a dancing ensemble of 24 girls, and a singing chorus of 32 men's and women's voices.

Frank Masters is directing the dancers, and Frank Rybka, known in Pittsburgh for his work as organist in the Epiphany Chruch and until recently choir master in the Roxy Theater, New York, is director of the singers. Vic Irwin will head the stage revue each week, introducing the acts and directing the orchestra on the stage. Irwin is a violinist from New York. Al Kaye, formerly of Pittsburgh, comes to the Stanley as production supervisor.

The new policy orchestral production is to feature a stage interval with 32 singers and 24 dancing girls in a lavish setting. "Herbertania" will be the first of the orchestral productions presented.

"Southland," first of the Stanley's revues, will have a cast including Ben Blue and his dancing act; Freddy Bernard, singer; Paul Kirkland, comic; Byron and Willis and Taylor and Randell, an adagio quartet, dancing girls and singing chorus.

STAGE, FILM BILLS ARE VARIED

Seats are on sale for "Hello Yourself," featuring Waring's Pennsylvanians, coming to the Alvin next week. Other principals in the cast are Carl Randall, Virginia Watson and Florence Hedges. The usual matinees will be given.

Hugh Banks, new juvenile with the George Sharp Players, will have a prominent part in "The Silent House," in the Pitt next week.

Seats are on sale in the Nixon boxoffice for the return engagement of Ziegfeld's musical production, "Rio Rita," which scored a tremendous success in the same house earlier in the season.

Richard Dix portrays an Indian in "Redskin," which will be the Penn screen feature next week. The stage presentation, featuring Teddy Joyce, bears the title, "Rainbow Trail."

NEW LEADER COMING

Gary Cooper and Lupe Velez sing to each other in "The Wolf Song," Paramount's musical romance which comes to the Stanley Monday. Vic Irwin will be introduced as a stage show leader in a production of an elaborate nature coming as a unit from a Philadelphia theater.

"Broadway Melody," in the last half of its second week in the Aldine, is to remain in that house for a third week, opening Monday. It is an all-talkie, with singing, dancing and a natural color sequence. Bessie Love, Anita Page and Charles King are featured.

Jeanne Eagels is starred in "The Letter," an all-talking Paramount production which comes to the Grand Saturday.

"Nite Life in Paris," featuring La Villa Mayo, opens in the Academy with a midnight show Sunday night.

The Seven Nelsons will top the stage attractions in the Harris the first half of next week. On the screen Eddie Quillan will be seen in "Noisy Neighbors."

EAST END THEATERS

Jack Norworth enacts a prominent part in "Queen of the Night Clubs," all-talking, singing and dancing film which comes to the Enright Saturday.

Dave Seed and Ralph Austin will top the vaudeville in the Sheridan Square Theater the first three days of next week in "Success." On the screen will be "Strong Boy," with Victor McLaglen and Leatrice Joy.

Cooleen Moore is the star of "Why Be Good?" It is to be the attraction in the Regent, beginning Saturday.

"The Rescue," Ronald Colman's first picture as a star, comes to the Liberty with sound effects Saturday.

Dancer

Ben Blue, in a dancing act, will be featured in "Southland," first of the Stanley Theater's new policy stage revues.

ONE DIES IN FIRE ON U. S. LINER

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 11.—(INS.)—One man was burned to death and six others injured when fire swept the boiler room of the liner President Roosevelt, of the United States Lines, as it was docked at Pier 4, here today.

The dead man was Robert Portland, boilermaker's helper, of Jersey City, N. J.

Edward Burke, fireman, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in a serious condition when dragged from the flaming engine room by Motorcycle Patrolman Walter Finkeldei. Burke had made three attempts to rescue Portland when he collapsed and was himself rescued.

Four other members of the crew were taken to the hospital with burns.

Vandergrift Murder Suspect Cleared

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 11.—Mike Serveks, 35, of New Kensington, was freed of suspicion in connection with the murder, October 4, 1928, of Sam Fillis, near Vandergrift, according to state police here. Serveks was arrested in New Kensington Monday in connection with the Fillis murder, but was cleared of suspicion after several hours' grilling.

Boy Shot at Play Dies

SHARON, Pa., April 11.—Glenn Carley, Jr., 9, son of Glen Carley, died last night from a bullet wound accidentally received Monday while playing. The lad was shot through the chest.

Handcuffed Soph Chief Eludes Freshmen

NEWARK, N. J., April 11.—(A.P.)—Lehigh University freshmen have appealed to New Jersey police to be on the lookout for an irate, excited, disheveled and handcuffed young man who is "at liberty" in this section.

The freshmens' anxiety is due to the fact that the fugitive is acting president of the sophomore class. Kidnaped by the freshmen, he escaped from the automobile in which he was being conveyed to parts sufficiently distant from the campus to establish his—and his class—inferiority and incidentally to prevent his attendance at a sophomore banquet.

Benefit Aquatic Meet to Be Held

A benefit indoor water carnival and swimming meet will be held Wednesday night in the Pittsburgh Natatorium, starting at 9 p. m., arranged by friends of Jack Richards, Pittsburgh aquatic star, who was killed diving this winter. Richards' mother will be the beneficiary.

There will be exhibitions by Duane Dowdean, George Schmeller, John Clark, Ford David, "Kid" Addison, Bessie Kucera and James Ryan.

4 Killed as Italian Seaplanes Collide

ROME, April 11.—(AP.)—Four men, a lieutenant and three enlisted men, were killed today in a crash of two seaplanes maneuvering near the seaplanedrome.

The planes were at a height of 300 feet when they collided and were hurtled to the water in a tangled mass.

New Gas Well Yields 700,000 Feet Daily

BUTLER, Pa., April 11.—T. H. Burton & Co. have drilled in a gas well on the John Golla farm, near Petersville, which shows a yield of 700,000 cubic feet daily. The company has about 500 acres under lease and other wells will be drilled. The district at one time had many producing oil wells.

Braddock Man Gets 6-Month Rum Term

Fines totaling $800 and a six-month jail sentence were imposed on Tony Ambolina, of 62 Braddock avenue, Braddock, today by Judge Nelson McVicar after he had pleaded guilty to liquor law violations. Ambolina, who was arrested March 1, faced similar charges in 1927.

Why Not Help Your Stomach

If it bothers you? Indigestion and its results—sour stomach, headaches, gas, rheumatism, too much acid which causes colds—quickly vanish with daily use of ACIDINE.

ACIDINE is better because it contains: 1. An entirely new combination of the best anti-acids. 2. A substantial amount of a powerful starchy food digestant, which eliminates one great cause of indigestion—inability to digest starches. 3. A protein digestant for meats. 4. A protective soothing preparation to prevent inflammation of the stomach walls. 5. A carminative to tone up and put life into the stomach. 6. The best, finest, purest U. S. P. materials it is possible to make.

It is a new discovery, recommended by doctors—an ultra modern medicine for stomach troubles and resulting ills. No home should ever be without it. Your druggist recommends it or write the makers, Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

One woman tells another of this new solution to an old hygienic problem

Great relief, both physical and mental, comes with the use of this scientifically perfected sanitary protection.

ACROSS the counter, in offices, in drawing rooms, in country clubs—wherever women meet the world, they are learning new freedom, new composure and ease of mind through the discarding of makeshift sanitary protection. Kotex has changed the hygienic habits of women all over the world.

New advantages

Now come new perfections in this important adjunct to woman's comfort. Each pad deodorizes completely and safely, by a patented process to be found in no other napkin.

A certain bulkiness associated with old-fashioned methods has been overcome, too. Each pad is rounded and tapered in such a way as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection.

Superiorities retained

You may adjust layers of filler as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. The remarkable absorbency of Cellucotton absorbent wadding is perhaps the most important feature. It is 5 times more absorbent than cotton, itself. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,670,587.)

SUPER-SIZE KOTEX

Formerly 90c—Now 65c

Some women find Super-size Kotex a special comfort. Exactly the same as the Regular size Kotex, but with added layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding.

Buy a box of Kotex today. It is 45c for a box of 12 at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtainable through vending cabinets in restrooms by West Disinfecting Co.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. George Mesta Takes House at Newport For Summer

NEWPORT is one of the eastern resorts which includes few Pittsburghers in its summer colony. Our folks are scattered among a dozen different watering places along the Atlantic shore during the warm months, but not many seem to have selected Newport for their summer homes. It seems to have drawn largely on New York for its colonists—a group whose members have, for the most part, grown up together and have returned to Newport every summer for the major portion of their lives.

One newcomer to the colony during the coming summer, however, will be a former Pittsburgh woman, Mrs. George Mesta. Mrs. Mesta has been dividing her time between New York and Washington for the last four or five years, returning to Pittsburgh for brief visits now and then. Now, I hear, she has leased an estate at Newport and will take up her residence there in the late spring or early summer. The house she has taken is "Fair Oak," Henry Coleman Drayton's place on Beacon Hill.

These plans for the summer follow closely on the heels of just-completed winter trips, don't they? Home-coming is in the air just now and the next week or two will see our social ranks almost approaching their normal numbers. Miss Neil Stewart, of South Negley avenue, and Mrs. Walter Chess, of Bennington avenue, will, be home this week from California and Honolulu, where they have been staying since the first of February. And on Sunday they expect to leave for Washington with the delegates to the D. A. R. Congress.

Returning home the middle of next week are the Frank Samuel Loves and their daughter, Rebecca Frances, of Bartlett street. They have been out West, too, spending about three months in Southern California.

The William M. Fureys and their daughter, Virginia, who took that delightful trip to California and Honolulu by way of the Panama Canal, are apparently on their way home again. At least, I have word that they were in Del Monte, Cal., last week.

ALL path led to Carnegie Hall last night, when a large audience saw the Stage and Play Society present Philip Barry's "You and I." The play was done in the finished style which folks have come to expect of the society, the characters being taken by Mrs. William Singer Moorhead, Ann Watt, Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner, John Marshall, James W. Macfarlane, Fielder Clarke and Calvert D. Camlin.

In charge of the doors were Mrs. John H. K. Burgwin and Mrs. William McClay Hall, and past them filed most members of the society group who are in town. I saw the Alan S. Humphreys and the junior William Robinson Blairs together, Mrs. Humphreys wearing peach crepe and Mrs. Blair's gown being hidden by a wrap of metal cloth and pink ostrich feathers. Louise Evans was there, too, wearing cardinal red chiffon with a wrap of black chiffon velvet and white fox, while another debutante of the past winter, Helen West, wore a frock which was covered with a wrap of Nile green velvet and white fox.

Anne Stewart, who will make her bow next year and who is home from Farmington for her Easter vacation, wore a frock of heather crepe. Not far away, I noticed Mrs. Matthew Taylor and her daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Taylor wore peach chiffon with a wrap of metal cloth, while her daughter's wrap was of green velvet and white fox.

Mrs. Frederic Tremaine Billings was there, wearing black, and a black frock was worn by Mrs. William Henry Schoen, too. Her daughter, Gertrude, appeared in Neptune green velvet. Mrs. George Pearson wore a paisley shawl over her gown, and her daughter, Georgie, had a wrap of Nile green velvet and white fox.

THE boys who comprise the Dramatic Club of the Arnold School are going to present two one-act plays Friday night, April 19, in the auditorium of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, I hear. These plays will be "Brothers in Arms," written by Merrill Denison, and "Pierre Patelin," a farce adapted from the old French. Taking part will be Harry A. Lord, A. G. Harvey, John D. Miller, Benjamin H. Kountz, Oliver P. Scaife, III, John M. Phillips, Jr., John V. Landau, John M. Bryson and John D. Benedito. After the plays there will be dancing.

AT 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Daub in Brighton road, the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jean Pitcairn Daub, and Paul Kenah Dodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Dodworth, of North avenue, North Side, will be solemnized by the Rev. Dr. David F. Magill, of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

The bride will wear white satin with sleeves and panel of D'Alencon lace, built with a full court train of the satin. Her veil of ivory tulle is finished with a panel of old Spanish lace, and she will carry rosebuds showered with lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Miss Gladys Cochrane, will appear in salmon pink chiffon with a picture hat to match, and will carry salmon pink roses. Frocks of heather chiffon with hats to match will be worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Katherine Nease, of this city; Miss Louise Roy, of Lancaster; Miss Wynona Reed, of Latrobe, and Mrs. Cecil Munk, of Girard, O., and they will carry salmon pink roses. Stanley Dodworth will be his brother's best man and the ushers include James R. Dodworth, Jr., Jack Daub, Henry Kenah and John McFadden. A small reception will follow the ceremony and later, Mr. and Mrs. Dodworth will leave for a trip to Florida. Upon their return late next month they will be at home in Chellis street, North Side.

MISS ALICE A. KLEISER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kleiser, of Simonton street, has chosen Saturday, April 20, as the date for her marriage to Herman S. Gundlach, of Wheeling. The ceremony will be performed at 5:30 o'clock in the Fourth Methodist Protestant Church by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. Sala Leland. Miss Edna J. Dahms will be maid of honor and Miss Betty Best and Miss Catherine Harlonic, bridesmaids. Margaret Kleiser, sister of the bride, will be flower girl, and her brother, Harry E. Kleiser, is to be best man. The ushers will include O. E. Roseman and James Double. Miss Anna B. Dahms will play the wedding music, and Miss Ellen A. Lager will sing. A dinner and reception will follow the ceremony in the Rittenhouse.

ance of the First Unitarian Church, although the members heard an interesting debate (or as it was more properly termed by one of the participants, a friendly discussion), on the question at their meeting yesterday morning. The affirmative side of "Resolved: That Pittsburgh Lacks Civic Pride" was assigned to Mrs. Norman C. Riggs, neither native nor resident of the city, who set forth as her "major premise" Pittsburgh's "willingness to amass material wealth and a resistance to innovations with a what-was-good-enough-for-our-fathers-is-good-enough-for-us attitude of mind." The absence of broad streets, open gardens, and the presence of rubbish heaps in ravines and along trolley lines were cited as other shortcomings by the speaker as she compared Pittsburgh with several other cities.

On the negative side, Miss H. Marie Dermitt said no comparison could be made since no other city presents the same problems of topography and population. She enumerated the forward strides Pittsburgh has made in the last generation, reminding her hearers that only 50 years ago the city had no electricity. The finest filtration plant in the country, athletic fields, playgrounds, swimming pools, the public and unexcelled special schools, the development of which could have come only from civic pride, the municipal hospital in which many new ideas have developed and emanated, convalescent homes, the hospitals, social service work and many other things were pointed out by Miss Dermitt, who based her observations on personal acquaintance, and stressed the need and importance of individual responsibility in creating and developing civic pride.

MME. SANJINI NAIDU, of India, who will address the quarterly luncheon meeting of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters on April 22, is one of the most interesting personalities India has ever known. Born in 1879, of the ancient Brahmin family of Chatterjees of Bramanagram, Mme. Naidu became famous throughout India when she passed the matriculation examinations of the Madras University at the age of 12. Showing phenomenal literary ability, she was sent to England in 1895, where she studied at King's College, London, and later at Girton. In 1898 she returned to India and showed the fine-mindedness of the woman who was to become the first woman president of the Indian National Congress, by marrying out of her caste. Mme. Naidu is descended from a distinguished family of scholars and poets. Her great-grandmother, who was the last Sati of Bengal, mounted her husband's funeral pyre. Mme. Naidu, who is a former mayor of Bombay, is said to speak perfect English and in a voice of rare quality. In India she is accustomed to addressing tremendous gatherings, and her lectures are eagerly awaited because of their spiritual qualities. Long before Mme. Naidu came into prominence as a political, religious and educational leader in her native land, her writings had attracted unusual attention not only in India but in English-speaking countries as well. The subject for her Pittsburgh talk will be "Interpretations of the Modern Indian Renaissance."

In cultivated homes, a
is almost a necessity

For the expression of the deeper things of life, the possession of a good piano is almost imperative. No piano is more splendidly fitted for such expression than the Steinway.

The Steinway is more than a piano. It is a friendly, sympathetic companion—always within reach, always ready to bring you the enchanting world of music. It is an instrument that through 75 years has won the praise of virtually every famous musician.

Yet the Steinway is not expensive. Viewed as an investment over the 30, 40, or even 50 years which will constitute its lifetime, the Steinway is truly economical. . . . Convenient payments will be arranged if you wish.

OPERA TO AID NEW YORK MILK FUND FOR BABIES

By CHOLLY KNICKERBOCKER.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Social leaders, music lovers men prominent in the financial and industrial worlds, and charitably-inclined women whose names are renowned in civic philanthropic projects, will form a representative and capacity audience this afternoon at the Metropolitan Opera House, when a gala performance of "Mignon" will be given for the benefit of the Free Milk Fund for babies, Inc., of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Sr., is the president and guiding spirit.

For weeks past Mrs. Hearst and the members of her committee have devoted their time and energies to making the opera performance the outstanding social and musical event of the season. As a result of their untiring efforts all the boxes in the "golden horseshoe" and grand tier have been sold and the majority of the seats in the orchestra, balconies and galleries were disposed of weeks ago.

The most brilliant cast that can be assembled from the ranks of the world-famous Metropolitan Opera Company will sing the various roles in Thomas' tuneful "Mignon." The artists who will pour forth their golden notes that the babies of the poorer regions of New York will be assured of a plentiful supply of milk during the hot days that are just ahead of us include the incomparable Lucrezia Bori, Beniamino Gigli, whose face as a tenor circles the globe; Marion Talley, whose sensational debut at the Metropolitan several years back is still recalled by operagoers, and last, but by no means least, that splendid basso, Leon Rothier.

Many of the hostesses who will entertain at "Mignon" this afternoon will give "early luncheons" before journeying to the Broadway musical temple, and among those who will give box parties at the Metropolitan are Mrs. Joseph E. Widener, Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, Mrs. Frank Vance Storrs, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Mrs. Roland L. Redmond, Mrs. Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Mrs. William Boyce Thompson, Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, Mrs. S. Stanwood Kenken, Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Willard S. Brown, Mrs. Pierre Cartier, Mrs. Bernard Gimbel, Mrs. James P. Donohue and Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer.

Others who have boxes for this afternoon's performance are Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Otto H. Kahn, Sir Joseph Duveen, John Wanamaker, Charles M. Schwab, John McEntee Bowman, Clarence Dillon, Col. Edward M. House, George Tuttle Brokaw, Harry Payne Whitney, Inglis M. Uppercu, A. Atwater Kent, Joseph Harriman, Franklin Simon, George Gordon Moore, Jules Bache, Gerhard Dahl, Frank L. Crocker and others.

Mrs. Hearst and the various members of the committee expect to realize a record-breaking sum—a sum that will enable the free milk fund for babies to increase its activities this season.

Chinese Missions Looted and Burned

CANTON, China, April 11.—(AP.)—Bishop John A. O'Shea, of the Catholic Mission at Kanchow, Southern Kiangsi, notified connections in this city today that bandits had looted and burned the Catholic Mission in Jikin, Southeastern Kiangsi.

He said outlaws were active around Kanchow and that authorities of that city have asked for military assistance.

DAULER-CLOSE FURNITURE

When Buying Furniture Buy Quality Which Means Satisfaction

A wise selection of Furniture makes for home-like charm and comfort. First cost should not be considered. Enduring Furniture which always has style will determine the appearance of a home and satisfies.

Inferior quality Furniture, though looking good when new, soon becomes shabby and needs constant attention—in reality it costs more than good Furniture.

Dauler-Close Furniture is inherently good and lasting and modestly priced.

School Bus Upsets On Hill; 33 Injured

TOWANDA, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—One boy was in a serious condition and 30 other children and two teachers were suffering from cuts, bruises and shock yesterday as the result of the wrecking of the Spring Hill school bus.

The accident occurred when the transmission of the bus broke while the machine was descending a steep hill. The driver, Victor Camp, lost control of the bus, which turned over when it struck a rut.

Towns Get Warning In Mad Dog Scare

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 11.—A rabies warning has been issued to residents of Coal Center, Vestaburg, Fredericktown and Millsboro, in Washington County, and Dry Tavern, Mather and Jefferson, in Greene County, as a result of the ravages of a mad dog which ran amuck until killed in Jefferson. The dog is said to have attacked two children in Coal Center and several dogs in the communities through which it passed.

Climbing

First, Ziegfeld picked her for his "Follies." Next, she was chosen for "Rio Rita," and now Warner Brothers will present her in the movies. Dainty Agnes Franey is climbing; helped by clever dancing and seldom equaled beauty.

Miss Franey says: "I don't believe in overlooking anything which helps add to your attractiveness. I am most particular about my hair and so many friends compliment me on its softness and lustre that I am sure my method of caring for it is right. Nearly all the girls I know here in New York are using it, now. It is so easy. All we do is put a little Danderine on our brushes each time we dress our hair. It makes my hair easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It has gotten rid of my dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I did before. And best of all, it gives my hair a softer, more silky and lustrous appearance than anything I've ever found."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color, makes it fairly sparkle! Dandruff usually disappears when you use Danderine. Waves, "set" with it, stay in longer. It's delicately fragranced; isn't oily; doesn't show. It's economical. The 35c bottles will last several weeks. All drug stores recommend and guarantee it.

HUSBAND AND WIFE HELPED

Latter Relates How Ten Herbs Relieved Ailments; Claims It's Wonderful.

"Ten Herbs is a wonderful medicine"—that is the tribute thousands of local people are paying this celebrated new herbal compound. The remarkable success of Ten Herbs is due to its ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which are scientifically compounded in such a way that makes it an entirely new and totally different medicine—one that goes to the source of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general weak, run-down condition. No wonder there is such a tremendous demand for Ten Herbs at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where this preparation is being introduced.

MRS. JAMES S. MINOR

"Ten Herbs surely is a wonderful medicine," said Mrs. James S. Minor, Route 2, Bridgeville, Pa. (near Pittsburgh). "I was troubled with my stomach, which finally got so bad that I could eat scarcely anything. Gas formed around my heart, causing pain and palpitation. My husband was troubled in about the same way, and was told that he had an ulcerated stomach, which caused him considerable worry. At times I was bilious and had terrific headaches and dizzy spells. We were both pothered with constipation.

"We started using Ten Herbs, and I can truthfully say that it has been years since we felt so well. Neither of us is troubled with indigestion, gas, or palpitation of heart any more. We have good appetites and food digests properly. Constipation has been corrected. I am free of bilious attacks, headaches and dizzy spells. Ten Herbs gave us such good results that we are pleased to endorse your medicine to the public."

Ten Herbs has a cleansing, soothing, correcting action on the entire system. It has restored thousands of people of this section to perfect health, and why not you?

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

CHINA SEEKING TO END OPIUM PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The world annually produces 100 times more opium than is required for legitimate medical and scientific purposes.

This astounding revelation is based on an official report to the League of Nations. A committee of scientific experts placed the world's medical needs at 125 tons a year, whereas the production is estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000 tons.

America's legal consumption of opium last year was approximately 70 tons, or more than half the total set for the world's medical purposes.

Most of the world's opium supply comes from Turkey, Persia, India, China and the Far Eastern colonies and possessions of European powers.

RESTRICTIVE MEASURES

In an effort to cut down the excessive quantities of opium which are released each year to illicit channels, two of the greatest producers, India and China, are adopting drastic restrictive measures. Exportation of Indian opium is being reduced by 10 per cent a year.

The Chinese Nationalist government, according to a message here, is going a step further, for it is seeking to eliminate opium production entirely.

"One of the first major problems to be tackled by the Chinese Nationalist government is the opium problem," said the message, "and if present sentiment continues it is likely that China may again be able to prove to the world that she can rise to the occasion and do her part in the eradication of the evil.

VIGOROUS POLICY

"The people are determined to fight this evil. The remarkable anti-opium movement, headed by the National Anti-Opium Association of Shanghai, fairly represents the general feeling of our people. The powers must remember that the present situation in China with regard to the recrudescence of opium cultivation and smoking is a temporary one and will be corrected as soon as the influence and power of this popular movement gains sufficient headway and the new Nationalist government settles down to business."

American leaders of the anti-opium fight received the news of China's vigorous policy with undisguised rejoicing. They believe it will force other nations to control raw opium in such manner that there will be no surplus available for manufacture into drugs over and above the world's medical and scientific requirements.

If, however, no constructive action is taken toward this goal, President Hoover will be requested in a congressional resolution to protest to the powers against excessive opium production.

NATIONAL ORIGINS REPEAL AT EXTRA SESSION ASKED

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Charging that the national origins section of the immigration law denies the existence of an American nation, Senator Robert F. Wagner (D.) of New York, last night demanded the immediate repeal of that provision during the extra session of Congress. The section becomes effective July 1.

In a dinner discussion at town hall under the auspices of the conference on immigration policy, the Senator said that foreign-born were rapidly assimilating, and urged the government "not to attempt to dragoon the immigrant into Americanizing."

"The national origins law," he said, "to my mind is a dangerous and subversive piece of legislation because it writes into law the doctrine that American assimilation has never taken place and never can; that America never has been a nation and never can become one."

"Under the national origins clause,' he said, "the total white population of the United States is divided into various nationalities and the quota of each European country is measured by the proportion which it represents of the total. The maximum number of immigrants admitted under these quotas is about 154,000.

"Everyone of us, whether a recent immigrant or a descendant of the early explorers, is assigned to an old world nationality. If one's great grandfather of pre-Colonial days arrived in the United States from the Netherlands, then he is counted a Dutch-American, according to this method of enumeration the experts have decided that the great bulk of us are Anglo-Americans. It has been estimated that about 40,000,000 of our 95,000,000 white persons residing in the United States came from Colonial stock. Yet each one of this continent is assigned to the nationality of his original forebear."

The Senator spoke in favor of restricted immigration, although he urged avoidance of "regulations which set the immigrant as a thing apart, to be identified and numbered and watched."

Hatzfeld Heir Now Able to Buy New Trousers

LONDON, April 11.—(INS.)—"I expect I will buy myself a new pair of trousers," remarked Philip Champion de Crespigny when informed this afternoon of the fortune bequeathed him by the late Princess Clara Huntington Hatzfeld, who died in London four months ago.

The will was filed for probate in New York. It revealed that De Crespigny will receive a specific bequest of $500,000, a vast amount of valuable stocks and a portion of the remainder of the estate.

A correspondent found the lucky legatee at his country home, attired in a dilapidated suit as he prepared to feed a brood of pheasants.

Real Estate Concern To Give Up Charters

DEBT SOLUTION DELAYED

PARIS, April 11.—(AP.)—Stalemate in the negotiations of delegates to the second Dawes committee continued yesterday with the likelihood that several more days of difficult bargaining would be needed to bring together the Allied delegates on figures for annuities under a new German reparations settlement.

Hopes of a decision this week on the amounts and number of German annuities have faded greatly. It will require three or four days at least to thresh out the differences between Germany's creditors, the experts said. Considerable doubt has been expressed in some quarters that the Allies will be able to agree on concessions that will make an accord with Germany possible.

Confidence is still expressed in French official circles that the experts will come to an agreement, but there is undoubted pessimism in political quarters where it is declared that France cannot make any more concessions and that if nobody else will do so there is little chance of getting closer to a compromise with Germany.

The experts in general share the French official optimism.

Woman Jail Breaker Caught at Manifold

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Anna R. King, 36, who sawed her way out of the Weston (W. Va.) jail, was arrested at Manifold, near here, yesterday. Mrs. King was awaiting transportation to the Moundsville Penitentiary to serve a two-year sentence for attempted bribery of a West Virginia state police officer when she made the jail break. The woman is the mother-in-law of Lawrence Seelback, 27, Weston, W. Va., held in county jail here charged with manslaughter as a result of the death of Mrs. T. W. Keegan, who died after a collision between her husband's car and that of Seelback, which was loaded with whisky, according to the arresting officers.

Real Estate

Herman Kamin has purchased from A. W. Mellon a tract of approximately seven acres known as the circus grounds bounded by Phillips avenue, Wightman and Hobart streets, Squirrel Hill, for a consideration in the neighborhood of $240,000. It is understood that Mr. Kamin is planning five 12-family apartment buildings on the tract.

The residence of P. S. Richards at the corner of Woodland road and East drive, Edgeworth, has been sold to Alexander Laughlin Robinson. The house contains 11 rooms. The lot is 140x120 feet and includes a large garage. The deal was made by John H. Ricketson III, of George Brothers.

In Crafton, Dr. H. P. Crawford has sold to Elden B. Davis a residence on 30x105 feet in Crafton boulevard for $18,500.

C. C. Hamilton & Company through their "Exchange System" sold for Andrew Reagan to Thomas J. Vunak five stores and eight apartments on an irregular lot at the corner of George, Chamber and Munson streets, McKees Rocks, at a valuation of $70,000. In part payment, Mr. Vunak will convey three rows of frame dwellings and three double houses on four acres of ground in East Ohio street extension, Etna, at a valuation of $36,000.

A residence at 5535 Raleigh street, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold through the United States Realty Company for the Yetta Samuels estate to Annie Leff for $14,500. The lot is 40x110 feet.

Joseph Fioretto, builder, has sold to H. O. Eisenbeis a new house on 50x170 feet in Penn avenue, Fourteenth Ward.

A six-room brick house at 1113 Macon avenue, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold by Robert E. Neaidengard to Gus A. Schnabel. The lot is 30x110 feet.

Building permit applications included:

Twenty-first Ward—City of Pittsburgh, brick engine house, Homer and Dumas streets, $41,000.

Nineteenth Ward—M. V. Williams, four-family apartment, 1153 Brookline boulevard, $14,000.

Fairmont Coal Men Seek Freight Slash

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 11.—(AP.)—Coal operators of the Fairmont district gathered here yesterday to determine upon an effort to obtain a freight rate reduction on tidewater and export coal. It was said that the district may become an important factor in the South American and European coal markets if the reduction can be secured.

A temporary committee to study the preliminary motions toward a rate reduction was appointed, comprising B. R. Britt, Clarksburg; A. W. Hawley, Morgantown; Jay R. Snoderly, Fairmont; L. A. Quinlivan, Pittsburgh.

SALVATIONISTS HONOR FOUNDER

LONDON, April 11.—(AP.)—The centenary of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, was celebrated at Albert Hall last night, the big structure being crammed with enthusiastic salvationists. The principal orator was Stanley Baldwin, prime minister. He was accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin.

The program included a pageant, illustrating the rise and progress of the army. On the platform were General Edward J. Higgins, present commander, and Catherine Booth, granddaughter of the founder. Messages were received from all parts of the world, the most hearty cheers being accorded those from Lucy Hellberg, of the Scandinavian Army, and Evangeline Booth, daughter of the founder and commender of the army in the United States and its possessions.

In his address Mr. Baldwin said: "Just as no history of the 18th Century would be complete if it failed to deal with the effects of the life of Wesley, so no history of the 19th Century would be complete if it omitted reference to the influence of William Booth of England."

General Higgins told the meeting that he would like to see the Booth centenary year marked by the establishment of a new order in the Salvation Army, called "companions of the founder," for those who pledged themselves to keep alive to the utmost of their ability the spirit of William Booth.

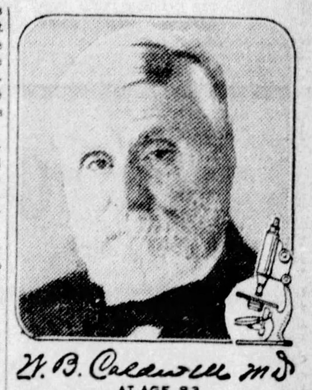
Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right



W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.

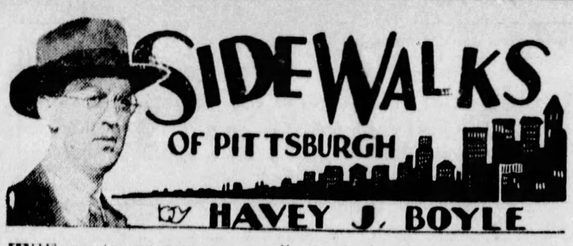
EDGEWOOD RESIDENTS PETITION FOR PARK



THE way to overcome some policemen is by extreme frankness as a friend of mine, not much more than an inch away from this column at the present moment, recently proved. My friend was caught speeding along the highway. The officer caught up with him and said: "Pull over to the side and stop." My friend said: "Before you say a word, Officer, I want to tell you I was doing nothing less than 60 miles an hour."

"You mean to say," replied the officer, "you are not going to tell me you were limping along at 20 miles an hour due to carburetor trouble or bad tires?" "I was," said my friend, "hitting 60 and perhaps a trifle more." "Go ahead," said the officer, "but cut her down."

And I am anxious to see the caricatures in this particular paragraph for the hero of the story is the guy who draws these here pictures.

The universe, the scientist tell us, is so big the ordinary imagination is staggered, but the earth, a tiny speck in the general scheme, is indeed a small place. Coleman Harrison, a local follower of Blackstone, had a client who moved away and died in a certain town in West Virginia. There was money due the client and search for his relatives proved fruitless until one day in a restaurant a waiter began telling Mr. Harrison about a brother who died in a certain town in West Virginia and, being a small world after all, the waiter in question was the very man Mr. Harrison was searching for. Perhaps the moral of this is that attorneys should keep out of restaurants.

IN AN article entitled "The Drama and the Worker," written for The American Federationist, by George Seibel, dramatic critic of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, I read the following:

"'They toil not, neither do they spin,' might be said of the characters in most plays presented in our theaters. With no visible means of subsistence, these folks are always able to wear clothes of the right cut and motor off to an afternoon tea to bandy the smart talk of Somerset Maughan or Mr. Michael Arlen.

"Just as the people on the stage thus seem to be remote from every-day humanity which has to work for a living, so the people in the audience are recruited almost entirely from the leisure class. Twenty-five years ago I knew a steelworker who had seen every great actor of his generation. He had seen Hackett play Falstaff and Ristori as Lady Macbeth. He had seen Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett and John McCullough in all their parts, again and again; he never missed an opportunity to see Henry Irving. He knew the plays of Shakespeare, Sheridan, Knowles, and Bulwer Lytton as few college professors of today know them. But that steelworker is dead and the gallery gods among whom he sat are deaf and gray, and they have left no successors."

I was interested in that description of the steelworker—and touched—because Mr. Seibel was referring to the father of this writer. I can write of him in a detached way—as though we were not related—for he never claimed parental immunity. Long before the modern examination into whether children should be imaged after their parents he explained that parents were not always the ideal their children pictured them as being.

A flood of memories were loosed by Mr. Seibel's recollection of a steelworker, a term itself not to be scoffed at by us who never packed a dinner bucket, who never got close to the men and boys who with their hands and their sweat make it possible for the advertising agents of the Chamber of Commerce to boast that this is the workshop of the world.

I PLEAD a special pardon for this intrusion on the grounds that perhaps one or two other steelworkers of the town may be interested.

MOODY CHAMP IN JAIL

Champ, former Forest Hills police chief and now a patrolman in Wilmerding, as he appeared in a Central Police Station call after arrest by prohibition agents who charged that he interfered with them in a Wilmerding raid.

CHAMP BLAMES DRY RAIDERS

Moody Champ, acting lieutenant of Wilmerding's police, had his own opinion of prohibition agents today. Arrested last night when, the agents report, he tried to interfere with a raid, he spent 12 hours in jail before he furnished $1,000 bail pending a hearing before the United States commissioner.

In his cell, Champ talked. He denied that he interfered with the raid and charged three raiding agents with interference.

The agents were raiding the grocery store of Theodore Uzeloc at 148 Watkins avenue, Wilmerding.

TELLS OF ATTACK

"Chief McGuire sent me up to see what the trouble was about," Champ related. "I asked one agent what the trouble was. He showed me his badge. I turned around to leave and he drew his blackjack and slugged me over the head.

"Two other agents joined in and knocked me down, took my revolver and ripped my badge from my coat."

Uzeloc and his wife were arrested when the agents reported finding moonshine.

QUESTIONS RAIDERS

Deputy Administrator A. G. McDuffie declared that three agents were conducting a raid on the store when Champ walked in, demanded their credentials, and asked them if they had a search warrant.

A fight followed and Champ was beaten and arrested, he said.

The reported theft of $175 from a room in the house was branded as a frameup by McDuffie, who asserted that immediately after the accusation of theft by Desenka Uzeloc, a daughter, the dry raiders were searched, but no money was found on them.

County detectives sped to the scene following a riot call, but the agents had left before the detectives arrived.

CHIEF'S VERSION

Uzeloc and his wife were arrested following the discovery of homebrew and several gallons of moonshine in the building, the agents said. Both were lodged in the Central Police Station. Wilmerding Chief of Police James B. Maguire presented a different angle to the affair.

"Shortly after 6 o'clock last night I received a telephone call from Uzeloc's daughter, who informed me that two men were searching her father's store and destroying furniture," Maguire said.

"I immediately dispatched Patrolman Champ to the place. After learning that they were prohibition agents, Champ was leaving the store when one of the agents struck him twice over the head with a blackjack and took his revolver from him," Maguire concluded.

CHARTER NIGHT CELEBRATED BY LIONS

Members of Lions Clubs of Allegheny County and their friends last night joined with Mt. Lebanon members in celebrating charter night. A banquet held in the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, Washington and Castle Shannon roads, marked the presentation of the charter from the Lions International to the new club. There were 250 persons present.

Frank R. Phillips, vice president of the Philadelphia Company, the principal speaker, commended the attendance on the loyalty and public service of such service clubs as the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis, not only a benefit for the community, but throughout the world. The theme of Mr. Phillips talk was "I Wonder Why."

MANY NOTED SPEAKERS

Other speakers were: Edward Jenkins, president of the Wilkinsburg Lions Club, which is the sponsor of the new club; H. S. Conley, secretary of the East Liberty Lions Club; Sidney Kaplan, secretary of the McKeesport Lions Club; R. A. Hansgen, president of the McKeesport club; R. L. Thompson, commander South Hills Post No. 154, American Legion; (Cap) C. F. Lauer, president of Dormont Rotary Club; Ben F. Williams, president of the Kiwanis Club of the South Hills; C. W. Scheck, chairman of Mt. Lebanon Township board of commissioners, and D. Todd, vice president of the Pittsburgh Lions Club.

The Rev. W. C. Herrick, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation. Attorney E. B. Goldsmith, vice president of the club, was toastmaster; Secretary H. R. Haines delivered the address of welcome; the presentation of the charter was made by Dr. A. S. Haines, district governor, State of Pennsylvania, and I. H. Shaffer, president of the club, made the acceptance speech.

DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM

Lion Jack Thompson led the singing and entertainment with stories and jokes. Jungle and comedy moving pictures were shown. The music was furnished by the Mt. Lebanon Radio Company. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church served the dinner.

For omitting the trademark, "Lion," when addressing a brother Lion, Vice President Goldsmith was fined 30 cents by Edward Jenkins, president of the Wilkinsburg Lions' Club.

Girl Slightly Hurt When Hit by Auto

Miss Pearl Lacimere, 18, of 2303 Sidney street, received abrasions on the right knee when she was struck by an automobile at Carson and South Twenty-third streets, and driven by Fallippi Faristine, of Mt. Oliver, yesterday. The driver took the girl to the St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was given treatment, and later went home. Faristine was not arrested.

Man Escapes Flames In Center Ave. Fire

Fire caused by an exploding glue pot today threatened to destroy the two-story building at 4618-20 Center avenue, occupied by the Mattarock Shoe Repair Company and the Craig Tailoring Company.

Harry Mattarock, proprietor of the shoe repair shop, narrowly escaped being burned when the flames broke out in front of the place where he was working. Several hundred dollars damage was done.

Fall Kills Worker At Clairton Plant

John Muceka, 37, fell 40 feet from his crane in the Clairton Steel Works at Clairton today and died from a fractured skull an hour later in the plant's emergency hospital. Muceka, married, lived at Blaine Hill, Elizabeth Township.

MONUMENT HILL DYNAMITED

WHERE WORKMEN BLASTED LOOSE HUGE CHUNK OF HILL

It was not an earthquake that Pittsburgh felt yesterday, but a blast of more than 3,000 pounds of dynamite planted by workmen engaged in cutting away Monument Hill, North Side. Above is part of the blasted section of the hill 700 feet by 50 feet by 40 feet deep.

BLAST DANGER REMOVED

There will be no danger of alarming blasts of explosives in cutting off the top of Monument Hall in the future, according to announcement today by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works.

Director Lang notified the contractor to reduce the size of the charges and the area to be covered so that nothing would be done to excite the public by loud detonations, as occurred yesterday.

The force of the blast rocked the North Side and was felt downtown yesterday as 3,000 pounds of dynamite were exploded at one time. The tremor lasted for several seconds and puzzled thousands of downtown office workers. Telephone calls poured into the City-County Building from residents near Monument Hill, protesting against the strong blast.

The Sun-Telegraph office was besieged with telephone requests for information by excited callers. Many believed that a terrific explosion had wrecked some gas plant or oil refinery. Others wanted to know if there had been an earthquake.

When the charge was set off, an area 700 feet in length, 50 feet in width and 40 feet in depth was loosened and some of the earth sent 20 feet into the air with a terrific detonation.

BOYCE RETIRES, CONTEST ENDS

The controversy in the Bellevue Presbyterian Church over retention of the Rev. Dr. Isaac Boyce as associate pastor has been settled by his voluntary retirement from active duty on pension, it was disclosed today.

In a letter to members of the congregation, Dr. Boyce states that last Sunday he met with the two church boards and a "satisfactory arrangement was made." He says that he will be on call for service, but indicates that his term of associate pastor is ended.

At a congregational meeting last week the membership voted to retain Dr. Boyce despite that no provision had been made for him to the tentative annual budget, prepared by the church boards.

Braddock Police Search for Thug

Braddock police are seeking the thug who waylaid and beat Fred White, 46, of 1346 Bell avenue, North Braddock, at Ann and Rebecca streets, Braddock. Patrolman Stephen Yanowich found White lying in the street and took him to the Braddock General Hospital.

'Caught Husband,' Wife Says, Sues

Claiming that she caught her husband coming out of the home of "the other woman" in Calvin street one fine morning, Margaret Malcher, 4058 Howley street, wants Judge Josiah Cohen to grant her a divorce from John W. Malcher.

When Mrs. Malcher suspicioned her husband was on too friendly terms with a woman in his office, she hired a detective and then she watched him for herself. When she tripped him up she says her husband retorted, "Well, Margaret, you got me."

At the time of the incidents in question, Mrs. Malcher said that her husband was engaged in business in South Negley avenue, but is now living in Bedford, Pa. The couple separated in 1922 and Mrs. Malcher has been living with her parents in Howley street.

$23 Sandwiches Land Chauffeur In Court

John Kuzinnska, of Woodlawn, thought $23 apiece for sandwiches was too high, he testified in Central Police Court today in explaining why he had caused the arrest of Edward Maginn, taxicab driver, "city."

Kuzinnska testified that he gave Maginn a $50 bill in Homestead last night with which to buy sandwiches for himself and his companion, Josephine Novas, 25, of 61 Orr street. Maginn returned with the sandwiches and $4 change. The latter testified he had been given a $5 bill. Magistrate Thomas Jones held Maginn over for further investigation.

TREES PLANTED ON BIG TRACT

Five thousand pine trees were being planted today on a 50-acre tract of land owned by the James B. Sipe and Company, Inc., along the Carnegie-Bridgeville road near Bower Hill as the first step toward beautifying the company's holdings along Chartiers Creek.

V. M. Bearer, district forester of the Forbes Forest, Ligonier, was in charge of the tree planting ceremonial which was witnessed by a score or more persons interested in reforestation. Dr. A. L. Lewin, member of the Board of Education of Pittsburgh, also participated in the ceremony and complimented officials of the company. L. C. Sadd represented the Sipe Company.

Says Charge Unjust, Sues for $5,000

C. O. Copenhaver, Cheswick, who alleges that he was unjustly accused by S. P. Kristufek for fraudulently secreting and removing goods and acquitted of the charge by order of the presiding judge, has brought suit against Kristufek for $5,000 damages. The case was filed in Common Pleas Court by Bialas, Ryan, McIntyre and Mackrell. Copenhaver says he was not only acquitted but that the costs were placed on Kristufek. He claims to have been injured by the prosecution.

PITT GIRLS PICK NEW OFFICERS

Officers of the four major women's organizations of the University of Pittsburgh were elected by students yesterday.

Officers of the Penhellenic Association are: President, Hermine Ruoff, college sophomore; vice president, Bereneice Greer; secretary, Mary Munsch, and treasurer, Beatrice Smith.

The Women's Self-Government Association officers are: President, Mannie Mae Charlesworth, school of education junior; vice president, Margaret Segal; secretary, Margaret Hall, and treasurer, Naomi Ericson.

Gertrude Kromer, sihool of education junior, was elected president of the athletic association. Other offers are Helen Bashore, vice president; Hilda Rubin, secretary, and Alice Walton, treasurer.

Young Women's Christian Association officers at Pitt will be: President, Mary Ann Johnson, college junior; vice president, Sarah Davey; secretary, Katherine McKee; treasurer, Helen Sekey.

Family Furnishes Music at Revival

William Hartness and his family, with their musical instruments, gave selections at the revival services last night in the Baptist Church of North Braddock. The family are members of the Christian Alliance Church of McKeesport.

Mrs. Florence Herr, of the First Christian Church of McKeesport, sang gospel solos. Evangelist Fosnight preached on "Life for a Look" at the services, which were attended by delegations from the Park Baptist Church of McKeesport and the Primitive Methodist Church of Swissvale.

Hurt by Box from Truck, Asks $25,000

Mrs. Goldie Gross, Wilkinsburg, injured in a Pittsburgh Railways Company street car November 13, 1928, when a box was jolted from a truck of the American Reduction Company and struck her, has brought suit against the last named concern for $25,000 damages for personal injuries. In the bill of particulars it is alleged that she was hurt on the nose, neck, back, cheek and sustained concussion of the brain. Mrs. Gross is joined in her suit by her husband, Hyman Gross.

WILL ASK VOTE ON BOND ISSUE

More than 50 per cent of the property owners of Edgewood have signed a petition prepared by the Citizens' Committee of the borough for the establishment of a park with a frontage of about 300 feet on Edgewood avenue, extending back 650 feet to Chestnut street where it has a frontage of 150 feet.

Voters of the borough will be asked to approve a bond issue by which the property can be purchased, at a special election to be held some time this summer. Members of the borough council favor the project, it was said.

Plans are now in the hands of the park committee of council, which is headed by John Dickson. W. L. DeCoursey is chairman of the Citizens' Committee. If the property is acquired, it will be improved, possibly with a playground and tennis courts, it was said.

Members of the Citizens' Committee point out that if the project is approved by the voters, it will not only provide a playground and park for those living in the eastern part of the borough, but will also enable the borough to do away with the grade crossing on Edgewood avenue, beyond the Edgewood railroad station.

GRANT ST. SUITS SETTLED

Consent verdicts growing out of suits entered in Common Pleas Court against the City of Pittsburgh totaling $39,874, because of alleged damage sustained in the widening of Grant street, were taken today before Judge Josiah Cohen.

The properties involved are on the east side of Grant street, between Sixth avenue and Seventh avenue. The owners refused to accept the finding of the board of viewers, according to Assistant City Attorney Thomas M. Benner, but later agreed to accept the awards. The verdicts taken and the amounts follow:

Andrew W. Mellon, $4,770; Elizabeth B. M. Denny, two claims totaling $2,955; Jacob Fineberg, $4,249; Denny Brereton, $4,900; Anna M. Spring, $3,840; Harry E. H. Brereton, $3,150; Elizabeth D. Brereton, $2,950; J. W. Cree, trustee for Thomas J. Brereton, $2,960; Kate McKnight Elderkin, $5,000, and William D. Brereton, $5,100.

Passenger Club To Hold Dinner

New officers of the Pittsburgh Passenger Club will be installed at the annual dinner tonight in the Fort Pitt Hotel at 6:30 o'clock. Dancing and cards will follow.

The new officers are: President, John R. Largent; vice president, W. R. Turner; secretary, Daniel Bucy; treasurer, S. W. Sankey; executive committee, R. N. Garrison, H. L. McLaughlin, P. H. Yorke, E. N. Hurd, J. J. Doyle, R. C. DeHaven and T. E. Smith. John D. Carter is retiring president.

Wounded by Gunman As He Leaves Auto

With a gunshot wound in his head, Joseph Manna, 45, of 2614 Demler street, McKeesport, was in the McKeesport Hospital today, a victim, police say, of a gunman, who fired at him as Manna was leaving his auto in front of his home last night.

Police were unable to learn the identity of Manna's assailant from the victim. He told them, they said, that he was unaware of an enemy.

Avalon Church to Name New Officers

A congregational meeting of Trinity Lutheran church Avalon is scheduled for tomorrow night in the church rooms for annual election of officers and reading of reports.

Church Arranges Annual Meeting

The annual congregational meeting of the First United Presbyterian Church of Allegheny, Union avenue, has been called for Wednesday night, April 17. The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr is pastor.

BROADCASTING STATION TO AID RADIO IN SCHOOLS

"Every person closely associated with the radio, as we are, is firmly convinced that it will play an increasingly important part in school work as time goes on," writes Francis G. Owen, director of broadcasting station WJAS, who is enthusiastic over the Sun-Telegraph, Stanley-Warner Brothers' Theaters campaign to place a radio in every schoolroom.

"Station WJAS," he continues, "will be very glad to cooperate with the proper school authorities at all times and in every way possible, in working out a comprehensive system of co-ordination between the broadcasting station and the classroom.

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED

"I may also add that this station is very proud to have a part in this big, broad civic work. We believe as a result of this campaign that Pittsburgh and vicinity will be the first city in the world to have a properly co-ordinated system of radio instruction, and we will be very proud to have WJAS the official broadcasting station."

Mr. Owen points out that by means of radio the student can be kept attentive, the latest methods of education may be used uniformly in every school and schoolroom, and the finest teachers and other facilities out of reach of the average school can be brought to everyone.

In an interview with Edgar Sprague, musical director of Station WJAS, it was pointed out that large orchestras and famous musicians are within a turn of the dial for every teacher. "It would be easy for me to arrange programs of folk songs and classical music for the schools' broadcasting periods, and even have singers, players and composers broadcast nd explain directly from our station," Mr. Sprague said.

Definite schedules have been worked out and used for the broadcasting of interesting lectures on history, English, literature, civics, economics, music, science, geology, vocational selection and innumerable other subjects.

IS OPEN TO SCHOOLS

All this is open to the school which obtains 125 orders for 13-week carrier delivery of the Sun-Telegraph.

St. Paul's Orphan Asylum is the latest to join the campaign. The boys and girls of that institution obtained 11 subscriptions yesterday afternoon and promise to be the first to obtain this much-desired radio receiving set.

The radio is an eight-tube No 58 Atwater Kent electro-dynamic set, and sells for $138.50. One hundred twenty-five new orders obtain it. Details of this campaign appear daily in the Sun-Telegraph, on the screen of the Stanley theaters, or may be obtained from a speaker who will be sent from the Sun-Telegraph on request to speak to any group of students at a suitable place outside the schools.

Co-Operation

FRANCIS C. OWEN

"Station WJAS will be glad to co-operate with the proper school authorities at all times and in every way possible in working out a comprehensive system of broadcasting," says Mr. Owen, director of the station.

LIONS GIVEN CHARTER

Dr. Haines, Pennsylvania district governor, Lions International, presenting President Shaffer, Mt. Lebanon, with a charter for the newly-organized Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon. A banquet for more than 250 Lions at Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church marked the "Charter Night."

Cal Roy's Say

NEW YORK, April 11.

There is one "joke job." I think it started with the movie magnates in Hollywood. It's when nobody really knows what your work is around an executive office. You call yourself a "contact man."

I never thought I would ever see the day when I would pick up a paper and see that Mr. Coolidge was a "contact man." Yet that's what the president of the company says he will be. I wish he had taken up some steady work, work that could have been explained clearly what he was doing.

Just think of our most industrious citizen being nothing but a "contact man." But that's what makes you a "contact man" is when nobody knows what you are supposed to do.

Yours, WILL.

Odd Record of Denver Theater

WHEN George S. Swartz, of Denver, built his home 17 years ago he incorporated a small theater seating 100 persons. The "Bungalow," as it is called, has held 800 performances, including 36 of the 37 Shakespearean plays.

Tax on Home Brew Planned

A BILL recently introduced in the Missouri Legislature seeks to impose a tax of 5 cents per pound upon all brew malt compounds. Income to the state would amount to $3,000,000 annually, it is estimated.

The BROADWAY MELODY by Jack LAIT

(From a Scenario by Edmund Goulding.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Eddie Kerns, song plugger, has written the music for "The Broadway Melody," a big revue to be produced by the famous Zanfield. For two years Eddie has been engaged to "Hank" Mahoney and now he sees his way clear to marry her. She and her younger sister, Queene, are playing in vaudeville and Eddie summons them to New York and tells them he has managed to place them in the revue. They are overjoyed, but Eddie suddenly discovers that he's lost his heart to Queenie who has developed into a startling beauty in the two years since he saw her last. He keeps his secret from "Hank" and the girls turn down a long vaudeville contract for a chance to make good in the revue. Zannie, after seeing the "Mahoney Sisters" perform, decides that he could only use Queenie. She, however, appeals to him to also give her sister a chance in the show. He consents. "Hank" believes that she put it over. During a dress rehearsal Eddie shows the sisters the big ad in the newspaper announcing their coming to Broadway. When Hank kisses Eddie, Queenie cries. Zannie gives Queenie a place in the revue. She makes an impression and the two "angels" of the revue invite her out to dine after the show. Dore, one of the show girls, tells Queenie to watch her step with Worthington Eddie questions Queenie about "Warry" and tells her to keep away from him. Ignoring Eddie's protest she goes out with Warriner. When "Hank" arrives home with Eddie she discovers Queenie in. The two "angels" are disappointed when Queenie wouldn't play their game. However, "Warry" sends the other half of the $1,000 bill to Queenie. Just as she is talking to him over the telephone, "Hank" returns and finds the torn $1,000 bill. She is worried about Queenie, who hides her sudden riches. "Warry" makes another attempt to get Queenie to go out with him. Meantime, Eddie comes in and tries to persuade Queenie to have nothing to do with "Warry." He is holding her in his arms when "Hank" comes in.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

"WE'LL have to get to a showdown with that kid," said Hank Mahoney, more regretfully than aggressively.

"Her an' me almost had one," answered Eddie. Then fearing his double entendu might have been less subtle than intended for Queenie's hearing through the fragile bedroom door, he hastily added, "She don' care nothin' for that Warriner—he's just a goodtimer an' she knows it."

"Did she tell you so?" followed up Hank eagerly.

"Not in so many words—but I'm pretty sure where she stands. Gee, Hank, Queen's sure strong for you."

"Well, she don't always act it."

"People can't always act the things they feel deepest."

"Why not? People that are on the up-an'-up ought to could. I don' make no bones about how crazy I am over her—or over you—do I?"

"You sure don't. But all disp'sitions aint alike. Queen don' say much an don' show much."

"She'll show plenty on that love boat," laughed Hank.

"An' she'll knock out many an eye."

Hank came nearer.

"I realize that, Eddie, darling," she sighed. "It looks like she's comin' right up to the top o' show business. An' it looks like I'm about washed up."

"Don't be a sappadil. 'Broadway Melody' is th' big shot o' the racket. You can't expec' to trip off o' the fam'ly time an' be a Zannie star. You ain' through—you're jus' beginnin'—"

"No, Eddie. I've got no future in that kind o' strip poker game. I ain't snappy lookin' enough. I can't drag Queenie back down with me to knock around in split-week vaud'ville. An' I know she can't carry me handcuffed to her, neither. That's what I was jus' tellin' Uncle Bernie while I was out."

"What'd he say? He's a wise old agent, an' on the level—as near on the level as any agent I ever done business with—"

"He agreed with me. He said he had a cute li'l blondie that jus' closed with a night club that he could double me up with an' give me the route he had laid out for the Mahoney Sisters. We could use the name—it means somethin' in the tanks an' with the house managers, an' takin' it off Broadway wouldn' put the flags at half mast."

"An'—is that what you're goin' to do?" asked Eddie, with a jumppy eagerness that he couldn't restrain, for he saw a solution—at least a net to break the fall. With Hank off on the road he could monopolize Queenie. Then, when it was too late to undo, they could penitently beg forgiveness—plead that they lost their heads—even throw the blame on Hank by saying she should have known better than to leave them alone while she went off trapezing the sticks against sage advice and sincere protest.

But Hank's answer made his jaw sag and his eyes go dull:

"No, I told him I'd open with 'Broadway Melody' so's they wouldn' have to break in another girl on short notice for my measly bits an' so it wouldn' come back on Queenie that her sister jumped the troupe. I'll hand in my notice as soon as the curtain drops."

"An'—an' then?"

"An' then, with Queenie set an' pointed for the top o' the world, with you planted for a run an' your numbers clickin'—I'll—well, I'll just let you take up your option."

Eddie smiled—a greenish, stagey smile it was.

"So you see, you'll split out a standard team, Eddie. When you paged us to come to the Big Burg I had a feelin' that it meant goodby to the Mahoney Sisters. Only I had it lopside-down. I was thinkin' on the train that after I married you I'd like to keep on workin' so's we could lay up some summer money, but there'd prob'ly be a scramble for Queenie the minute they got a slant at her in a revue an' some rich bird would run her dizzy an' cop her off an' she'd bust up the twosome. Now you tell me that hasn't happened. But it's me that's goin' to do a Gene Tunney—retire an' get married—an' put the trade-mark on ice."

Eddie was stumped. From the looks of this the crisis must come far sooner than he had feared. He cleared his throat.

"I—I still think that idea about tuckin' away some jack in the grouch bag ain' bad. My sal'ry in the show ain't so Jolson. An' you know nothin' on earth can fool you like song numbers — they sound great, but sometimes they sell punk. So,in case o' sickness or somethin'—"

"Oh, I can always pick up a cabaret or club-dates. Then I can stay in town—with you. Do you want me out on the Pantages time—this week a bride, next week Los Angeles?"

"H'm—well, I was thinkin' we could—that is, you know how show business is. We could both work out our season, an then—"

"I wouldn't leave Queenie," spoke Hank, decisively. "As long as she's single, exposed, just a baby—I wouldn't go on the road if they headlined me over the Orpheum tour, two weeks to a stand . . . so long as I got to stay here, you an' I might as well be one an' save expenses — Queenie can live with us. That'll be a handy hookup all around."

Eddie sat down. He crossed his legs after he had drawn up his sharply creased trousers. He drew out the handkerchief that matched his tie and wiped his brow; then his chin. He flipped it back, corner down and edges showing. He took out his solid gold-plated cigaret case, thumbed it open, took out a smoke, tapped it on the arm of the chair, snapped the case shut, replaced it, took out his enameled lighter, gave the little emery wheel a vicious twirl, lit his cigaret, put back the lighter, drew a deep lungful.

Hank had crossed to the table and was opening packages.

"Read it an' leap," she chuckled, as she held toward him the chocolate-iced top of a round cake on which was frosted in fancy scrolling—

TO OUR DARLING SISTER
HANK AND EDDIE

"I guess that's bush-league, huh?" she cackled. "Set me back the price o' three Pullmans on the Death Trail circuit that I sat in coaches to save. Care for it?"

"Great," said Eddie. "But—she ain't our sister—yet."

"Oh, I put you in on spec. I give you equal billing so you'll rate a kiss from Queenie."

Eddie looked up so sharply he almost dislocated his neck.

"But, baby—you ain' seen nothin' yet," babbled Hank. She was noisily snapping rubber bands off a small cubic thing. An Alice blue plush box came to light. Hank poked at a brassy stud. The cover sprang back. Holding the inside of the near-satin lined box toward Eddie, and juggling it, she advanced on him. He saw a chip diamond, set into a filigree of white gold to make it look as big as anything so small could look.

"My old ring—had it reset for her," whispered Hank behind her hand. "She's always been itchy for a di'mond."

She sparked it about before him. Eddie turned away his eyes. He was sick in his soul. Hank was such a grand little pal. And he was bubbling with the most cruel treason against her. Eddie's eyes veered toward the door of the room where Queenie was. His narrow chest heaved in a sigh that tore.

"There's goin' to be a little party, too, Eddie. I gave Warriner the run-around. This is strictly family stuff, insiders only. I asked Uncle Bernie over. He's good for three pairs o' opera stockin's, anyway. Bert, the banjo player we worked with all one season with a unit, is in. Lil an' Jim are bringin' the portable radio. An' Joe Gluntz, who's been makin' our tap shoes ever since we broke in our first routine, is goin' to bring some—sh-h-h—Scotch—the real McCoy, too, right off the boat—he knows a sailor—"

Eddie could stand no more. He arose and took his hat.

"Wait a minute. What's the 4-11?" she interposed. "That's only the high spots—wait'll you get the details—"

No, hon—I got to go. I'm feelin' like the last rose o' summer. It's been a tough day for me—somehow—"

"Aw—is my big man 'eepy an' groggy? Tell Hankie what's the matter."

She slid her arms about him. A creepy sensation flew all over him. He repelled her gently.

"Please—not now—mighty sweet o' you, Hank—but—I got to breeze."

"Is it—was it somethin' Queenie said to you? You been squirmin' an' changin' knees an' shimmyin' your shoulders ever since she slammed in the bedroom. I'll have to give that brat a line—"

"No. Don't. She's OK. It wasn' nothin' she said. I bawled her out about Warriner, that's all. She took it on the chin an' said he didn't mean a thing in her lif.. But I guess she's fed up on us ridin' her about him. So I wouldn' jump on her if I was you, Hank. I ask you not to."

"All right—on the eve o' her birthday—by jimminy crickets—it IS her birthday—it's after midnight—I got to run in an' kiss her an' wish her many happy returns—"

"Go ahead," agreed Eddie, the tears in his throat. "Wish her a flock o' happiness—too—for me—"

"Hey—wait. I'll get her to put on her kimona, an' she can come out here an' we can give her the present an' show her the cake an' get our kisses an'—"

Eddie shook his head violently and spoke huskily, but with a bark of top-sergeant authority:

"That's out! You—you k-kiss her for me . . . good night."

And he went.

"In his excitement he forgot to kiss me, too," she mused. "Well, it ain't my birthday!"

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl :-: Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Jr.

"My dear, I'm on the VERGE of colLAPSE at this point! I mean I'm PRACticably ready to go MAD and BITE myself because this POIGnant disCUSH I and Bull and ARab had about Bull's enGAGEment, my dear, was HONestly the most CHILDish and INfantile performance I've ever COPED with. ACtually, my dear, it left me LIMP as a SHRIMP, because Bull started BRIbing Arab to eLOPE with the poisonous female, my dear, and I THOUGHT I'd have hysTERics because the great Bozo began offering Arab all his most CHERished poSESSions, like his SAXophone and HOCKey stick and all, and THEN my dear he FInally said he'd throw in TWENty-two dollars in cash, as if THAT prodigal amount would SETtle the argument unQUEStionably—can you BEAR it, my dear? GOSH, it was SIMply EPic, no less! But, my dear, I NEARly gave up the GHOST at that point because ARab suddenly exclaimed he simply COULDn't COPE with the proposition because then EV'rybody would conceive the idea he was MARrying the gal for BULL'S MONey or something—can you BEAR it, my dear? HONestly, I think the pipsqueak is the CAREfullest person of his REP I've ever enCOUNtered, my dear, considering his QUESTionable CHARacter and all, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

Oui, Monsieur

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

Daily Short Story

JACK NORCROSS had come to New Brunswick with the intention of spending his vacation on the Restigouche with canoe and casting rod.

He had not expected to be sidetracked in a tiny fishing village on the Bay of Chaleur by a charming girl with sea blue eyes and hair like a raven's wing, who met all his overtures with a shy "Oui, Monsieur," or "Non, Monsieur," as the case might be.

Jack's French was the customary sketchy survival of the class room and he doubted if what he actually said ever got across to winsome Marie in the way he meant it. Likewise, its inadequacies kept him from much communication with the other villagers who spoke less English than he did French. Even his conversation with his landlady was largely a matter of gesture.

Now his month's vacation was drawing to a close and he had neither fished the Restigouche nor paddled on it. He had, however, won Marie's promise to make a little sight seeing expedition with him to Hopewell Cape, some miles away, where the mighty Bay of Funday tides had carved strange caves and grotesque figures out of the red sandstone shores.

He had asked Marie carefully whether "it would be that the sister of her mother," he had forgotten the French for aunt—would permit her to go with him.

Marie had shrugged her slender shoulders prettily. "But yes, certainly. For why not?"

And he made a mental note that presumably Canadian French girls had more leeway than their sisters in the old country. Anyhow, he was tickled pink that Marie could go. A day with her beside him in his roadster, her sea blue eyes turned frequently to his, her sweet mouth curved continually in amusement at his misuse of her native tongue—well, it would sure wind up his vacation with a kick. Make him forget for a few brief hours that all too soon he was going to leave her behind forever.

They set out in a blaze of sunshine along a winding gravel road that branched from the main highway and skirted the shore. Presently, they ran into fog. Great billows of it that held an icy edge and blotted out the road in front of them. It made driving perilous at anything more than a snail's pace.

As a result, although the fog finally lifted, they were delayed in reaching their destination until the tide, whose ebb uncovered the caves, was on its turbulent way in.

Neither Marie nor Jack had ever seen the caverns so that they were as two babes in the wood when they set out on their journey of exploration. They were not, however, difficult to find. Numerous other visitors had worn a trail of sorts in the least precipitous portion of the high cliff and down this they scrambled.

One cave after another lured them into weird, dripping depths. Forgetful of time and distance, they wandered from one to another, helped out in the darkest of the interiors by Jack's pocket flash light.

If there were moments when fumbling close together in the blackness, Jack felt an impulse to seize a kiss from his pretty companion, he did not yield to it. There had always been something about Marie that kept him from any attempt at a casual flirtation.

Besides, if the truth were known, he was on the verge of being genuinely in love with her. Only a realization of the vast gulf which probably separated her traditions and environment from his held him back. Even should she consent to marry him, could he possibly make her happy? What did he actually know of her?

He had also reflected, more than once, that, for all her slimness, Marie had the appearance of being singularly well able to take care of herself in any emergency. There was a supple muscled strength to her young forearm, a quickness in every movement, a promise of power held in reserve that puzzled him and which he could only ascribe to an inheritance from hardy forebears accustomed to strenuous physical toil.

Emerging from their final cave, a startling sight met their eyes.

The particular cavern in whose entrance they were standing was located in a tiny crescent of beach at the foot of the cliff whose sides were asolutely inaccessible at this point. At either end, their retreat was already cut off by the tide and, even as they watched, a wave swept to their very feet.

Swim for it? Impossible! This was no mild sea.

Not far from them stood a column of sandstone, some 12 feet in height, and evidently just exposed at high water. The action of the waves had carved it into a queer resemblance to an hour glass and removed all possibility of climbing it.

Suddenly, "Quick!" cried Marie, in as good English as Jack had ever heard although he did not think of it at the moment. "Come closer to this column and hold out your hand!"

The next instant she had placed her slender foot in his outstretched palm and leaped to his shoulders. With desperate strength she dug her fingers into the matted grass that capped the column and managed to draw herself up.

Then, lying flat on her stomach, she held down her hand to Jack. "One—two—three—" she said.

Not until the two of them had sat some minutes in silence watching the rush of water below them, did Jack turn reproachfully to Marie. "You let me think you could not speak English!"

Marie laughed. "Nonsense! You merely took it for granted I couldn't and I found it fun to let you keep on. Just as you took it for granted this is my home."

Jack's eyes widened. "Isn't it?"

"Indeed, not!" she said. "I come up here every summer to visit my aunt. Winters I am a gym teacher in a private school for girls in New York."

"That accounts—" began Jack.

"For my being able to get to your shoulder so smartly?" interrupted Marie, with a laugh.

"For something far more important!" declared Jack. "For my being able to say 'I love you' in English and having you understand what I mean. Do you, Marie?"

Marie dropped her eyes. "Oui, Monsieur," she said gently.

SPENT $1500 TRYING TO GET WELL

Then Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Relief

This startling letter from an ex-service man will interest everyone who suffers from constipation:

"I was discharged after the World War with heart trouble and bad stomach. I had saved about $1500. Since then I've spent that sum and a lot more on doctoring and operations and medicines. I always was bothered with constipation.

"I told my wife to get some kind of light breakfast food and I would try it. She came home with a small package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I ate it for breakfast, lunch and dinner, about a common tea-saucer full with milk at each meal. I have been doing this for about a month. I have stopped taking dope (medicines). I work 9 to 12 hours. I have a good appetite. And now I am gaining flesh and believe I am getting well."—George C. O'Connell, Barker, N. Y.

Cleanse your system of constipation's poisons. Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and vim, stopped constipation forever, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Relief is guaranteed. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. 100% effective—doctors recommend it. Ready-to-serve with milk or cream. Use in cooking. See the recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers. Served in leading hotels and restaurants—dining cars.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Fermented Milk as an Aid to Health

LOTS of people write to inquire about the use of buttermilk and other acid milks. They want to know if they are good for health.

DR. COPELAND

A few days ago I told about the value of such milk in overcoming the weakness and other disabilities of undernourished babies. Similar good effects may come to the adult who makes use of this food.

I used the word "food" on purpose. Too many persons regard milk merely as a beverage. This is a great mistake. Not only is it a food, but it is mankind's chief and most valuable food.

What can I say to impress this on your mind? Everybody should take milk in some form every day of the year. It carries elements of vital importance to your physical welfare. The sooner you realize this and act upon the conviction, the better for you.

But it must be admitted there are some persons who do not handle milk well. The digestive powers are low, or at least unsuited for the digesting of ordinary milk.

In such cases it may well be that some form of acid milk may meet the situation. It is on this account I am writing today.

As I have said about babies, there are human stomachs that do not manufacture sufficient acid to carry on the processes of digestion in satisfactory manner. In consequence indigestion, distress and undernourishment may result.

It is surprising how the muscles, tone and appearance of the skin improve by a change of diet. Merely adding acid to the milk may effect this improvement.

Civilization produces its disadvantages. Our soft food and predigested meals tend to weaken the teeth. Decay, abcessed roots and pussy gums are all too common. Infections take place and the effects of such infections are felt throughout the body.

One of the evil effects of infection is a lessened supply of the gastric juice. It is decreased in quantity and reduced in quality. This effect in its turn, disturbs digestion and lowers the food value of the things eaten.

Buttermilk has long been recognized as acceptable when other foods have disagreed. It is known in these modern days that the presence of the lactic acid has been responsible for the good effects.

In some countries the milk has been purposely soured. This is true in C[illegible]tal lands and in all hot c[illegible]ies. It is impossible with the conveniences they have, to keep the milk sweet. Such races have fermented the supply to make it acceptable as a food, as well as to preserve it.

In the process of fermentation the curds are broken into fine particles. In the stomach curds will form, but many times they are too large and hard to be acted upon by the gastric juice, particularly if it is low in acid content.

In the laboratory first and now in the commercial world, artificially produced buttermilk is made. By the addition of lactic acid to the Bacillus bulgaricus, the fermentation is hastened.

'WESTWARD HO!' From One Pretty Girl to Another

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

BEAUTY is like Cleopatra, with its infinite variety that never stales with custom. When the writer was a very young artist, with mightily fixed and unknowing ideas, she believed, just as she did that she would never, never marry any but a sleek, dark young man about seven feet tall and handsome enough to make one dizzy, she believed, and changed her mind about it just as she did about the masculine ideal, that "beauty was just one thing—a PRETTY girl with pink cheeks, starry eyes, a cupid-bow mouth and curly hair." It couldn't be any other thing else. No ancient woman could be beautiful. The beauty of a grandmotherly face, the beauty of a homely mutt dog, the beauty of a grubby child, the NOBILITY of beauty escaped her—passed on her blind side. And she's been discovering ever since, as every disciple of ART does, "the infinite variety," the many guises of Beauty. Prettiness itself, the small sister, imitator of Beauty, comes in enough style to suit the young men of the world. But when you pat her on the head, see that she's a decidedly nice thing to have in the world, and then pass on to the company of that older subtler sister, Beauty. Ahh-h-h-h! then, indeed, you find your charming little, pink sherbet-dessert changed into spiced and perfumed fruit pudding, with a sauce as rich as life itself! Thank the Divinity at the heart of life for variety and change. Variety in the way of living your day is good for your body, and the gift of variety of Beauty is good for the growth of the soul. Every time you actually realize the beauty of anything, anywhere, you have added an inch or two to your soul-stature and had another cup of the nectar of Joy—in Life.

Now, then, here we are to the place that I set out for when I mounted my hobby. All around the outer field and up the back lane to say that I'm due for the setting sun, leaving one type of prettiness for another, detaching myself from a long look at the Snow-girl to enjoy the vision of a sort of Show-girl. Giving the artistic sensitivity a renewing jolt from the track it's been riding in the East—simply this—I'm Westward-Ho'ing, and I'll show YOU what I see.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

A Chiffon Frock

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been invited to an informal college dance. What would be the correct thing to wear? I have a red georgette dress with long sleeves. Would this be appropriate? C. M.

I DOUBT if the dance would be so informal that a dress with sleeves would be appropriate. I recommend an informal dance frock, chiffon, say, without sleeves.

A Friendly Spirit

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Three girl friends of mine and I have been invited to another friend's home for dinner. It had been a custom of mine, on previous occasions when being invited to dinner, to take something. I made this suggestion to the other girls, but they think it is not good form. I am more than anxious to know if they are right and if I have been doing wrong.

A. M. S.

A GENEROUS-THOUGHTED friend you are, and a gracious one, to plan to take a gift with you when you go to dinner at the home of this friend. Don't be dissuaded from doing this kind thing by the words of less generous friends. To take this kind of gift is good form and good taste, and shows a good heart and spirit.

Fraternity Pins

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to wear a fraternity pin on an evening gown? I have "his" pin and of course wear it at all times. May I also wear it when dressed formally?

PUZZLED.

THERE are no rules for the wearing of fraternity pins. The only rule that one should abide by is the appropriateness of the pin, just as one should think of the appropriateness of any pin with any costume. To me a fraternity pin seems most inappropriate with formal dress, certainly with formal evening dress but probably that is only "sour grapes!"

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary's "Mysterious Stranger" Undoubtedly Was Katie

I KNEW that Katherine and Lillian were listening as attentively as I to Mary's description of the "old freak" who had so amused Prince Georges at Southampton, I was also sure that they, too, had noted the similarity between the heavy crepe veil described by Mary and the one which I had seen tumbling out of Katie's suitcase and which my little maid had so hurriedly pushed back together with the other flamboyant mourning garments which the bag had spilled. However, we carefully kept our eyes averted from each other and fixed on the young people who were laughing at the remembrance of the ludicrous figure they had seen. But while Prince Georges' mirth was whole-hearted, I fancied that Mary's was a bit forced.

"I never saw anything more amusing," Prince Georges said. "She would have put life into any moribund cinema, if she could have appeared just as we saw her. She either inherited her clothes from some remote ancester or got them from a customer. Her hat was bigger than the wheel of my car, while her coat and gown almost dragged on the ground. And the way she walked—well, just imagine a woman trying to imitate Chaplin's shuffle and not succeeding very well."

"It must have been a most amusing spectacle," I said, wondering if Katie were within eavesdropping distance.

"It was," Mary said decidedly. "Auntie Madge, may Georges stay to dinner? He's certainly earned a meal."

"Of course," I said, and turned to the young man with sincere hospitality.

"Bring your car into the yard," I urged. "There are mischievous boys in that house down the road who might think puncturing a tire was a joke."

"I am desolated," he answered, "but I cannot possibly stay tonight. You remember, Miss Mary, I told you that I had an engagement, and I must hurry, or I'll be late."

"Better break it," Mary advised saucily, but there was no real insistence in her voice, and I fancied she was relieved when Prince Georges hurried off. That she was annoyed at his inadvertent reference to her visit to the Southampton postoffice, I was sure. When she went to her room to arrange her wind-blown hair, Lillian, Katherine and I looked at each other.

"The plot thickens," Lillian commented softly with a twisted grin.

"I suppose there isn't any doubt that Katie was the postoffice mourner," I said, keeping my own voice to a murmur.

"Couldn't be two such outfits in the same county on the same day," Katherine asserted confidently. "No, Katie was on the job, all right. I wonder if she got a slant at that letter Mary mailed there? I suppose the real reason for Mary's trip was to mail that letter at Southampton. But why?"

"I fancy Katie has some dope if we only could get hold of it," Lillian said, "but of course, you can't ask her outright. It isn't done, and besides you never could live with her afterward. She'd imagine herself to be Sherlock Holmes and the rest of them rolled into one super-sleuth. But if she ventures any confidences to you, Madge, for the love of your husband's great-aunt's sister-in-law, unpin your ears and keep them wide open."

"If I only have the opportunity," I said despondently. "But I'm afraid she's mortally offended."

"If the glare she sent toward you a few minutes ago was any criterion, she isn't in exactly a happy mood," Katharine commented. "But luckily, Katie doesn't hold a grudge very long. She'll be in a talkative mood before many days have passed.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, April 12

THE sidereal operations for this day seem to hold promise of conflicting conditions. While Jupiter holds prominent position in mutual aspect with Mercury it is likely to be variable and fluctuating in its influence of good fortune, as the latter orb is under affliction. The situation is not improved by the menacing place of Neptune, which points to duplicity, especially as relates to new undertakings. Employment is fairly well aspected, and personal associations may be gratifying.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of varying fortunes, with some speculative activities showing gain. But be on guard against fraud and duplicity, especially in new ventures. Personal affairs are satisfactory.

A child born on this day may be clever, with a leaning toward taking long chances. It may lean toward expediency or conspiracy to gain its ends.

Velveeta—is cheese plus

And it is plus in everything; in flavor, in texture, in food value, in appearance and adaptability for cooking, spreading or slicing.

Velveeta represents a new idea in cheese making. We extract from the pure whole milk more Vitamins, Lactose (milk sugar), Calcium and other milk minerals in greater quantities than ever was possible by old methods, and these we add in making Velveeta. The result is purely a milk product that looks like cheese, tastes like cheese, but which because of its enhanced food value really should be called a super-cheese.

Use Velveeta wherever you would use any cheese. It spreads like butter or will slice when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends so readily with other foods that for cooking purposes there is no comparison. And however used it is as digestible as milk itself.

Get a package of Velveeta with your next grocery order. Its own creamy richness will win your immediate favor as it does all who try it.

QUICK CHANGES IN CLUB PROSPECTS

IT DOESN'T take long for the baseball fates to ruin a perfectly good pennant prospect, or to damage it to such an extent as to leave its recovery in doubt. Even less ambitious clubs than those aiming at first place, also may see their outlook marred speedily, as witness the wrecking of the Phillies' chances of getting out of the National League cellar by the death of Pitcher Frank Ulrich and the accident that has put Shortstop Tommy Thevenow out for six weeks or longer.

Al Simmons.

The future of the Dodgers is uncertain on account of the injury to Glenn Wright's throwing arm; the Cubs may yet have a serious problem on their hands by reason of the mishap to Gabby Hartnett's pegging wing; the doubt about Pie Traynor's ailing hip puts a cloud on what would otherwise be a bright pennant sky for the Pirates, and now another jolt has been dealt to the flag chances of the Athletics in the American League by a return of the rheumatic trouble that kept Al Simmons out of the lineup much of the time during the last two seasons.

THIS isn't the first time that the A's have been hit hard this spring, as they have already been deprived of the services of Pitcher Bob Grove and Shortstop Joe Boley for the first part of the season. The loss of Simmons just about completes the wreckage, for even if Grove and Boley come back within a short time the absence of Simmons' punch for several weeks will about kill any chance the Mackmen had of beating out the Yankees.

The Athletics had shaped up as possible pennant winners this year, taking it for granted that the Yanks would sag to some extent, it's just about all off now. Perhaps the Hugmen will not be as good as in recent years, but they won't fall off so much that the Athletics or any other club can afford to give them a start in the early stages of the race and then expect to beat them out. Simmons batted .351 last year and knocked in 107 runs. Only three players batted higher, and only four drove in more runs. The A's only chance to win was to be good all the way. The loss of Simmons, who missed 34 games last year through the same trouble, on top of the incapacitation of Grove and Boley and the uncertainty as to how the ancient Jack Quinn will perform, appears to have smashed them as flag prospects.

NATURALLY, Rogers Hornsby is picking the Cubs to cop the honors in the National League. He picked the Giants the same way when he was with them in 1927. This time, however, he insists that sentiment has nothing to do with it.

Rogers Hornsby.

To begin with, he rates Cuyler, Wilson and Stephenson as the best outfield in baseball. "All three can go and get fly balls, and all three are every-day ball players regardless of the type of pitching that confronts them," Rogers declares.

"THE Cubs' catchers also are the best in the game," Hornsby continues. Hartnett, when he gets back, will be the best throwing and the peppiest catcher in the game, and is a long distance hitter besides. Gonzales is the smartest catcher in baseball, and no one can criticize the hitting he has been doing this spring. Grimm is the best fielding first baseman in the game today. He may not hit the ball as hard as Bottomley, but he hits at a steady gait and he's always hustling. English is coming right along. He isn't the hitter that Jackson is, but he can throw that ball around and he gets on base a lot, which is all a lead-off man is expected to do.

"AS FOR our pitchers, we've got at least five men that can start against any club with a good chance of beating it. They were hit hard in the early practice games only because they didn't have control. But now they are able to put the ball where they want it, and just watch how they go."

Just how far Hoornsby's forecast is from being free of sentiment as he claims, may be judged from the fact that when it looked as if McMillan would be the Bruins' regular third baseman Rogers was telling what a wonder he was in all the hotel lobby sessions. But since McMillan became ill and Beck took up the job at third, Hornsby says Beck is a better fielder than Lindstrom. Perhaps it would be advisable to drop the subject here before he tells us that Charley Grimm is faster than Lloyd Waner.

AS THE billiard seasons draws to a close, some of the star cueists are showing remarkable form. Frank Taberski, pocket billiard champion, and Welker Cochran, 18.2 balkliner, were the heroes of outstanding feats recently.

Adam Comorosky.

In a pocket billiard match, Taberski completed a block of 125 balls in one inning without a miss, and in a balkline meeting with Felix Grange Cochran did the same thing in a block of 300 points.

WHATEVER it is that causes the sudden form reversals on the part of Adam Comorosky continues to be one of the prize mysteries of baseball. For a time this spring it looked as if Comorosky had found himself, and he was steaming along in the best form of his American Association days at such a rate that it looked as if no power on earth could keep him from being a regular in the Pirate outfield. But the Polish boy has not succeeded in maintaining the clip at which he was traveling. His work during the last few games in which he was used in the lineup was not so impressive as in the earlier stages of the training trip, and the difference in his playing may have hastened Manager Bush's decision to send George Grantham back to the outfield.

HOWEVER, the Buccaneer skipper has nothing to worry about as far as the outer defense is concerned. In the two Waners, Grantham and Brickell he has four picket-line performers unsurpassed in the big show for speed and all-around ability and it will not be due to any weakness in that department if the team fails to get somewhere.

In fact, the Pittsburgh outlook in all respects has brightened considerably during the last few days. The pitchers are continuing to get gratifying results, the catching is fine, Sheely has started to hit, Bartell is batting in better form than at any previous time since he became a Pirate, even bobbing up in the role of a slugger with a home run yesterday, and a gradual improvement is reported in Traynor's injured hip. Pie will be back in the game at Memphis today. No club in the country has made a more satisfactory showing on the whole during the training period this spring than the Pirates have placed to their credit, despite their frequent handicaps and unsettled conditions. No weak ball club could have made a clean sweep of five straight games from Detroit, as the Bucs did.

THE Hakoahs, winners of the National soccer championship, turned in a remarkably high goal-scoring average in the six games of

MRS. A. BAYLES — MRS. V. PETERSON

Mrs. Bayles and Mrs. Peterson won the women's doubles title in the Tri-state tournament. They are two of the best bowlers of their sex in this district and generally rank high in the tournaments. They compiled a score of 835 to lead the field.

MRS. A. GARBETT — MRS. NETTIE HOFFMAN

Mrs. Garbett, in addition to being a member of the champion five-women team, also won the all-events honors. Mrs. Hoffman won the women's singles. Casey, of Brownsville, won the men's singles and Murray Fowler, of Donora, and Culler, of Charleroi, the men's doubles.

BUNION DERBY PASSES UP WASHINGTON

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE ACROSS STATE WITH PYLE'S RACERS, April 11.—By the time you folks get around to reading this, Charley Pyle's boys and girls will have come and gone so far as Pennsylvania is concerned, and will be headed toward the great open spaces of the West, via Wheeling, W. Va. The 26-odd runners who still are trying for Cash and Carry's $60,000 in prizes by running from New York to Los Angeles, left Waynesburg this morning at 9 o'clock, bound for West Virginia. They will put on their act there today and then cross the river into Ohio Saturday, making their first stop in the Buckeye State at Cambridge.

Waynesburg, the last stop in this state (we are still in old Pennsy) gave the troupe a royal welcome yesterday, turning in good crowds to all three performances given by Charley's "Cross Country Follies," and jamming and milling about the finish line and along the course as the Seals (as we have nicknamed the runners) clippey-clopped into town.

CUT LITTLE WASHINGTON

Today's jaunt to Wheeling has been shortened a bit. Instead of going through Washington, Pa., where the Chamber of Commerce refused to put up an ante, Pyle has routed his contestants through Jacktown and then on to Moundsville.

From that point the boys will head upriver and into Wheeling. The road from Waynesburg to the state line is one of those improvee affairs, which means that it will be mud up to the boys' ankles following the heavy and consistent rains of the past three days. The distance is approximately 45 miles as the crow flies, but the Seals don't think much of crows after some of the "short cuts" they've taken on this tootsie tour.

A representative of the Sunny South hit the ball yesterday by winning the Waynesburg control point. Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., led the gang into town, running the 33 miles in 4 hours 46 minutes and 15 seconds.

Contrary to the general style of finishing in vogue with these bunioners, Simpson gave the folks a thrill and finished a la Paddock in a pretty decent burst of speed. He was 15 minutes ahead of the second place man, Troy Trimble, of Bakersfield, Cal., who was clocked at 5:01:45. Trimble pressed Simpson close for the greater part of the way, but fell behind when the pair reached Jefferson, about four miles outside Waynesburg.

Lake Placid Gets 1932 Olympic Winter Games

LAUSANNE, April 11.—(AP.)—Although Los Angeles will be the scene of most of the Olympic sports in 1932, the winter games will be held at Lake Placid, N. Y., the International Olympic Committee has decided. The California city claimed the right to hold the winter sports, offering facilities in the mountains nearby, but the committee decided the Adirondack resort was in a better condition to conduct the games.

Several other American resorts and one Canadian city, Montreal, also were candidates. Montreal was not considered because the United States had priority in the choice of a location.

AMATEUR MITT MEET FINALS TONIGHT

Last night was amateur night at the Palisades, McKeesport, 18 bouts in five weight classes being staged. Eight of them ended before the prescribed three-round limit and during the entire evening's program, hard punching and clever boxing were outstanding features. Of the eight knockouts, six were of a technical nature, while two of the entrants heard the fatal 10 tolled over them.

PRELIMS RUN OFF

The preliminaries in the 112, 118, 126, 135 and 147-pound classes were run off last night and the large turnout of fans got more than their money's worth in the way of action.

One of the best bouts of the evening was the 126-pound contest between Dave Brickley, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, and Robert Marsell, of the Homestead Community Club. For three rounds they swung at each other with everything they had and both were practically out on their feet when the final bell sounded. Brickley got the decision of both judges at the conclusion of the fight.

LORENZ VICTOR

Another good bout was the one between John Lorenz, of the Steubenville Y. M. A. and Duke Murphy of the Duke O'Hara Club, McKeesport. Lorenz won the bout on a technical kayo in three rounds, Murphy's seconds throwing in the towel after the Tube City boxer had absorbed plenty of punishment.

TRI-STATE DUX PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Prize winners in the first annual Tri-State Duckpin Classic, which came to a close last Saturday night at the Strand alleys, were announced today by H. E. (Hilly) Wertz, tournament director. The tournament was conducted under the Lewis Class System, giving all bowlers a chance to share in the winnings.

Casey.

Several new records were recorded, the most notable being the 554 total turned in by Mrs. Nettie Hoffman in the women's singles. Murray Fowlers, of Donora, and his partner, Culler, of Charleroi, broke the previous record in the men's doubles with 1,218.

The Wilhelms, of Homestead, were the high team in the Class A five-men event with 2,583 pins. This team included in its lineup Steimer, Schwartz, Rinquet, Selai and Baird.

Casey, of Brownsville, was the high man in the singles with a mark of 614, believed to be a new tournament record, while Eddie Edwards was the winner of the all-events prize with 1,627 for nine games.

In the women's competition, South Side Recreation, composed of Mesdames Alberta Garbett, O. B. Smith, Alveretta Bingham, A. Wilkinson and Bud Lucas, carried off the prize with 1,911 pins. Mrs. A. Bayles and Mrs. B. Peterson, with 834, captured the doubles prize, while Mrs. Garbett was first in the all-events with 1,318.

PIRATES WIN 18, LOSE NINE TILTS ON TOUR

Staff Correspondent.

MEMPHIS, April 11.—The barnstorming record of the Pirates is much better than it was last spring. Two-thirds of the battles with major, Class AA and Class A clubs have been copped by the Bush-whackers, their card showing 18 victories and nine defeats. Winning two out of every three is fine business.

The utility strength of the club stood out in the parade of the Bucs. Boys like Coburn Jones, Harry Riconda, Adam Comorosky and Fred Brickell came through like real performers.

RICONDA BRILLIANT

Riconda played brilliant ball on the offensive and defensive in the last with the Tigers. Harry connected for three sizzling hits and he was the starting point of a fast double play.

Earl Sheely's fielding is the talk of the ball players and the umpires, who also like to see snappy stuff.

"I've seen them all from Hal Chase down, and Sheely is my pick," said Ted McGrew, American Association umpire, who had officiated in all the games involving the Pirates. "Chase could make some plays that Earl wouldn't complete, but Sheely rips off a few that are beyond Hal," concluded McGrew.

The tall first-sacker rose to his greatness in one putout of yesterday's game. He was stretched at his full length on the ground when he nailed a wide throw from Adams in a backhanded manner.

Dick Bartell continues to connect with the ball, and his added power is a feature of his hitting. Dick's over-the-fence homer of yesterday might not have cleared the left wall in Oakland, but it would have carried to that spot.

ALEXANDER HAS POWER

Dale Alexander, one of Bucky Harris' three first-basemen, is a reminder of long George Kelly at the plate. The big rookie, however, has more power than Kelly, but he is a mile away from George as a defensive first-baseman. The other gateway tenders on the Tiger roster are Harry Heilmann and Dudley Branom. Heilmann plays the outfield when he is not a part of the first defense. He is one of the best right hand batters the game has produced.

The Tigers left for home after the finale with the Bucccs. Bucky Harris was eager to hit the Detroit trail with a victory, but the humor of the Buccos spoiled his plans. The Bengals have a few exhibition games to play at Detroit. They

Chicago Cubs Fan Orders Series Seats

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Are the Cubs already "in" as National League champions? At least one fan thinks that way to the extent of signing over a check to President W. L. Veeck for 50 tickets.

Yesterday this fan purchased 50 tickets for the Cub-Pittsburgh inaugural Tuesday and at the same time requested with a check 50 box seats for all world series games to be played in Chicago this fall.

When President Veeck recovered his breath he pushed the check away, adding that the fan really ought to wait a week or two until the result is official.

TRAYNOR SET FOR MEMPHIS OPENER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

MEMPHIS, April 11.—Only four days left in which to get ready to swap championship punches. Pie Traynor, captain of the Pirates, announced this morning he was ready to resume his third-base play, and Manager Bush, taking Pie at his word, stated Traynor would be at his post this afternoon in the first game with the Memphis club.

Pie Traynor.

The last step of their long spring training jaunt, the Freebooters came here today for four battles with the Chicks. The four contests will wind up the pretentious barnstorming schedule. The Pittsburghers leave Sunday night for the Chicago battlefield.

PIE ENTRUSED

Traynor's appearance is all in his favor. Pie indulged in two fine workouts in the heat of Shreveport, he being enthused over his improvement. The real test, however, will come when the star is called upon to make the customary plays around the bag. Running the bases also will be an ordeal for the Somerville greyhound, whose speed was retarded in a marked degree by his hip injury.

Outside of Traynor the Pittsburgh players were in excellent shape as the team reached this point. The pitchers, in particular, are ready to do their stuff under mid-summer conditions as a result of the long period of preparation.

One year ago the Buccos arrived in Memphis with their pitchers sadly out of shape and the opening game of the season in St. Louis only a few days away. Many will recall what happened in the early days of the race. Manager Bush and the players are quite convinced that the first month of the impending race will not be like the relative period of 1928. Instead of having one pitcher ready for nine inning tests, Bush now has five or six who think they can go the distance.

KEEN PLAY IN OFFING

The Pirates, however, realize they have some unusual competition booked for the first four games of the series. The Cubs are like a thundering herd, at least they have been in their springtime exploits and it will require keen resistance to keep their bats stilled. Be that

ZIVIC IN CANTON TO INAUGURATE 'COMEBACK'

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Jack Zivic is ready to go into action again after an idleness of some 10 months. He left last night, accompanied by his trainer, for Canton, O., where he meets Dick Ramies, of California, in the main bout of a boxing show in the Auditorium tomorrow night.

Jack Zivic

Jack, who now resides in Dormont, has been working several weeks for his comeback campaign. A cut eye halted him just before a scheduled bout with Sam Bruce in Buffalo, which he had to cancel. He says he is in fine condition and expects to make a good start along the return trail against Ramies, who has boxed Jackie Fields, Baby Joe Gans and other notables.

Byron Foutts, manager of Zivic, will join him in Canton tomorrow.

Phil Goldstein, Hill district lightweight, who has been rematched to box Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., over the 10-round route in Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night, left last night for New York to finish training for a 10-round bout at Albany, N. Y., next Monday night with Augie Pisano, of Brooklyn. Phil floored Jackie Brady twice in the first round of a sensational battle in Albany Monday night of last week and was beaten by Newton in the windup at Motor Square Garden last Monday night.

NEWTON AS A HITTER

I asked Goldstein what he thought of Newton as a puncher, in view of the fact that Newton dropped him twice in the second round and holds knockout victories over Terry Lingo, Battling Gizzy and others.

"I've fought probably a dozen harder hitters," Phil replied, "but Newton hits well with both hands and his left is almost as solid as his right. He gets his power from the fact that he lies back and forces his opponent to lead and then hits short as his foe gets in close. Jackie Brady is a harder hitter and there are others I might name, but Newton is plenty dangerous at all times and is great stuff for a kid just getting into the main bout class."

Newton, by the way, boxes Frankie Stellmack, of Cleveland, in a 10-round bout at Alliance, O., tonight. Stellmack recently lost to Terry Lingo in a hard-fought bout at Motor Square Garden and boxed a draw with Young Rudy, appearing as a last-minute substitute in both of these engagements. He has a snappy left hand and ability to absorb punishment. It will be interesting to note how the youthful Newton fares with this veteran.

Billy Wallace and Tommy Grogan, two of the best hitters in the lightweight class, box in Detroit tonight. Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion, and Joey Medill, of Chicago, meet in the semi-final.

FOLINS IN ACTION

Herman Folins, Ambridge featherweight, who has been on the sidelines for some time because of an injured nose, returns to the ring tonight against Ernie Rosini in Jersey City.

Walloping Myers and K. O. O'Brien, a couple of 150-pounders, box the 10-round main bout of a show at Clarksburg, W. Va., tonight. There will be two eight-round preliminaries.

With the signing of an opponent today for Stanley Simmons, Pennsylvania Railroad light-heavyweight champion, in the eight-round semi-final, Matchmaker Jules Beck will complete the card for the Motor Square Garden show next Monday night, which will feature Jack DeMave, of New York, and Ike McFowler, of Johnstown, heavyweights, in the 10-round main bout. Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, and Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, welters, will meet in the six-round preliminary, and Bob Krape, Pennsylvania Railroad middleweight champion, and Tarzan Joe Poole, of Lawrenceville, sparring partner of Jack Zivic, will box the opening bout, which will be a four-rounder.

END TRAINING TODAY

The boxers on the Moose Temple card tomorrow night will wind up their training today. It is an unusually good program from the viewpoint of promised action. Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side, and Tommy Milton, of New York, bantams, meet in the 10-round main bout; Kid Crutchfield and Charley Brodd, light-heavies, in the semi-final; Sammy Sunshine, of Annapolis, Md., and Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, lightweights, in the second battle and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, and Young Jacobs, of Canonsburg, bantams, in the opener.

Chet Smallwood, of Akron, has been signed as Al Corbett's opponent in the 10-round main bout of a show in Wellsville, O., next Monday night. Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., and Kid Ruff, of Canton, O., will box the semi-final.

Announcement was made today by the Meyers brothers, of Braddock, that they have signed Julie Beck, the Motor Square Garden matchmaker, to arrange their bouts in the big bowl which they will open in North Braddock, May 20.

PYLEMEN HEAD FOR WHEELING

Hamilton for second in the jaunt from Cumberland to Uniontown on Tuesday, ran another dead heat yesterday, finishing along with Eddie Gardner, the Seattle Negro, in a draw for third place. These two worthies finished in 5:11:30. Sam Richman, the only entrant with American Legion backing, being sponsored by a New York City post, clicked in fifth, a position lower than he made on Tuesday. He was only about two minutes behind Gavuzzi and Gardner.

Clarence Jensen, who as you have probably guessed, is a Swede, was the last of the early arrivals and turned in a time of 5:20:30.

Two runners dropped out of the competition soon after leaving Uniontown. Nels Apelquist, also a Swede, and Tom Downing, an American entrant, suffered ankle injuries and quit the race. By his fine run yesterday Simpson moved into ninth place in the elapsed standings, his time being 76:05:15 as he started off this morning.

WORK PROGRESSING ON COUNTY LINKS

SOUTH PARK'S ELEVENTH HOLE

Getting the County Parks golf courses in shape has been one of the busiest jobs with which Director Paul B. Riis has been occupied since last August. The holes at this time are laid out, tees and greens partially constructed and fairways almost ready for seeding. The picture above shows the beautiful eleventh hole as far as it has progressed. A natural lake is being built in front of the green, which will make it one of the most picturesque in the layout. The sides of the green have been sodded and the grass is coming along wonderfully well. The contour of the green also is about set. This hole is only one example of the work being done at the South Park, which is farther advanced than at the North Park by reason of its having been started about three months earlier.

COUNTY LINKS ALMOST SET FOR SEEDING

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

With a view to giving prospective players on the South and North Allegheny Park golf courses real links that will stand up under fire, as it were, Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis is proceeding with care and caution. If, by any chance, neither of the layouts is completed in time for play this year, it will only be because the Director and his associates are looking out for the future pleasure of citizens who intend to take out playing permits.

Paul Riis.

But one of the big reasons the courses are not proceeding in construction as fast as some folks are wont to believe they should, is the fact that both courses are very much different than the ordinary run of public links. A far different problem than one finds at a private course must be worked out on the county courses.

SAFETY BIG ITEM

Safety—the one big word that has stood out in capital letters in every turn of Director Riis' work—may be taken as one reason for the apparent "slowness" in construction. During the winter months hundreds of yards of dirt were transported from one part of the links to fill in others, tops of hills were removed entirely; rocky beds were blasted and taken from the grounds. All of this was made necessary to assure the golfer of not a single blind shot from the first hole to the eighteenth green.

Director Riis assured me, and City Office Manager John J. Burke further emphasized it, that had an ordinary contractor removed the dirt, it would have taken much longer and been almost prohibitively expensive. The fact that county laborers are assisting in the work, with county machinery and other facilities, has greatly reduced the cost of construction in this respect, and at the same time expedited construction.

John J. Burke.

I took a walk over the South Park links the other day to see how much progress had been made in the last four months. And there has been aplenty of that. The course is ready; traps have been properly placed, tees, greens and fairways properly landscaped—water hazards constructed or improved upon.

The first hole is the only one not entirely ready for seed. And Director Riis must await action of the courts to settle upon condemned property before he can go ahead with the tee and first couple of hundred yards of its fairway.

"I believe we are going to have an adverse spring, in spite of the lovely weather recently," Director Riis told me, "and I do not care to seed the course too early. I can stipulate that the course will be seeded by June 15. I think that May will be a very dry month—but, of course, we cannot depend upon guessing at weather conditions."

The County Commissioners only recently voted on providing water for the course—but Riis is not letting that worry him. The water mains will be set in the near future.

OPEN NEXT YEAR

It is very doubtful as to whether either course will be opened at all this year. The South Park would come first if either should make such rapid progress. But golfers should not expect it, for, as I said before, the Director does not believe in rushing the work, but rather to work at it steadily and eventually complete the job right, so that it will stand out as a monument among public links of the country. Both should be open next year without doubt.

Twenty-four new men were put to work on the layout recently, to keep up that steady progress. Golfers may rest assured they will have a most satisfactory layout when it is finished, and should be patient enough to wait for it to be finished right.

Former U. S. G. A. Public Links Executive Committeeman John J. Burke, city office manager of the parks, is loud in his praise of the courses. I stopped him from his busy work for a moment to get an "up-to-date" opinion.

"Both of the courses will be of championship caliber," said Burke, "and the County Parks organization is doing everything it can to make them perfect for the taxpayers. I see no reason why they shouldn't be the best in the land when they are completed."

Pirate Batboy Refuses to Be Ousted

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—A raggedy urchin accosted Manager Donie Bush in the lobby of the Peabody Hotel this morning.

The spacious floor, with its artistic decorations, has been given over to a fine display of automobiles, flowers being shown in profusion on the pretty cars. Bush and the Pirates were enjoying the scene when the youngster approached Bush with a request.

"Can I be your batboy this afternoon?" he asked Donie.

"I'd like to do it, son," replied Bush, "but I just promised the job to a couple of other boys."

"Well, I was your batboy last year and you told me to be around this year," exclaimed the disappointed lad.

"Oh, did I?" laughed Donie—"if that's the case, then, you be around and we'll fix it up."

Lorenz also felt the sting of Murphy's gloves during the length of the bout, but managed to keep his feet.

The preliminaries in the 160, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes as well as the semi-final and final rounds in all divisions will be conducted tonight.

The summary:

112-pound class—Jimmy Liges, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Matt Gallagher, Hazelwood A. C.; Miles Janick, Wilmerding Y, defeated Charles Casporovic, Third Ward A. C., McKeesport.

118-pound class—Willie O'Paterney, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Jim Conley, Pittsburgh Lyceum; Frank O'Dash, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated George Soltis, Third Ward A. C.; John Conrad, Third Ward A. C., knocked out Steve Maker, Duke O'Hara Club (one round).

126-pound class—Herman Kalkbrenner, Matador A. C., won over Anthony Salvatore, Duke O'Hara Club, technical knockout (two rounds); Alexander Borek, Wilmerding Y, defeated James Graham, Matador A. C.; Dave Brickley, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Robert Marsell, Homestead Community Club.

135-pound class—Tod Murphy, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Isaac Davis, McKeesport A. C.; Windsor Davis, Duke O'Hara Club, won over Johnny Hooper, McKeesport A. C., (technical knockout, one round); Ed Goller, Hazelwood A. C., defeated Bill Keller, McKeesport A. C.; Howard Morgan, McKeesport A. C., defeated Donald Hiva, Third Ward A. C. (technical knockout, one round).

147-pound class—Anson Green, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Robert Hornick, Wilmerding Y (technical knockout, two rounds); Tod Murphy, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Jimmy Bell, Duquesne A. C., (technical knockout, one round); Dave Davis, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Frank Kirasic, Duquesne A. C.; John Lorenz, Steubenville Y. M. C. A., defeated Duke Murphy, Duke O'Hara Club (technical knockout, three rounds); Tiger Joe Hughes, Duquesne, knocked out Idol Midget, Homestead Community (three rounds); Lawrence Signs, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Richard Green, Homestead Community.

Checker Champion Here Tomorrow

Newell Banks, world checker champion, is to meet local players in exhibition matches at the Pittsburgh Chess Club tomorrow evening.

Banks has accepted a challenge to meet Robert Stewart for the title in Detroit in December. They will play 40 games for the crown and a purse of $3,000.

The champion plans to make an attack on the blindfold play record at an early date. He will attempt to play 30 games simultaneously. Jack Dempsey, Banks says, may promote the exhibition event.

U. S. RYDER CUP TEAM DEPARTS FOR ENGLAND

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—With marked enthusiasm even in the face of a drizzling rain falling on their ship, the Ryder Cup golf team yesterday sailed away for England to defend the international professional team championship.

All the 10 players making up the United States team left home with high hopes of victory over George Duncan's British outfit, "after a battle."

Walter Hagen, captain of the home bred pros of the United States, declared none of the players was over-confident, but certainly there was no lack of confidence as the Mauretania steamed away. In addition to Hagen, the team was made up of Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, Al Watrous, Al Espinosa, Ed Dudley, Joe Turnesa and John Golden.

Many golfers, including a number of pros, were on hand to speed the Rider Cup defenders on their way. Few of them knew that just before he boarded the liner, Johnny Farrell was served with a summons in a $25,000 personal damage suit, in which the plaintiff was named as Henrietta Miller. Her attorney said later that the suit was the result of an automobile accident, the details of which he was unable to furnish offhand. The suit probably will be filed today, he said.

BUCS HAVE FINE RECORD

will open the season Tuesday in Cleveland.

The golfers in the Pirate party left Shreveport with regrets. The welcome mat was out at the Broadmoor Country Club, a beautiful course laid out a few years ago by Charley Manning, professional at the Shannopin Country Club. Among the local members is Charley Laskey, who was "brought up" with Donie Bush and Ted McGrew, in Indianapolis. Laskey is one of the most prominent of the gas and oil men of this section, but with the Pirates in town he walked out on a few conventions, as it were, to partake of golf.

Manager Bush may use a switch plan in his cleanup notch of the Pirate batting order. He had decided to put Pie Traynor in the fourth position, but he now favors an idea that would have Grantham as the cleanup swinger while right-handers work against the Buccos. Traynor would change positions with Boots when lefthanders operate.

Owner Barney Dreyfuss profited by the good days in Shreveport. His throat trouble is much improved and he will continue to Chicago with the club, according to present plans. Willie Hinchman still is the business manager pro tem.

as it may, the Freebooters appear to be ready for any emergency.

Our boys took a farewell sock at those staggering Tigers before leaving Shreveport last night. Jess Petty didn't look so good on the mound for the Buccos, but Jess' mates discounted the thumping he received by hammering out runs in double figures for the second day in succession. The final score was 10 to 6.

BARTELL SPILLS FIREWORKS

Dick Bartell whacked a three-run homer over the same fence in the seventh to put the game on the ice for the Bushwhackers. The Pirates entered this round with a one-run deficit, but they rushed across five tallies before they could be retired.

Petty worked seven rounds against the Tigers, Joe Dawson finishing in good order. Vic Sorrell started for the Bengals, but he didn't do well. Hoot Gibson was the second Detroit hurler and he was less effective than his clubmate, Phil Page, late of State College, finished the game for the American Leaguers. Phil is a promising southpaw.

The Buccos made a clean sweep of the five-game series with the Tigers.

BRITISH RYDER STARS LOSE

LONDON, April 11.—(AP.)—Three of the British Ryder Cup players who qualified for the Roehampton tournament were eliminated in the first round of match play. Ted Ray defeated Abe Mitchell, 5 and 4; J. G. Sherlock won from Fred Robson, 1 up, and Tom Renouf downed R. A. Whitcombe, 2 and 1.

Archie Compston won from Bert Hodson, who led the qualifiers, 2 up. Compston pulled the match out after being 4 down.

Henry Cotton defeated Charles Johns, 1 up; C. A. Whitcombe took Alex Herd into camp 3 and 2, and C. Gray won from H. C. Finch on the twenty-first hole.

BUTCH BEATEN IN NATIONAL MITT FINAL

BOSTON, April 11.—(AP.)—New England today had half of the eight national amateur boxing champions of 1928 within her borders and the others were well scattered about the country, Grand Rapids, Mich., providing two, and Buffalo and Los Angeles one each.

Mose Butch, the last of the Pittsburgh survivors, fought his way through to the final round in the bantamweight class, only to lose there to Albion Holden, of Providence, R. I. Butch won over Frankie Wallace, of Cincinnati, while Holden defeated Vitto Mazzeo, of Cincinnati, a finalist last year and the favorite to win the division, in the semi-finals.

Steve Halaiko, of Buffalo, won the 135-pound crown for the second consecutive time.

The other seven title winners, with possibly one exception, probably would have returned home defeated this year if the 1928 champions, most of whom fought for the American Olympic team at Amsterdam, had been able to disregard the purse-stirring call of the professional ring.

COAST WINNER IS STAR

The possible exception was Martin Zuniga, of Los Angeles, who won the 126-pound title. This youth, a clever two-fisted battler, gained the final round in the 1928 tournament, which served as the Olympic tryouts, but drew the wrong end of a decision.

The Grand Rapids champions, James Kerr, the 112-pound winner, and Martin Levandowski, victor in the 175-pound climax, have performed in at least two previous tournaments, in which they were eliminated in the trials.

In the New England delegation of title holders are Albion Holden, of Providence R. I., final winner in the 118 pound division; Leslie Baker, of Boston, the 147-pound winner, who showed but little of the real skill of Tommy Lown, of New York, the previous champion; Ray Lopez, of Boston, who gained his 160-pound crown as the result of an unintentional foul, and Elmer Howard, of New Haven, Conn., who won the right to sit on the heavyweight throne which George Hoffman, of New York, vacated when he turned professional on the eve of the Olympic boxing teams's departure for Holland.

Howard was forced to box under the colors of a Philadelphia club, of which he holds an A. A. U. card, because the athletic authorities of his home state refuse to classify boxers as amateurs.

ONLY TWO UPSETS

During the tournament, in which 95 bouts were run off in exactly 16 hours, there were but two upsets. Both occurred last night in the finals, one when Vitto Mazzeo, of Cincinnati, defeated by Johnny Daley, of Boston in last year's 118-pound final, was declared to be the loser in his semi-final clash with Holden, the new champion. The other occurred when Ray Tramble, of Rockford, Ill., the last of the 160-pound class, was disqualified for accidentally striking Lopez a low blow in the final.

Tramble, who acquired most of his skill sparring with his townsman, Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, appeared on the verge of winning the title with a knockout when the officials ruled him out of the tournament.

All the other final bouts required the full three rounds, but three of the 16 semi-final contests were shortened by knockouts.

PITT ENTERS 11 STARS IN PENN RELAYS

The University of Pittsburgh has entered athletes in 11 events of the thirty-fifth annual University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival, which will be held on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, April 26 and 27.

Vic Pickard.

For years Pitt has entered its teams in the annual carnival, but this is the first time that such a complete list of entrants has been sent in for the Panthers. Fifteen men will represent Pitt on both days.

Victor Pickard, member of the Canadian Olympic team last summer, is perhaps the best known of the Panthers. His most remarkable effort since starting his career at Pitt occurred during the past season indoors, when he cleared the cross bar at 13 feet 10 inches in the New York A. C. Games.

PICKARD DEFENDS TITLE

In 1927 Pickard tied Bradley, of Princeton, for first place in the relay carnival, each clearing the bar at 12 feet 10½ inches. In the I. C. A. A. A. A. championships at Cambridge last year, the Canadian vaulter finished in a tie for third place and in the Olympic games he finished fourth.

Pickard will find plenty of competition in his favorite event, with Sturdy, Carr's successor at Yale, vaulting better than ever and with Barney Berlinger, of Pennsylvania, who did 13 feet 4 inches, in the indoor intercollegiates. The Carnival record of 13 feet made last year by Sabin Carr, is almost certain to fall by the wayside with such an excellent trio of vaulters.

GWINN TOSSES WEIGHT

Another intercollegiate point winner will represent Pitt in the person of Gwinn, the hammer thrower, who finished third to Wright, of Cornell, in the championships last spring. Gwinn has tossed the hammer 163 feet 5 inches.

Utterbach will compete in the decathlon and hop, step and jump on Friday and the running broad jump and the high jump on Saturday. McCullough and Bowan will run in the 100, while Bowen will compete in the 400-meters hurdles. Relay teams will run in the sprint medley, the 880-yard shuttle hurdle and in the two-mile.

W. PENN LOOP SET TO OPEN

By TOM BIRKS.

With the posting of forfeits and the drawing up of the schedule, the West Penn Amateur Baseball League practically finished all of its preliminary business at the meeting at Universal last evening.

The managers selected West Penn umpires to handle all games after both the Pittsburgh and West Penn Associations had addressed the meeting. Two teams were voted out when the managers present took exception to the playing fields of the teams. Of course, should the clubs find more suitable playing fields, this decision should be reconsidered.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at Universal at 7:30 p. m. At this session managers will be given a copy of the rules, and also a copy of the schedule.

BANQUET TONIGHT

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., April 10.—The members of the Wear-Ever Bowling League will hold their annual banquet this evening in the auditorium of the Wear-Ever building. A dance will follow. The league consists of 144 rollers, men and women employes of the Wear-Ever Aluminum Company.

HELD, HOMANS BEATEN AT PINEHURST

PINEHURST, N. C., April 11.—(AP.)—Upsets were in order in the North and South amateur golf tournament yesterday and three of the favored failed to survive the first round of match play.

Eddie Held, of New York, former public links champion, was defeated in an extra-hole match by B. P. Merriman, of Waterbury, Conn., a former North and South champion, on the nineteenth green.

SOMERVILLE VICTIM

Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., Princeton star, lost to Richard Wilson, of Pinehurst and Georgetown University, after a match that took 21 holes to decide.

C. Ross Somerville, Canadian champion, was the victim of a scintillating spurt on the part of John D. Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn. Chapman came home in 34, to round out a 70, two strokes under par, and won by 2 up.

The defending champion, George Voigt, won his match by a more comfortable margin, defeating R. H. Swoope, of Philadelphia, 3 and 2.

FOWNES ADVANCES

John Dawson, of Chicago, the medalist, defeated R. S. Tailor, of Freeport, R. I., 4 and 3, and W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, eliminated Norfleet P. Ray, of Toledo, O., 2 and 1.

Phillips Finlay, hard-hitting sophomore from Harvard, came through by a hair's breadth after J. S. Knight, of Akron, had carried him to the eighteenth green.

C. S. Eaton, of Winchester, Mass., won his place as the eighth member of the quarter finals crew with a 2-and-1 victory over E. D. Thompson, of Rothesay, N. B.

HARRIS AFTER KOENIG

DETROIT, April 11.—(AP.)—The Detroit Tigers are in the market for a shortstop, one who can step into the lineup in Cleveland Tuesday and not leave Buck Harris feeling as though he were conducting a doubtful experiment.

Harris revealed yesterday in Shreveport, La., that he definitely has decided Heinie Schuble will not do in the short position and that Gehringer is a second baseman exclusively. Nolen Richardson, while superior to Schuble, has developed a propensity to fumble at critical moments.

Rumors were heard here that Frank Navin, the Tiger president, is negotiating with the Yankees for Mark Koenig and with the White Sox for Bill Hunnefield. Either would prove a life saver to Harris and the Bengal infield.

Taberski, Greenleaf Split Tilts Again

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y., world pocket billiard champion, and Ralph Greenleaf broke even yesterday for the third time in their 12-block pocket billiard match.

Taberski won the afternoon block, 125 to 78, in 10 innings. He had a high run of 41, against Greenleaf's 24. Last night the former champion reversed the decision, winning, 125 to 53, in 11 innings. His best run was 52, Taberski's, 23.

The match is to be decided on a total-point basis only if each wins six of the 12 blocks. At the halfway mark the point totals are: Greenleaf, 593; Taberski, 562.

Mike O'Dowd Wins Over Johnny Datto

TOLEDO, April 11.—Mike O'Dowd, clever Columbus boxer, won the decision over Johnny Datto, Cleveland flash, in their 10-round bout here last night to decide the featherweight championship of Ohio.

Datto knocked O'Dowd down for the count of nine near the close of the second round with three terrific rights to the jaw. In so doing he injured his hand, and O'Dowd, from the third round on, bored in and gave Datto a severe lacing in in-fighting, taking all the remaining rounds.

the title tournament, making 22 themselves and holding their opponents to only three.

In the final series of two games against the Madisons, the Hakoahs were not scored on, winning by 2 to 0 and 3 to 0. And their own five goals in that title round were scored by as many different men—Eisenhoffer, Wortmann, Schwarcz, Gruenwald and Haeusler.

E. R. Bradley.

THE opinion appears to be gaining strength that Blue Larkspur will have the best chance to win the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs on May 18. The odds against him in the betting quotations have been reduced to 5 to 1. If Blue Larkspur wins, it will be the third Kentucky Derby victory for his owner, E. R. Bradley, who captured the big turf honor in 1921 with Behave Yourself and in 1926 with Bubbling Over. The latter colt made the mile and a quarter in 2 minutes 3 4-5 seconds, the second fastest time ever hung up for the Churchill Downs course and only two-fifths of a second slower than the record for the Derby, established in 1914 by Old Rosebud. Bradley rates Blue Larkspur the best colt he ever bred except Bubbling Over.

AN OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE of how HUGE SALES INCREASE VALUE

WE BOUGHT 10 cent cigars in many localities and submitted them to unbiased tobacco experts. Dozens proved to be made of no better tobacco than White Owl, yet White Owl sells at only 3 for 20c ... WHY?

WHITE OWL is literally bought by the billion ... So we can afford to take less profit, put the money into Extra Value, and reap greater reward in the long run ... Thousands of former 10 cent smokers prove this daily ... They save one-third on White Owls and, in addition, get fine, mild, sweet-tasting cigars, foil-wrapped to hold all the satisfying flavor.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Bought Quietly — Local Stock Quotations

QUIET BUYING UP OF STOCKS CONTINUES

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Quiet accumulation of stocks continued today in anticipation of a substantial decrease in Federal Reserve brokers' loans and a gradual easing of credit conditions. Some new soft spots were uncovered by "bear" traders and this had a tendency to restrict bullish operations on the theory that the further development of such "air pockets" would have an unsettling effect on the general list.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent, but the supply of funds was ample, and loans were arranged as low as 8 per cent in the "outside market." There was no change in time money. Wall street expects that the peak of the spring commercial demands will be passed in a week or so and then money rates will work lower, barring a resumption of wild speculation for the advance.

CONDITIONS FAVORABLE

Business conditions, judged by the character of the most recent earnings reports, continue favorable. The Atlantic Refining Company announced an increase in gasoline prices in its territory today, and similar advances are expected in other sections as gasoline consumption enters the period of seasonal expansion. Oil shares failed to follow up their early advance, due to belated liquidation on the rally by speculators who brought those stocks heavily a few weeks ago in expectation that the nation-wide oil conservation program would meet with federal government approval.

Non-ferrous metal shares also received good support on the theory that the recent liquidation in that group had fully discounted the prospective downward readjustment of red metal prices. St. Joseph Lead, Anaconda Copper, Green Cananea, Kennecott Copper, Andes, Cerro de Pasco and International Nickel all advanced 2 to 3½ points.

American Can, Yellow Truck, Sweets Company of America and Stromburg Carburetor moved into new high ground for the year. American Radiator soared 12½ points and National Dairy Products, General Electric and Commercial Solvents sold 5 points higher.

CHRYSLER DROPS

Chrysler dropped to within a small fraction of the year's low on reports of liquidation by banking interests which are reported to have recently taken over the holdings of a large operator. Schulte Retail Stores also sold at the year's low price on fears for the safety of the dividend.

Revival of activity and strength in the public utility shares was one of the features of the day's market. Except for the excellent earnings statements being reported by the leading companies, there was nothing in the day's news to explain the sudden uprush in these issues, American and Foreign Power ran up 8 points and the second preferred 4¾. Gains of 2 to 3½ points were recorded by at least a dozen others, including Public Service of New Jersey, National Power and Light, Standard Gas and Electric, Electric Power and Light, American Waterworks, Consolidated Gas and Louisville Gas and Electric. International Telephone, which broke nearly 6 points in the early trading, recovered its loss and moved up more than 2 points above last night's close.

Lee Named to Rea's N. & W. Board Place

ROANOKE, Va., April 11.—(AP.)—Elisha Lee, of Philadelphia, was elected to the board of directors of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company at the annual and special meeting of the stockholders here today.

Mr. Lee replaces Samuel Rea, who died last May, as a member of the board. The remaining directors were re-elected.

The stockholders authorized the board to acquire the railroad, property and franchises of the Big Sandy and Cumberland Railroad Company, the entire capital stock of which was purchased by the Norfolk and Western on October 12, 1923.

The organization meeting of the board of directors will be held in Philadelphia on Monday, April 22.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 11.—An early decline in cotton today was attributed to a more favorable weather map, relatively easy Liverpool cables and rather smaller private figures on domestic consumption for March than anticipated by buyers. Offerings were comparatively small, however, and there was moderate rallying on covering with the mid-afternoon market quiet at net declines of about 5 to 7 points.

Futures closed very steady, unchanged to 5 points higher: May, 20.51@20.52c; July, 19.91@19.92c; October, 19.52@19.54c; December, 19.92@19.93. January, 19.93@19.94c. Spot quiet; middling, 20.65c.

A private report estimating domestic consumption for March at 626,000 bales, compared with 598,098 for February, appeared to be somewhat under expectations and might have figured in the early decline, but the volume of offerings tapered off somewhat around 19.77 for July, and prices showed rallies of a few points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said there had been London and local selling in Liverpool on the better weather from the South, and that the turnover in cloth and yarn was unimportant, with stocks accumulating.

Trading was quieter later in the morning. Prices ruled fairly steady as offerings were light after the early selling had run its course. At midday July was ruling around 19.86c and December 19.85c, or about 2 to 5 points lower.

Mania for Corner Stores Cools—Chain Changes Loom.

By B. C. FORBES

DO you find yourself more inclined to buy in a store located on a corner than in another part of the block?

I, for one, have no such weakness.

Chain stores which have a fetish for corners are beginning to question the wisdom of paying the very high rents asked for them.

THE head of a leading chain store enterprise announces that in the future they are to choose non-corner stores, because he has reached the conclusion that the people who get the most benefit from the mania for corner locations are the owners of the buildings. As ably-managed chains usually look before they leap, making a thorough investigation before venturing on a new move, it is to be assumed that this changed policy has been decided upon only after making com. rehensive tests.

The likelihood is that this example will be followed by other chain store owners.

CURIOUSLY, I was talking with the banker for half-a-dozen important chain organizations the day before this announcement came. And he was telling me that something would have to be done to meet the rising rentals for corner stores.

"There are now so many chains," he said, "that competition for corners in every attractive locality is becoming ruinous. As I see it, economic pressure will bring a change. I believe that part of the solution will be found in mergers.

"The day is coming, if it is not already here, when it will be impossible for new chains to spring up, pay the extortionate rents now asked for corners, and make satisfactory net profits. So, instead of constant creation of new chains, I look for important consolidations.

"As a matter of facts, the principal profits of certain chains have come not from their merchandise sales but from their lease-holds. It is well known that one very prominent chain has made far more on its leases and properties than on its regular business. This is not a fundamentally healthy economic condition because it does not have in it the elements of permanent success-building."

THERE seems to be two probabilities:

First, there will be far-reaching chain mergers.

Second, other than corner locations will be selected.

INDEED, very important merger negotiations are at this moment under way. Some smaller concerns are open for offers. Several rather extensive chains, each with a successful record, are likely to be brought together in the East. And similar movements are known to be in progress farther afield.

IT doubtless was wise to choose corners during the early days of chains. What has occurred since then recalls one of Charles M. Schwab's favorite stories. When in Europe during the World War, Schwab saw a fellow wearing an extraordinary number of decorations and, curious, asked him how he had been able to win so many distinctions.

"You see this very large one? Well, I was given it by mistake, and I got all the others because I had it."

Choosing corners originally was no mistake, but blindly following the lead since, causing rents to rise exhorbitantly, apparently is being found a mistaken policy. Even a good idea can be done to death. The premium now set on corners is proving an illustration. I find among my friends that they never give a thought as to whether a store is on a corner or not, but that they are attracted as customers by other reasons. One thing almost certain is that the great majority of people would rather pay a lower price in the middle of the block than a higher price for the same goods and service at the end of the block.

A LITTLE incident throwing light on the modern solicitous attitude of chain store heads towards local communities occurred while I was in Omaha and Kansas City last month. Some dissatisfaction had arisen among local merchants over the Saturday hours of certain chain stores. General Lord, Julius Rosenwald's righthand man in the running of Sears-Roebuck, arrived on the scene, sounded local sentiment and promptly announced that Sears-Roebuck would act in entire harmony with the desires of local merchants. His friendly announcement naturally made a hit. Farsighted chain store managements are realizing more and more the advisability of winning good will rather than ill will in the communities where they operate.

YES, we are on the eve of interesting developments in chain store merchandising.

NEW YORK, April 11.—(INS.)—Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $1,377,000,000; balances, $126,000,000; Federal Reserve Bank's credit balance, $112,000,000.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The curb market displayed a better tone today, as bulls staged a vigorous upturn in the utilities. Sentiment grew more confident as money became easier toward midday and was available in the "outside market" at 8 per cent, after an official renewal rate of 9.

Fears of an increase in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate vanished with the sailing of Gov. Young, of the Reserve Board, for the Pacific Coast. Wall street expects a substantial decline in brokers' loans as result of the steady liquidation of late.

The upswing in the utilities was accompanied by a similar movement on the "big board." Electric Bond and Share, Electric Investors, and American and Foreign Power (new) rose about 6 points each during the forenoon, while United Gas Improvement and Southeastern Power were strong. Eastern States Power B jumped ahead about 5 points, only to react later.

The Ford issues again fluctuated widely. Ford of Canada B rose more than 4 points to 110, only to turn reactionary. The old stock dropped 35 points to 1075. Checker Cab was in demand for a time, but turned heavy toward midday. American Rolling Mills and Arcturus Tube were strong points. Goldman Sachs was a soft spot, losing 2 points by early afternoon.

Oils were active, but moved in narrow ranges. Continental sold at 25, reflecting little interest from the prospective merger with Marland. Imperial, Humble and Vacuum were in demand at somewhat higher levels. Newmont led the mines with a jump of nearly 7 points to 200.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

PROFITS AHEAD FOR SUPERIOR STEEL

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

The interests which have obtained control of the Superior Steel Corporation are working in close harmony with the present management because of its success in developing two new products which promise to increase earnings greatly. No change in officials is contemplated and the company will not be involved in any mergers, it was learned yesterday.

The leaders in the group which increased its holdings to more than 50 per cent interest by open market purchases within the last few weeks place the utmost confidence in Frank R. Frost, the president; J. H. Hammond, the chairman; J. S. Hammond, the vice president, and other officers who have made excellent progress in improving the company's position.

The attitude of the new controlling interests is understood to be that they have every reason for wishing to retain the management, which is taking the company out of a highly competitive branch of the steel business and placing it in a non-competitive position where a very attractive margin of profit is being obtained.

This change has been brought about through the fact that Superior Steel has the exclusive rights for the conversion of both rustless iron and copperweld steel into strips, which products have only recently been introduced to the trade.

The earnings from the rolling of these new products were not reflected in the first quarter's profits but the second and third quarters of this year will show the advantages of the new contracts which Superior has obtained. Even without the aid of these additional sources of revenue, the statement for the first quarter will be highly satisfactory.

With Superior entering new fields the possibilities of a consolidation with some other organization do not appear particularly attractive to the dominant factors in the company's management at present. Rustless iron products have been adopted by General Motors and other leading automobile producers and copperweld strips are being used by the Radio Corporation and others, so that the prospects for the organization from its own resources are considered exceptionally bright.

Members of the group, who early this week announced that control had passed to their hands, have been big stockholders in Superior for a long time. Large blocks of the stock are held by their associates in Pittston, Pa., Binghamton, N. Y. and in New York City. Prior to their recent purchases of the stock, recognition was given to this group by the placing of George S. Buss, of Pittston, on the board of directors at the annual meeting on March 18.

Reflecting the improved earnings prospects, the stock recently attained a new high record in spite of the fact that the general list has been showing uncertain tendencies due to the credit situation.

Although the stock is not a dividend payer at present, it is selling below other steel units based on estimated earnings of between $8 and $10 a share for the present year. In many respects it is comparable to A. M. Byers which, although it is not on a dividend basis, and is not now showing earnings in line with its price, is reflecting the future of a new product.

In the case of Byers, however, millions of dollars had to be spent for new plants, equipment and research, whereas Superior's development work has been completed and no futher expenditures are necessary. There appears to be little doubt that Superior will shortly take its place among the leaders in the steel group.

COLUMBIA GAS & ELECTRIC CORPORATION

April 5, 1929.

The Board of Directors has declared this day the following quarterly dividends:

Cumulative 6% Preferred Stock Series A
No. 10, $1.50 per share

New Common Stock (no par value)
No. 10, 50¢ per share

Both dividends are payable on May 15, 1929, to shareholders of record at the close of business April 20, 1929.

Holders of certificates for old Common Stock, still outstanding at the record date, will receive the equivalent dividend but only after such certificates have been surrendered for exchange. Any scrip certificates for half shares, outstanding at the record date or issued in later exchanges, carry the proportionate share of such dividend until surrendered for exchange into new shares in accordance with their terms.

RESERVE BOARD SPLIT ON RATE FOR LOANS

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The long and dramatic fight to restrict Wall street's use of billions of dollars of bank credit for stock speculation has split the Federal Reserve Board, it has just been revealed.

The majority of the board is satisfied with the progress it believes is being made in restricting speculative credit and opposes any new and more drastic measures at this time.

Although it is continuing the pressure on Federal Reserve member banks to restrict speculative loans, it is content with quiet stock markets, with a minimum of interference from the board.

MINORITY FOR ADVANCE

A minority, it was learned on high authority, favors a drastic advance in rediscount rates. At least one member is known to desire an immediate raise, and others are understood to take the same view. They want the total of brokers' loans scaled down substantially.

Both groups are optimistic about business, present and prospective. Their differences center largely upon the effect on business of moving up rediscount rates and thus compelling member banks to pay more for part of the funds they lend to the business man, the manufacturer and the farmer, as well as the speculator.

The majority contends that higher rates probably will have slight effect upon the stock market but will slow down business. They think everything should be done to avoid even the chance of this. Gov. Roy A. Young is understood to side with this group, at least insofar as the effect of rate increases on business is concerned.

MELLON AGREES

Secretary Mellon although he has made no public comment in recent weeks, is reputed to have the same view.

By the minority group it is argued that business is brisk and in the absence of commodity inflation, high rates, maintained for a short time, would not injure business. Decisive action would correct the credit quickly, end the suspense engendered by the long drawn out Federal Reserve-Wall Street conflict, and in a short time ease money to speed up business still more, it is contended.

There is known to be sentiment in the minority for advancing rates to 6, 7 or even 8 per cent, if necessary, to reduce the total of speculative credit and cut off the possibility of its increasing greatly later in turbulent "bull" markets.

FOREIGN GOLD FEARED

In the majority group, however, the view is understood to be that the market's demands for credit have been more or less permanently moderated and that the bank cooperation now being given is adequate to control the situation.

Some fear also is felt that raising rates would attract gold from abroad, which the board as a whole does not want. Dissenters say the rediscount rate would have little effect as to gold.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

There was a fair demand today for all lines of fruit and vegetables at the wholesale produce district in Pittsburgh. There was no change in the quotations.

The poultry market was easy, demand fair, supplies nominal and prices remaining the same.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were steady, demand fair and quotations standing as before.

Cariot supplies were light with a total of 310 cars on track. Arrivals included 6 cars of apples, 8 cabbage, 7 grapefruit, 4 lettuce, 4 onions, 8 oranges, 1 bean, 1 beet, 2 carrots, 1 cauliflower, 3 sweet potatoes, 5 tomatoes, 1 pea, 1 asparagus, 53 potatoes and 3 cucumbers.

Williams Company Disposes of Fleet

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The fleet and business of the Williams Steamship Company has passed to the control of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, it was announced yesterday. George T. Williams, president of the Williams Company, said negotiations had been completed for a transfer of the property to the Williams Line, Inc., which was recently formed under the laws of Delaware, and which is controlled by the American-Hawaiian Company.

The Williams Company has been operating eight ships in intercoastal trade. Mr. Williams said that no immediate change in operation is expected. The American-Hawaiian Company operates 22 ships in intercoastal trade, and is half owner of the Oceanic and Oriental Navigation Company, operating 21 ships between the United States, Australia, China and the Philippines.

Upholding of Stock Tax Law Indicated

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court indicated yesterday it would sustain the constitutionality of the New York law imposing a tax of 6 cents per share on all stock without par value issued by foreign corporations doing business in the state. The law had been held invalid by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The indication came when the highest court stopped counsel for the state in their appeal from a decision holding the bankrupt Thermiodyne Radio Company of Delaware was not required to pay a $15,000 stock assessment. Members of the court expressed doubt of the position of counsel for the corporation that the tax was discriminatory.

Obituary

William Gibson.

William Gibson, retired railroad and manufacturing executive, died yesterday at his home, 1509 Shady avenue. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, August 28, 1856, of a noted Scottish family, an ancestor, Thomas Gibson, having served as Secretary of State for Scotland. Mr. Gibson was educated at the University of Edinburgh, but came to the United States at the age of 21. He entered the service of the Alabama Great Southern Railway, and subsequently became superintendent of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad at Cincinnati; later, general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Baltimore, and then general superintendent of the same railroad in Pittsburgh. Besides carrying out his business duties, Mr. Gibson lectured for many years at the college of engineering of the University of Kentucky, which in 1913 conferred upon him the degree of doctor of laws. He was a member of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Squirrel Hill, a member of the Masonic order, of the Duquesne Club, the Maryland Club, of Baltimore., and of St. Andrew's Society of New York. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elisa Henderson Gibson, and a niece, Miss Dorothy Anne Keith.

V. D. Eichenlaub

ERIE Pa., April 11.—V. D. Eichenlaub, 77, pioneer Erie resident and former candidate for mayor, died yesterday after an illness of six months.

Reared in Erie, he entered the meat business at the age of 21, and continued in this work until 1880 when he became a general contractor, constructing many of the sewer systems in the older part of the city. In 1906 he built the Wayne Hotel and up to the time of his death was its owner and manager. About 10 years ago he constructed the Erie Arena, in which sporting events, chiefly boxing, have been staged. He was keenly interested in sports, and established a swimming pool and ice skating rink adjoining his property about a year ago. He was actively identified in Fifth Ward politics, serving as tax collector, and later being elected to Council. At one time he was the Democratic candidate for mayor. Mr. Eichenlaub was the oldest member of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral.

C. Wesley Ritenour

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 11.—C. Wesley Ritenour, 84, who became noted during the World War by leading his drum corps in many Liberty loan campaigns, is dead at his home here.

John H. Jenkins

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 11.—John H. Jenkins, 90, a member of the Odd Fellows for 66 years, died at his granddaughter's home here yesterday. He was a former resident of Charleroi. Five sons, Andrew, of Monessen; Robert, Thomas and John, of Lock No. 4, and George, of Toronto, O., survive.

John Taylor

John Taylor, of 611 Wenzel avenue, died at his home, Wednesday. Born in England he came to this country at the age of 3, and since then had resided on the North Side. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Edna Bubenheim and Mrs. R. A. Magill, and a granddaughter, Inez Magill. The funeral will be held from his home at 2 o'clock tomorrow, with interment in Chartiers cemetery.

W. Scott Offutt

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 11.—W. Scott Offutt, 76, died after an illness of five weeks. He had lived in this section all his life. Funeral services will be held today at 2 p. m.

Is America Doomed to be a Nation of Neurotics?

Physicians say nervous and intestinal disorders are largely on the increase! European visitors call us over-excited, over-nervous, and over-active! Is there any connection between these observations and the fact that our diet is probably more unbalanced than that of any other nation? An intensely interesting article on the question appears next Sunday in The American Weekly.

MADAM LYDIA LINDGREN

Grains of Sand on a Dead Woman's Shoes . . . . . .

. . . had she gone into the garden and opened the gate for the man who murdered her? A clue like this is sufficient for the clever detective foreign police. In an amazing series of articles on Science and Crime The American Weekly contrasts inefficient methods of American police with scientific laboratories and trained minds of French and English crime sleuths.

Your Own Business

In the Classified Ad Columns of this paper you will find a column headed "Business Opportunities," Classification 12.

Many a man can trace his success in life back to the day he read of a little business for sale under this classification. It didn't take much money, and it gave him the opportunity to put his energy and ability to work—and gradually his mammoth factories developed from that small begin ning.

You, too, may find there the opportunity that will start you on the road to fortune. In there you will discover real money making opportunities in many lines of business, and just the one that suits you.

If you have a little money you can use, begin now, read "Business Opportunities" faithfully, and your reward will soon come

A FINGER POLKA AT THE WHITE HOUSE

THE White House doctors are agitated over Mr. Hoover's mitty to shake hands during the White House receptions and still retain his school girl complexion.

"Bugs" Baer

On Thursday, April 4, Mr. Hoover shook hands with 1,700 assorted constituents. A goodly number.

Is Mr. Hoover a President or a pumphandle?

Everybody who goes to Washington wants to see the monument and shake hands with the President.

Would not history be just as well written if they saw the President and shook the monument?

What does shaking hands with any prominent man mean?

That you are gladder to see him than he is to see you.

A handshake like that can mean nothing.

You don't expect the President's heart to be in his cuff, do you?

You must admit that shaking hands has little significance with call money at 12 per cent.

We saw Sharkey and Stribling shake hands down at Miami at the start of their fight.

It was the last time that evening that either one led with his right.

Why wouldn't it be just as nutritious if a visitor merely waved at the dean of the White House?

Why is it necessary for a tourist to boast that he has a shaking acquaintance with the President?

Isn't a waving agreement just as exclusive?

How would an automobile run with 1,700 hands shaking at the wheel?

If this keeps up, every future President should be elected for three terms. Two in which to do his work and the third in which to waggle mitts.

Any minute now, Mr. Hoover is liable to suffer from a nervous break down of his thumb.

There is a man up in Maine who can crumble walnuts in his hands and bend iron bars with his fingers.

Mr. Hoover should appoint that man as his White House spokesman.

He is the baby who will break their spokes.

"What is the matter, Mrs. McGillicuddy?" asked one of our courteous attendants.

"My little boy," she said, coughing as though her heart would break, "likes to torment others. What will he be when he grows up?"

We tried to tell her that insurance agents play a necessary part in the economic structure. And before she left she was laughing and pinching and telling stories. We recite this incident merely to acquaint you with the work we are trying to do in this community.

BOSSES BOW TO POPULAR WRATH AND REVIVE COAL AND IRON POLICE BILL

The people of Pennsylvania yesterday won a big victory over the Harrisburg lobbyists of the coal companies. The bosses of the Pennsylvania State political machine who previously had stood by and watched, without protest, the outrageous smothering of the Musmanno coal and iron police bill, yesterday afternoon bowed to the storm of public indignation that had been breaking throughout the state.

The crack of the whip forced a reluctant and complacent legislature to "pickle" this bill that previously had had Gov. Fisher's approval.

It is idle to assume that the bosses of the Pennsylvania machine did not know what was going on. That is their business. They were all on the ground.

It was only AFTER the people of the state began to show their indignation over the decision to keep the vicious Cossack system in full force that the bosses finally agreed to turn right-about-face and have the Musmanno bill reported favorably from the Senate Judiciary General Committee. This is the same committee that only a few hours before had refused to report out the bill. What a sorry spectacle the members of this committee now present! Obeying orders, they first vote one way and then the other.

The only thing that may have saved the State of Pennsylvania from the shame of continuing the infamous coal and iron police system as now constituted, is the weight of righteous anger.

The Musmanno bill is far from being perfect. Even if it becomes a law, the state continues to sell its police powers, although the activities of this system are greatly limited. It marks a step in advance, but only a step.

The police powers of the state should be exercised by the state alone.

The coal company lobbyists that have infested Harrisburg like a plague of locusts, have not worked in vain. They have failed to kill the partial reform that the Musmanno bill represents, but the coal companies that employ them will still have the right to hire their own state guards, even though it will not be as easy to give police authority to thugs and murderers.

The one big thing that the events yesterday at Harrisburg proved is the fact that the force of popular indignation is strong enough to make the political bosses of the state bow to the popular will.

The trouble is that this popular indignation is not expressed often enough or strongly enough.

If the people of Pennsylvania were to send to the state capital men of courage and high principle, such farces as the coal and iron police bill's strangling and resuscitation and the four-cent gas tax iniquity, (that even the State Treasurer says is wrong), would be impossible.

Governor Fisher threw the weight of his administration and apparently won the fight in favor of the Musmanno bill yesterday afternoon. For that he deserves credit. It should be remembered, however, that he did NOT take this firm stand at the time the bill was strangled. His comment at that time—Tuesday night—was that he merely would try to strengthen the regulations under the present law, "which, I believe, I can do," he said. That statement gave comfort to the forces that had "pickled" the bill in committee.

It was not until after noon of the following day (yesterday) that the governor stepped out to save the Musmanno bill. That was after reports had come in from all over the state, telling of the popular indignation over this outrageous betrayal and after the governor had been called into conference several times with the state bosses.

IF THE PEOPLE OF THIS STATE, HAVING FELT THEIR POWER, WILL CONTINUE TO OVERRIDE THE SCHEMINGS OF LOBBYISTS AND SELFISH POLITICIANS, THE FUTURE WILL BE BRIGHT FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Another Tube Proposal Requires Careful Study

President Malone's Suggestion of Grant Street Subway Is Interesting.

The $6,000,000 loan, voted by the people a number of years ago for the construction of a subway, but never used, occasionally takes on the appearance of a pot of gold at the rainbow's end. Every once in a while there is a proposal for making use of a fund that could be available because the original tentative plan could not be carried out as a result of a combination of circumstances. Many of the roseate dreams in that respect have run against a stone wall in the fact that the people's mandate confines the expenditure of the money to the First and Second Wards.

So President Malone, of Council, has come out with an interesting plan to construct a tube from Water street along the length of Grant street, thence to Penn avenue, where it would link up with projected Pennsylvania Railroad passenger terminal improvements, continuing under Penn avenue to a point beyond Twenty-seventh street.

That would meet the requirement of keeping the construction within permissible territorial limits. But it may involve changes in route terminals of street car lines, should the Pittsburgh Railways Company contemplate making use of the tube.

The public view of the matter will be in favor of any plans that will transfer traffic now causing congestion in the streets to a subway. It is certain that street car operation interferes with itself under present methods. If trans-Monongahela traffic could be placed where it would not impede lines that cross Wood, Smithfield and Grant streets, a serious problem would be solved, and the Malone proposal is a step toward such a solution.

But the Smithfield Street Bridge "bottle neck" would remain to slow up still further transportation of passengers if all cars operating across the bridge were to be routed via the proposed tube. If it were possible, or practical, to extend the tube route across the Monongahela and thus permit taking all street car traffic off the Smithfield Street Bridge a condition more nearly ideal would be reached.

This is not in the way of throwing cold water on the Malone, or any other desirable tube plan, but merely is a suggestion of its incompleteness as a remedy for our troubles.

In considering traffic problems, the future of the motor bus must be reckoned with. Bus operation has caused the abandonment of some street car lines throughout the country. It is not visionary to contemplate, at least, such a possibility here. Were bus fares as reasonable as they should be, and certainly will be eventually, the street car problem might be replaced by that of buses.

President Malone's suggestion marks a practical starting point for amelioration of our traffic problems, and it deserves careful study by all thoughtful citizens.

Absence of Accused Men Is an Insult to Court

The special session of the United States Court, called to try rum racket cases principally, has been suddenly ended, several reasons being assigned, among them being the "disappearance" of the government's chief witness against a number of defendants.

Trials in the County Criminal Court cannot be held because defendants have not appeared at times assigned. Among these are Alfred W. Forney, slot machine racketeer, who jumped his bail, and William Hanson, another alleged to have been in the same business as Forney. He is said to be leisurely proceeding from Florida and to be expected by District Attorney Gardner to be on hand for his thrice-postponed trial next week.

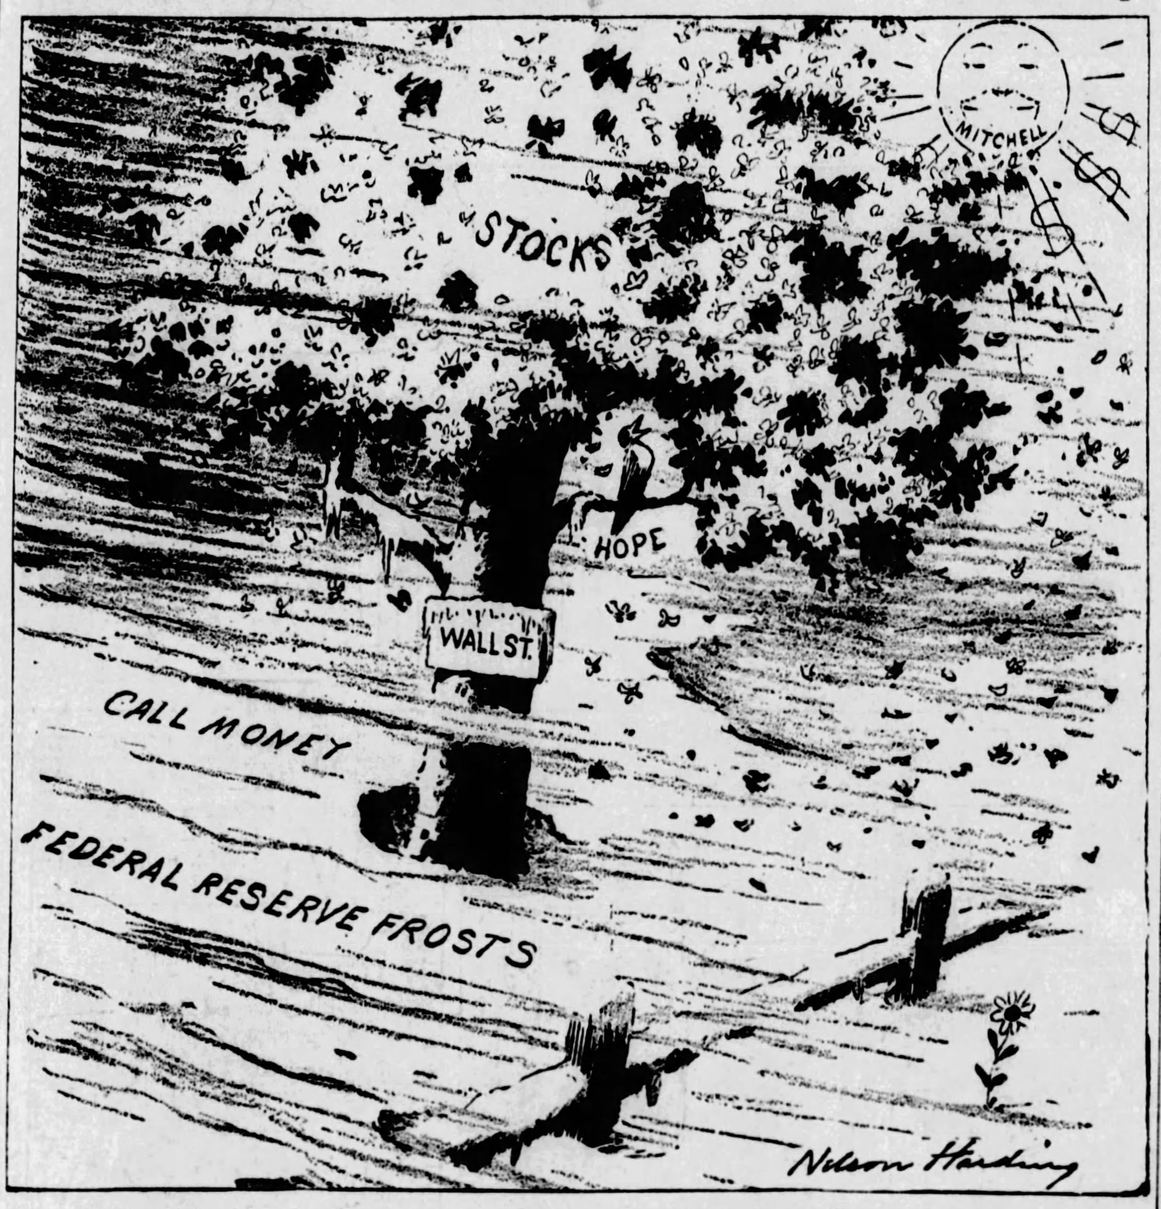
Judge James B. Drew is about the only official who voices popular indignation at the accused men who thumb their noses at the law.

The public can hardly be blamed if it imagines a scene in the district attorney's office something like this: A defendant telling Mr. Gardner he cannot be on hand for trial on Wednesday because he has to take his wife to a matinee, and demurring when told that he POSITIVELY must be on hand on Thursday if he can't come Wednesday, finally compromising on Friday as the date, if the hour can be set for afternoon; then sending word he has changed his mind.

The public opinion is that persons accused of crime here have been suffered to take so many liberties with the law that they have become overbold. Instead of seeing Mr. Gardner so patient and submissive to the whims of those who seem to have no fear of his power, it would like to see the backbone of the office stiffened sufficiently at least to make some pretense at indignation toward indignities.

[Editor's Note—Since the above editorial was written and after it appeared in two editions, the County Commissioners offered a $5,000 reward for Forney's arrest and return, a reward Judge Drew suggested and advocated.]

Blizzards vs. Blossoms -:- By Nelson Harding



Wintry blasts are raising Cain—
Buds fall down or up again,
Snowflakes hiss and hailstones zoom—
Trees persist with vernal bloom,

Higher, lower piles the drift—
Songbirds tough their voices lift,
Storm and Sun and everything
Mix in Wall Street's freakish Spring.

Tales That Are Told

He Wasn't Prepared

THE sun was going down when the Boy Scout realized, with a start that he had forgotten to perform his day's good deed. Anxiously he glanced round him. Then he breathed a sigh of relief. An old lady was standing on the edge of the pavement gazing at the traffic as it swept past. The Boy Scout went up to her.

"May I accompany you across this busy street, madam?" he asked.

"Why, of course," beamed the old lady.

With the Scout holding her arm, the two of them crossed over to the other side. Then the old lady turned to him.

"You poor little fellow!" she exclaimed. "How long had you been waiting there for someone to take you across?"

Too Hot

THE young man was singing at the village concert, and the audience sat hushed.

"Ah!" he thought, "I have captured their emotions with my song!"

He turned his head proudly, then his expression changed. There was a pained look on the face of his accompanist.

What was the matter? Was he singing the wrong words? Or—surely he was not out of tune?

"Am I going wrong?" he whispered between the verses.

The pianist looked up with tears in his eyes.

"No," was his agonized reply; "but I'm sitting on my pipe, and it's still lit!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I GREW sick of the city. It seeped into my mind like a thick, sour smoke. I could not think clearly any more, so I came up here to the mountains.

I am in a little mining town, far back in the mountains. The pines and the chamiso brush come down into the backyards.

The clear, blue-white water which runs before the door is freshly melted from the snows.

At morning and evening the quail call. Their plump brown bodies rise with a sof thunder as one goes through the woods.

There is always the pungent, fresh smell of cedar and pine and manzanita coming and going through the streets.

One feels it coming and going through the lives of the people, too.

People live here as people should live.

They live calmly, with dignity and courtesy.

They find importance and interest in the simplest matters.

They take all that can be taken out of each small, passing experience. They get much more out of life than city people. They are not confused by the smoke and stench of city thinking.

They have little money, but they do not allow this to distress them. They see, quite clearly, that leisure and independence are much more valuable than money. They inhabit their faded clothes and shabby houses with content and without apology, as those who have made the better bargain.

It is quiet here, enormously quiet, with the stillness which lies between the stars.

At night the stars are very close. They are not dull little points of light plastered on a dark blue ceiling. They are radiant worlds. They are the real and radiant things which have existed since the beginning—which will never be dimmed.

The lights of cities are a feverish phosphorescence, but the stars are real.

I look at the stars, and the reality of life comes back to me.

In the enormous silence I hear little sounds I have not heard for a long time; healthy sounds which are a part of life.

I hear the sound of the blood in my own ears.

I hear the dropping of pine-needles on the forest floor.

I hear the thin, quavering yap of a coyote, four miles away.

And in the distance, the slow, sleepy sounds of the village putting itself to bed.

And deep in my heart, where for a long time there has been such confusion that I could not hear anything at all, I now hear other voices.

I hear the voice of the Faith which I had as a little child. It is easy to have Faith here beneath the mystery and majesty of the stars. If they can be, all things are possible.

I hear the voice of Hope. Surely that Source which made and keeps this vast and teeming beauty has the strength to heal and help a tired soul.

I hear the voice of Love—that gentle, generous love I knew before the cities poisoned me. That love which is a part of this clean Consciousness which spreads beneath the stars.

The stars are very close.

The little night sounds rise and fall—then there is peace.

Such peace as lay upon the world that Seventh day.

Each in its separate place, the great stars stand on guard.

Now I will rest. This is my Father's home.

Bible Passages

Path of the Wicked

(Proverbs 4: 14-27)

ENTER not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men.

Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it, and pass away.

For they sleep not, except they have done mischief; and their sleep is taken away, unless they cause some to fall.

For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence.

But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.

The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble.

My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings.

Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart.

For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh.

Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.

Let thine eyes look right on, and let thine eyelids look straight before thee.

Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established.

Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil.

Stars and Stripes

In Madison, Wis., the "blue laws" are so blue you have to spell sundae with a "Y" on week days.

The latest thing in divorce is the "gentleman's agreement." Under it the wife promises to act like a lady.

How the Chains Do It

By Herbert Kaufman

FAILURE has already claimed the new pharmacist at X Street and B Avenue. He can't last.

His premiums are too high. He asks 70c—adding a 40 per cent differential—for ice cream that the store around the block furnishes at 50c per quart, and a half-dollar for brands of tooth paste sold all over town at 35 cents.

His dime package of boracic acid is two-thirds under size, and every proprietary in his case is ticketed at top price.

The chain-goblin will get him if he doesn't watch his charges. Economics won't tolerate super-profits. The value of merchandise is the lowest sum at which it can be regularly sold.

The retailer can't determine his own margins. Competition fixes 'em.

Trade follows the line of least resistance and greatest savings. Consequently, mail order catalogs are getting thicker, and rural sales continue to thin.

And that's why cast concerns, with massed purchasing capacity and all the penny-saving tricks of efficient management, are shooting branches into every neighborhood, and capturing grocery and drug markets from Pensacola to Portland.

It's no part of public duty to support mal-administration and incompetence.

Any system that inflicts needless burdens on the family purse is intrinsically unsound and headed for the boneyard.

The laborer is worth exactly his hire, and has no just grievance against the community when it procures equivalent service for less than he is willing to supply it.

Profiteering, under whatever plea, is, in the last analysis, a privately levied tax-equivalent to a paternalistic grant and in no wise different from a subsidizing demand.

Merchandising methods that permit the most goods for the same money will finally dominate the field.

The unfit neither survive in nature nor commerce.

Progress adopts the best instrument available and callously discards its predecessors.

Combinations and consolidations, which simplify distribution, eliminate middlemen, reduce overhead, and pass resultant salvage to the consumer, are of national benefit and prosper accordingly.

Small retailing faces a hopeless future, unless it learns to coordinate efforts, organize co-operatives, control inventories and reform sloppy credit practice.

It must get down to brass tacks or close shop.

To obtain rock-bottom terms, it must combine resources, group individual orders and place them en bloc, increase present turnovers, keep capital on the jump and train it to grab every possible discount.

The only remedy for the independent is a hair from the dog that's biting him.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 11.—A New York policeman is paid a fraction more than $34 a week for his first two years of service. He then receives a slight tilt and after five years of "pounding the pavement" is paid $2,500 a year—top salary for the ordinary copper.

There are about 20 rookies ready and willing to step into every available job. The glamour of "the finest" is irresistible among New York boys. They want to become plain clothes men and perform those daring deeds that thrilled them in detective fiction and movies.

The most exclusive branch of copdom is the mounted service. This means a spirited horse and generally an assignment in an aristocratic area. Those of a romantic trend always try to land there. Many distinguish themselves in gallantry by rescuing swooning ladies from runaway horses in parks.

The mounted cop receives no higher pay, but attains a swash-buckling halo not possible in other forms of copping. The grafting copper tries to reach the motorcycle squads. He knows the speeding motorist would rather pay than go to court. But a non-grafting cop usually receives more than his salary.

On Christmas, Easter and Labor Day he receives presents—mostly money and checks—from those along his beat to whom he has been of service. It is not bribery. Fifth avenue traffic cops receive the biggest gifts. One in the upper Fifties received $6,000 from various friends last Christmas.

A pier copper was given a trip to Paris with his wife by a millionaire. (And later was suspended on grafting charges.) The most prolific points for seasonal gifts are the Avenue, Times Square and at the various ship docks along West street. Wall street has its own private cops who "get the gravy."

Many coppers have used the job to go higher. Four mounted men have married "society heiresses" they met along bridle paths. Two have been made rich by "tips" furnished by financial magnates. I am told an ex-flattie now steams his yacht into one of the fashionable mooring places. So cops get on.

Press agents frequently mimeograph an Odyssey to the $500-a-week chorus girl, and there may be one or two, but they are rare. There are, however, a number of chorines drawing from $100 to $150 weekly, and several show girls whose sole asset is extraordinary beauty are paid $300 a week. But their careers are brief. A few extra pounds and they are back at casting agencies. The Big Chance is in the matrimonial market. There is always an opportunity to wangle one of the front row dodderers who has a bankroll, a tin ear and perhaps a set of sclerosed arteries.

Irving Berlin receives most of the publicity breaks as the shining example of the fortune to be made in song writing. Yet the auctioning of Jerome Kern's books several weeks ago revealed the unobtrusive Mr. Kern has been the most fortunate of all. He has composed some of the best stuff of the musical comedies and on the side was a discriminating collector. The sale of his library brought close to two millions. Mr. Kern intends to invest the proceeds in high class securities and see a little of the world.

The 7-year-old son of Albert Keller, the hotel man, goes to the Central Park Mall daily with his nurse to play. Recently he insisted his mother accompany him. When they stepped from their car he introduced her to a beautiful golden-haired girl of 6. On the way home he inquired: "Mother, what did you think of her?"

"I think she was very lovely and charming," was the reply.

"I am relieved," said the lad. "That is your future daughter-in-law."

And that's my notion of picking them early.
